Gathering Plan — One Page Summary

Reaching Young Single Adults and Fostering Belonging and Meaningful Connections Through Activities, Athletics, and Enrichment

Purpose: To reach young single adults and help them find belonging by connecting them to each other and to Jesus Christ through activities, sports, and learning.

Stake Priorities

Priority	Statement
1	See and Love as God Does
2	Teach Divine Identity, Purpose, and Potential
3	Focus on Jesus Christ and Access the Power of His Atonement
4	Invite All to Come unto Christ and to Make and Keep Sacred Covenants

How We'll Get There

- Reach: personal monthly check-ins with every YSA, plus 7-day outreach and a 14-day invitation for every new move-in.
- Belong: activities built so no one stands alone — greeters, hosts, mixed-ward teams, and name tags at every gathering.
- Teach: monthly enrichment nights and institute encouragement centered on divine identity, purpose, and potential.
- Invite: a clear next-step pathway — attend → connect → institute → temple → calling → covenants.

Three Ways We Gather

- Stake Activities (Social): one stake-wide activity monthly, ward-hosted on a rotation, plus quarterly signature events (Fall Kickoff, Christmas Devotional, YSA Conference/Retreat, Summer Celebration, Year-End Testimony Night).
- Stake Athletics (Physical): weekly leagues and open-play nights in volleyball, basketball, softball, pickleball, and futsal, each opening with prayer and a spiritual thought.
- Learning & Enrichment (Spiritual): monthly enrichment nights, institute support, workshops, and mentorship built around four threads — Identity, Purpose, Potential, and Christ & Covenants.

Leadership & Accountability

Stake Presidency designs the plan; the Stake YSA Council (led by a high councilor and the Stake RS President) carries it out.

Ward reps, Gathering Specialists, and Connection Hosts invite, greet, and follow up within 48 hours.

Monthly reviews track attendance, outreach contacts, and covenant progress.

Timeline & Measures of Success

Months 1–2: assess rosters, form council/committees, survey belonging.

Months 2–6: launch the calendar, sports seasons, first learning series and temple night.

Months 6–12: review, refine, and plan Year Two.

Success: outreach contacts, attendance, temple recommends, reactivations, callings, biannual belonging survey.

Part 1 — The Overall Plan

1. What We're Trying to Do

- Our vision: We want every young single adult in our stake to feel seen, known, and loved — and to feel drawn toward Jesus Christ and sacred covenants.
- What we mean by "gathering": reaching and creating a sense of connection and belonging among YSAs with Jesus Christ and each other.
- What we mean by "reaching": not just getting active members to show up, but also reconnecting with those who've drifted away, welcoming people who've just moved in, and including friends who aren't members.
- What we mean by "belonging": real relationships of trust that come before conversion — where someone's divine identity is affirmed, and covenants feel like an invitation rather than a demand.
- The idea behind all of this: every event, league, and class should be a step toward Christ and making and keeping sacred covenants, not just something to do for its own sake.

2. How Our Four Priorities Guide Everything We Do

Here's how each stake priority shows up in what we plan:

1. See and Love as God Does → shows up as outreach, checking in on people, and making sure everyone's included.
2. Teach Divine Identity, Purpose, and Potential → shows up as classes and learning nights.
3. Focus on Jesus Christ and the Atonement → shows up as spiritual depth and healing.
4. Invite All to Come unto Christ and Make/Keep Sacred Covenants → shows up as helping people take steps toward covenants.

Simple rule of thumb: before we plan anything, we ask how it connects to one or more of these four priorities, and how it will help a young adult move closer to Christ.

3. Where We're Starting From

- Getting the numbers straight: comparing ward rosters to who's actually showing up; keeping track of less-active and non-attending YSAs, new move-ins, institute enrollment, and temple recommend holders.
- Checking in with people: asking YSAs how connected they feel, what makes them feel isolated, what's keeping them away, and when and how they'd like to gather.
- Taking stock of what we have: callings already filled, the institute building, sports equipment, budget, building availability, and chances to team up with other stakes.
- Finding where people fall through the cracks: figuring out where someone attends an activity but never takes the next step toward a covenant.

4. Priority 1 — See and Love as God Does (Reaching Out and Caring for People)

- Getting to know everyone by name: like ministering — making sure every YSA on the roster, active or not, gets a personal check-in every month.
- Reconnecting with less-active YSAs: our Gathering Specialists team up with ward priesthood and Relief Society leaders to prayerfully figure out whom to reach out to.
- Welcoming new move-ins: reach out within 7 days, and personally invite them to a ward or stake activity within 14 days.
- Making sure no one's left standing alone: activities are set up so someone who shows up by themselves can instantly connect — greeters, hosts, mixed-ward teams.
- Using sports to reach out: open, easy-to-join leagues and pickup games where non-members and less-active YSAs are genuinely welcome.

5. Priority 2 — Teach Divine Identity, Purpose, and Potential (Learning and Growing Together)

- What we teach: who we are as children of God, why we're here, what we can become, getting ready for marriage and family, and being self-reliant.
- Leaning on the institute: helping it be a primary gathering place where people learn together, encouraging enrollment, and providing rides to and from class.
- Monthly classes with rotating topics: "Who God Says You Are," "Discovering Your Divine Potential," "Being Self-Reliant," "Healthy Relationships and Getting Ready for Marriage."
- Practical workshops: career help, budgeting, handling stress, and ways to study scripture — all tied back to the idea that we're meant for something more.
- Pairing people up: connecting YSAs with more experienced stake members for advice on life and career.

6. Priority 3 — Focus on Jesus Christ and the Power of His Atonement (Going Deeper Spiritually)

- Keeping Christ at the center: every activity opens and closes with a short reminder of why we're really there, starting with prayer and a brief thought.
- Making room for healing: a lot of YSAs are carrying anxiety, loneliness, past mistakes, or grief. We want firesides, small groups, and temple nights to be places where the Atonement's healing power can reach them.
- Regular testimony meetings, "Come, unto Christ" firesides, and sacred music events.
- Getting to the temple often: frequent stake temple nights, family history and service opportunities, and helping YSAs get and keep a temple recommend.
- Music that points to the Savior: concerts, hymn sings, and devotional music nights.

See · Love · Teach · Invite

7. Priority 4 — Invite Everyone to Come unto Christ and Keep Covenants (Helping People Take the Next Step)

- Mapping out the next step: attend → connect → institute → temple → a calling → mission or marriage, helping each YSA determine what's next.
- Helping friendships lead somewhere: building relationships that naturally lead people toward baptism or toward active participation.
- A steady push on temple recommends: interviews, help getting ready, and group temple trips.
- Giving people something meaningful to do: callings and responsibilities that help people feel like they belong and stay committed.
- Preparation: classes and mentoring that support YSAs in all aspects of life preparation, education, career, discipleship, and progressing along the covenant path.

8. Our Three Main Ways We Gather

A. Stake Activities (Social)

- How often: one stake-wide activity a month, plus a few bigger events each quarter.
- Kinds of activities: socials, service projects, dances, firesides, temple nights, outdoor and adventure events.
- Different wards take turns hosting, so everyone shares ownership and builds friendships across wards.
- What we're aiming for: well-planned, starts on time, spiritually grounded, and welcoming to newcomers.

B. Stake Athletics (Physical)

- Leagues: volleyball, basketball, softball, pickleball, and futsal, with seasons structured to keep people coming back and building real connections.
- Open-play nights: an easy, low-pressure way for newcomers and less-active YSAs to jump in.
- It's about more than the game: a short sportsmanship devotional, a prayer, and a spiritual thought at every league gathering.
- Tournaments and multi-stake events help people meet even more people and grow their circle.

C. Learning and Enrichment (Spiritual, Intellectual)

- The Institute is the hub / Gathering Place for this; see Priority 2.
- Monthly stake enrichment nights, rotating through the four priority themes.
- Workshops and seminars on practical, relational, and spiritual topics.
- Book and article discussion groups, centered on Christ, identity, and purpose.
- Career and life-skills fairs, drawing on the skills already in our stake.

9. Who's Doing What

- Stake Presidency: designs the plan.
- Stake YSA Council: puts the plan into action. Led by two Executive Co-Chairs — the YSA High Councilor and the Stake YSA Relief Society President — its 13-seat Executive Council also includes two Outreach & Shepherding Co-Leads; two Co-Chairs each for Activities, Athletics, and Education & Enrichment; a Gathering Place & Covenant Progression Lead; a Communications & Calendar Lead; and a Council Secretary / Metrics Recorder. Twelve Ward Representatives (an EQ and an RS presidency counselor per ward) complete the 25-member Full Council.
- Stake YSA Committees: Activities, Athletics, and Education & Enrichment, each led by two Co-Chairs who sit on the Executive Council, plus the Married Adults Committee.
- Stake Gathering Specialists: assisting with identifying, reaching out, and inviting, coordinated through the Outreach & Shepherding Co-Leads.
- Clear roles for every event: who's planning it, who's paying for it, who's inviting people, and who's following up.
- A monthly check-in: looking at attendance, outreach contacts made, and progress toward covenants (temple recommends, institute enrollment, people becoming active again).

10. How We'll Know It's Working

- Early signs we're on track: outreach contacts made, visits with less-active members, welcomes to new move-ins, activity and sacrament meeting attendance, institute enrollment, and league participation.
- Signs of longer-term success: temple recommend holders, baptisms and reactivations, callings accepted, priesthood ordinations, temple/family history participation, marriages in the stake.
- A quick survey twice a year asking how connected people feel.
- A check-in every few months against the four priorities, adjusting the calendar and our efforts as needed.

11. Getting the Word Out

- One shared calendar everyone can see, kept up digitally across wards.
- A steady rhythm: a personal invite, then a text reminder, then a group announcement.
- A mix of channels: ward announcements, group texts, simple graphics, and personal contact.
- Leaders sharing their own experiences and testimonies to keep the momentum going.

12. Budget and Resources

- Putting money first toward the efforts that most clearly help people move closer to Christ.
- Sharing resources across wards, and teaming up with other stakes for sports and big events.
- Keeping costs reasonable so every YSA can take part, regardless of what they can afford.

13. A Suggested Timeline

- Months 1–2: get a clear picture of where we stand, form the committee, clean up the rosters, and survey how people are feeling.
- Months 2–3: build the calendar, launch “Know Them by Name,” and kick off the sports seasons.
- Months 3–6: run our first learning series, hold our first stake temple night, and host a big quarterly event.
- Months 6–12: look at how things are going, tweak what needs tweaking, grow what’s working, and start planning year two.

14. Keeping This Spiritually Grounded

- Leaders fasting and praying for the YSAs of the stake.
- Regular council meetings, seeking guidance for specific individuals.
- Leaders sharing their own testimonies to set the tone.
- Following Christ’s example: everything we do seeks to mirror how the Savior ministered; one person at a time, with love, inviting people toward deeper covenants.

Part 2 — Stake Activities: How We'll Run Them

1. Why We Do Activities

Stake activities are the most visible way we try to reach young single adults and help them feel a sense of belonging. Every activity is planned with purpose, not just for entertainment's sake. A few things guide how we plan:

- Purposeful: we don't schedule anything without a clear answer to "which of the four priorities does this serve, and how does it help someone move a step closer to Christ?"
- Belonging matters more than headcount: we measure success by whether real connections happened, not by how many people showed up.
- Inclusive by default: every activity is planned imagining someone showing up alone, new to the area, less active, or there for the first time, and making sure that person is seen, welcomed, and connected.
- A step, not the destination: every activity should point toward the next step, whether that is sacrament meeting, institute, temple, ministering, or moving closer to covenants.

2. Types of Activities

A good mix of activities throughout the year keeps things fresh, reaches different kinds of people, and helps everyone feel like they belong no matter the season. We build around four types:

A. Social Activities (Building Friendships)

- What it's for: building friendships and cross-ward relationships in a relaxed setting.
- Examples: dances, game nights, ice cream socials, outdoor barbecues, talent shows, holiday parties, cultural nights.
- How often: a stake social every month, plus smaller ward-level gatherings.
- What we make sure happens: a way for first-timers to jump in, greeters, name tags, mingling activities, and a host whose job is making sure no one's standing alone.

B. Service Activities (Serving Others)

- What it's for: living out Priorities 1 and 4 by ministering to our community and stake.
- Examples: community service projects, food bank service, neighborhood cleanups, temple and family history service, helping elderly members move or maintain their homes, JustServe projects.
- How often: a stake-wide service event each quarter, plus ongoing ward service opportunities.
- What we make sure happens: service feels like worship, beginning with prayer and a brief reflection on serving as the Savior did, and ending with a moment to reflect.

C. Adventure and Outdoor Activities (Something for Everyone)

- What it's for: reaching YSAs who might not be drawn to dances or firesides, and building friendships through shared experiences.

- Examples: hikes, river trips, lake days, ski and snowboard outings, camping weekends, cycling rides, escape rooms and strategy nights, group outings to local events.
- How often: monthly, depending on the season.
- What we make sure happens: groups stay small enough for real connection, with a short prayer and thought included, plus a clear carpool and inclusion plan.

D. Signature Stake-Wide Events (The Year's Big Moments)

- What it's for: giving the year a shared identity, something to look forward to, and a sense of belonging.
- Fall Kickoff Social — welcoming new students and move-ins to the stake.
- Christmas Devotional and Concert — centered on the Savior.
- YSA Conference / Multi-day Retreat — the year's flagship event.
- Easter-season "Come unto Christ" fireside.
- Spring Service Day.
- Summer Stake Celebration / Outdoor Festival.
- Year-End Testimony Night.
- What we make sure happens: these are done well, have a clear spiritual purpose, draw people from every ward, and make a real effort to include the less-active and the new.

3. Keeping Christ at the Center of Every Activity

- Opening and closing: every activity begins with prayer and a short word about why we're there, tied to one of the four priorities, and closes with gratitude.
- A "why we gather" moment: the activity leader, a YSA, shares a brief thought connecting the activity back to the Savior and to belonging.
- Different people take turns giving that thought a chance, allowing YSAs to build their own confidence to teach and testify.
- Every activity points to what's next: attendees are invited to the next covenant-step event.
- We're thoughtful about the Sabbath and treat our buildings with the respect they deserve.

4. Making Sure No One Gets Left Out

What really sets this program apart is its intentional outreach to, inclusion of, and retention of YSAs who aren't currently showing up.

Before the Activity

- Personal invitations, not just announcements: ward YSA coordinators identify specific people and invite them personally.
- "Bring a friend": we encourage and help members bring along someone who otherwise wouldn't come.
- A few reminders: announcement → group text → personal text → a day-of nudge.
- Rides for everyone: carpools are arranged so no one misses out for lack of a ride.

During the Activity

- Connection Hosts: called greeters whose whole job is finding whoever's standing alone, learning their name, and bringing them in.
- Games and small groups that get people talking — we don't leave connection to chance.
- Mixing up wards so friendships form beyond your own ward.
- Name tags at every stake activity, so no one has to guess.

After the Activity

- A follow-up within 48 hours: connection hosts and ward coordinators reach out to newcomers and anyone who didn't come.
- An invite to what's next: every follow-up includes a personal invite to the next activity, institute, or a temple night.
- Keeping track: attendance is noted, and a pattern of missing activities leads to a personal check-in (Priority 1).

5. Who's Running This

- Stake YSA Council: co-led by a high councilor and the Stake Relief Society President, with stake representatives and leads for each category (outreach, activities, athletics, education & enrichment, gathering place/institute, and communications).
- Ward representatives: those who actually invite people, track who came, and follow up for their ward (counselor in the ward Elders Quorum presidency and counselor in the ward Relief Society presidency).
- Connection Hosts: called and trained greeters for every activity.
- Activity Leads: Each activity is led by one person who is responsible for planning, maintaining the spiritual tone, ensuring inclusivity, handling logistics, and follow-up.
- Clear roles, set ahead of time: for every activity, everyone knows who's planning, who's paying, who's inviting, who's greeting, and who's following up.

6. How We Plan Well

- At least 6 weeks of lead time for stake activities, longer for the bigger signature events.
- A simple checklist: state the purpose → identify the priority it serves → plan for inclusion → set the spiritual focus → sort out logistics → plan the invitations → plan the follow-up → check how it went.
- What we're aiming for: activities that start on time, are well-organized, spiritually grounded, welcoming to newcomers, and within budget.
- A quick debrief afterward: what worked, what didn't, who came, who was new, who was less active, and what follow-up is needed.

7. Budget and Resources

- Money goes first to the activities with the clearest impact on belonging and covenants.
- Kept affordable: activities are priced so everyone can take part, with help available so no YSA is left out.
- Shared resources: supplies, facilities, and know-how shared across wards.
- Teaming up with neighboring stakes for joint events, growing the social network while sharing costs.

8. How We'll Know It's Working

- Early signs: attendance trends; how many newcomers, less-active, and non-member attendees show up; follow-up contacts made within 48 hours.
- Connection signs: cross-ward friendships, how connected people say they feel, and whether newcomers come back.
- Covenant progress: movement from attending an activity → sacrament meeting → institute → temple night → temple recommend → a calling → baptism, → reactivation, → temple covenants.
- A quick survey twice a year.
- A check-in every few months against the four priorities, adjusting the calendar and approach as needed.

Part 3 — Athletics: How We'll Run It

1. Why We Do Sports

Sports in the Boise Idaho YSA Stake aren't just recreation for its own sake. They're an easy, low-pressure way for relationships to form across ward lines, where less-active members and non-members feel welcome, and where every gathering is anchored in the Savior. A few things guide how we run it:

- Connection matters more than winning.
- Regular games build the steady contact that real friendship and shepherding need, and weekly leagues create that.
- Every gathering opens with prayer and a short spiritual thought, and closes with gratitude.

2. Levels of Play

A. Open Play Nights (The Easiest Way In)

- What it's for: the easiest possible first step for a newcomer, a less-active member, or someone just checking things out.
- Format: drop-in, no roster, no commitment, no skill required. Teams are picked on the spot each week.
- How often: weekly or every other week, rotating sports (basketball, volleyball, pickleball, futsal).
- The hook: "bring a friend" nights, snacks, music. It's more about the vibe than the score.
- Shepherding: each open night has a connection host who greets newcomers, learns their names, and follows up with a personal invite to what's next.

B. Stake Leagues (Building Real Friendships)

- What it's for: structured seasons that bring YSAs back week after week and build deep friendships.
- Fall: volleyball and flag football.
- Winter: basketball (our flagship league) and futsal.
- Spring: softball and pickleball.
- Summer: coed softball, ultimate frisbee, and tournament season.
- How teams work: teams are deliberately mixed across wards to break up cliques. Each team has a captain responsible not only for the game but also for ensuring every teammate is known, contacted, and cared for.
- Season length: 6–8 weeks, wrapping up with a stake tournament and social.

C. Inter-Stake and Regional Events (Widening the Circle)

- What it's for: widening the social circle beyond our own stake, helping YSAs meet a broader group of faithful peers.

- Examples: an inter-stake basketball tournament, a regional softball invitational, combined outdoor adventures, YSA sports festivals.
- Worth noting: these are also great moments for friendships and lasting relationships to form.

3. Keeping Christ in Every Game

- Pre-game huddle: a short prayer and a 60–90 second spiritual thought before each game, rotating among players and leaders, drawn from the four stake priorities.
- A simple sportsmanship standard: respect, inclusion, and Christlike conduct, no ejections, conflicts handled with grace.
- A "More Than a Game" devotional once a season; a short fireside during league play centered on Jesus Christ, identity, and purpose.
- A service project each season, tying sports back to discipleship.

4. Who's Running It

- Stake Athletics Committee Co-Chairs: a high councilor and a called specialist who oversee the entire program, calendars, facilities, and spiritual tone.
- Sport Commissioners: one per sport, handling scheduling, rules, equipment, and officiating.
- Team Captains: called and trained to look after teammates, track attendance, reach out to absentees, and extend personal invitations.
- Connection Hosts: greeters for open-play and tournament nights.
- Ward Athletics Coordinators: bring the Athletics Committee's work to that ward: inviting people, tracking attendance at open play nights and league events, and following up with newcomers and those who missed out within 48 hours.
- A facility and equipment steward: manages building access, gear, and safety.

5. Using Sports to Reconnect With People

- Targeted invitations: ward YSA coordinators identify less-active YSAs and personally invite them to open-play nights, the easiest possible entry point.
- "Adopt a player": active YSAs are paired with less-active or new members on the same team, building a natural friendship.
- Non-members are genuinely welcome: friends, coworkers, and investigators are often introduced to the Church and its people through a sports night.
- Keeping track: attendance is recorded each week, and absentees are contacted within 48 hours — sports become an active way to shepherd people, not just an item on the calendar.

6. Logistics and Safety

- Facilities: coordinated use of stake and ward buildings, respecting priesthood-occupied spaces and the Sabbath when scheduling.
- Safety: first aid kits, an injury plan, concussion awareness, and liability forms where needed.
- Cost: kept minimal, with help available so no YSA is left out for financial reasons.
- Equipment: managed centrally, with commissioners keeping track of inventory.

7. How We'll Know It's Working

- Weekly participation and whether it's trending up.
- How many less-active YSAs are showing up.
- How many non-members are showing up.
- Whether people move from open-play → league → institute → temple night.
- Friendships forming across wards (from surveys).

Part 4 — Learning and Enrichment: What We'll Teach

1. Why We Teach This

Our learning and enrichment efforts aim to teach divine identity, purpose, and potential (Priority 2), deepen faith in Jesus Christ and His Atonement (Priority 3), and help YSAs move toward sacred covenants (Priority 4). We strive to speak to the whole person: spiritual, intellectual, relational, temporal, and emotional, because divine potential touches every part of life. Everything is built around four topics that mirror our stake priorities.

2. Four Big Topics We'll Keep Coming Back To

Thread 1 — Divine Identity: "Who God Says I Am"

- What it's about: anchoring YSAs in their identity as children of heavenly parents, foreordained with purpose.
- Why it matters: it counters the identity confusion, comparison, and anxiety so common among young adults.
- Child of Heavenly Parents: What That Really Means
    - Foreordination and Your Divine Potential
    - Overcoming Comparison Through Divine Identity
    - Worth vs. Worthiness: Understanding Grace
    - Your Divine Nature and the Body
    - Identity in Christ When the World Says Otherwise

Thread 2 — Divine Purpose: "Why I Am Here"

- What it's about: mortal purpose, the plan of salvation lived out day to day, and each person's unique contribution.
- The Plan of Happiness and Your Daily Life
    - Finding Purpose in Your Season of Life
    - Calling, Career, and Consecration
    - Service as the Path to Joy
    - What God Is Teaching You Right Now
    - Living on the Covenant Path: The Map of Mortality

Thread 3 — Divine Potential: "Who I Am Becoming"

- What it's about: growth, eternal progression, and preparation for future roles.
- Becoming Like the Savior: The Process of Change
    - Marriage and Eternal Family Preparation

- Healthy Relationships, Boundaries, and Discernment
- Emotional Resilience and the Atonement
- Mental Health, Faith, and Reaching for Help
- Temporal Self-Reliance: Work, Money, and Providence
- Developing Spiritual Gifts and Talents

Thread 4 — Christ and Covenants: "How I Come unto Him"

- What it's about: deepening our relationship with Jesus Christ and progressing in sacred covenants.
- Jesus Christ and the Power of His Atonement (a recurring anchor lesson)
  - Repentance as a Joyful Return, Not a Burden
  - The Sacrament: Weekly Covenant Renewal
  - Temple Covenants and Daily Discipleship
  - Receiving Personal Revelation
  - Enduring Through Christ When Life Is Hard
  - Sharing the Gospel Naturally: Inviting Others to Christ

3. Types of Learning Activities

A. Spiritual and Worship Activities (Christ-Focused)

- What it's for: deepening faith in Jesus Christ (Priority 3) and inviting covenant progression (Priority 4).
- Examples: stake testimony meetings, "Come, unto Christ" firesides, devotional concerts and sacred music events, hymn sings, temple nights, scripture studies, Fast Sunday YSA gatherings.
- How often: a fireside or devotional each month, plus a stake temple night each quarter.
- What we make sure happens: every spiritual activity centers explicitly on the Savior, makes room for personal testimony, and closes with an invitation to take a next step.

B. Cultural and Enrichment Activities (Identity and Potential-Focused)

- What it's for: reinforcing divine identity, purpose, and potential (Priority 2) through shared cultural and learning experiences.
- Examples: cultural celebrations, arts nights, film and discussion evenings, outdoor concerts, museum and outing trips, talent showcases, language and heritage events.
- How often: quarterly.
- What we make sure happens: each cultural event ties back to one of our learning topics, with a brief teaching moment on identity, purpose, or potential.

4. How We'll Teach It

A. Monthly Stake Enrichment Night

- When: one evening a month, rotating through the four topics.
- Format: a brief worship moment (hymn, prayer) → a 35–40-minute lesson → small-group discussion → a personal commitment.
- Small groups: cross-ward, 6–10 people, with a trained facilitator; this is where real belonging and connection actually happen.
- A commitment to close on: each night ends with a simple, specific invitation, such as reading scripture, visiting the temple, performing an act of service, or making a ministering contact.

B. Institute Is at the Heart of This

- Institute is the backbone of enrichment and a Gathering Place, the most effective regular gathering for real doctrinal depth.
- Our approach: actively encourage enrollment, remove barriers like rides and scheduling, and line up institute topics with our stake's learning topics.
- The goal: every active YSA enrolled in at least one institute course, and every less-active YSA personally invited.

C. Workshops and Seminars

- Career development and job-search skills.
- Financial literacy and budgeting.
- Mental and emotional wellness.
- Scripture study and prayer methods.
- Marriage preparation and healthy dating.
- Parenting foundations.
- Taught by our own stake members — a way to connect YSAs to mature, faithful mentors.

D. Discussion Groups and Book/Article Studies

- Small, recurring groups (4–8 YSAs) studying a gospel-centered book, general conference talks, or articles.
- Examples: studying "Come, Follow Me," recent conference addresses on identity and the Savior, or other approved Church resources.
- What it offers: the kind of depth and closeness a big event can't.

E. Mentorship Pairing

- YSAs paired with seasoned stake members (couples and individuals) for guidance on life, career, and faith.

- Meets monthly, structured around the four topics.
- Especially valuable for YSAs without nearby family.

5. How the Year Flows

- September–November (Thread 2 — Purpose): aligning with the back-to-school season and stake conference to help YSAs set their spiritual direction for the year.
- December (Thread 4 — Christ): a Christmas-season focus on the Savior and getting ready for the temple and ward life.
- January–February (Thread 1 — Identity): a new-year focus on who we are in God's eyes, to help push back against winter discouragement.
- March–April (Thread 4 — Covenants): leading into Easter and general conference, with a focus on Christ, the Atonement, and the temple.
- May–July (Thread 3 — Potential): getting YSAs ready for summer growth, relationships, careers, service, and the temple.
- August: a capstone retreat or testimony night that brings all four topics together.

6. How We Teach

- Doctrine first: all teaching is grounded in scripture and the words of living prophets; no speculation presented as doctrine.
- Christ-centered: every lesson connects back to Jesus Christ and His Atonement.
- Relevant: teaching answers real questions YSAs ask and never dismisses doubt, anxiety, or struggle.
- More conversation, less lecture: discussion, questions, and real-life application.
- A safe space: leaders are trained to listen with love (Priority 1), especially on sensitive topics like mental health, worthiness struggles, and relationships.
- Trained facilitators: small-group leaders are briefed on tone, confidentiality, and where to point someone with a serious need.

7. How This Ties Back to Our Priorities

- Priority 1 (See and Love): enrichment nights are set up so no one sits alone, with facilitators trained to notice and bring in the quiet or the new.
- Priority 2 (Divine Identity, Purpose, Potential): the actual content of Threads 1–3.
- Priority 3 (Christ and the Atonement): Thread 4, and the spiritual tone of every session.
- Priority 4 (Invite to Christ and Covenants): every enrichment night ends with an invitation to take a next step, institute, temple, ministering, or baptism/reactivation.

8. How We'll Know It's Working

- Monthly attendance and whether it's trending up.

See · Love · Teach · Invite

- Institute enrollment numbers.
- How many small-group facilitators we've trained.
- A survey on how YSAs feel about their own understanding of divine identity, purpose, and potential.
- Signs of covenant progress: temple recommends, how often people say they're studying scripture, reactivations, and callings accepted.

BOISE IDAHO YSA STAKE

Stake YSA Council

Charter and Meeting Plan – One Page Summary

Prepared for the Boise Idaho YSA Stake YSA Council — October 2026

Purpose

This charter operationalizes Section 9 of the Gathering Plan — "Organization, Roles, and Accountability." It defines how the Stake YSA Council is organized, staffed, and held accountable for executing the plan day-to-day, and serves as the executive co-chairs' standing reference and onboarding guide.

25	13	12	4
Total Council Members	Executive Council Seats	Ward Reps (6 Wards)	Priority Program Areas

Who Does What

- Stake Presidency — sets vision and priorities; approves the Gathering Plan, budget, and major changes; calls/releases Council leaders; receives regular reports and offers guidance.
- Stake YSA Council — owns execution across Activities, Athletics, Education & Enrichment, and Outreach/Shepherding; builds the calendar, manages the approved budget, and reports progress on a regular schedule.

Council Structure

Group	Composition
Executive Council	13 seats, all YSAs: Executive Co-Chairs (RS President; High Councilor); Outreach & Shepherding Co-Leads (2); Activities, Athletics, and Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs (2 each); Gathering Place & Covenant Progression Lead; Communications & Calendar Lead; Council Secretary/Metrics Recorder.
Ward Representatives	2 per ward: Rep A (Ward Elders Quorum Presidency Counselor) covers outreach for EQ brothers; Rep B (Ward RS Presidency Counselor) covers activity attendance/follow-up for RS sisters — an extension of their existing calling. Both sit on the Full Council.
Terms	Co-chairs and ward reps serve as long as they hold their base calling; Leads/Secretary serve 12–18 months, staggered, with a 4–6 week handoff overlap.

Meeting Rhythm & Reporting

Meeting	Frequency	Purpose
Executive Council	Weekly (first 90 days), then biweekly	Review numbers, plan next 2–4 weeks, work shepherding assignments
Full Council	Monthly	Coordinate calendar, cross-ward invitations, training
Stake Presidency Report	Monthly	Written + verbal update on highlights, risks, decisions needed
Quarterly Priority Review	Quarterly	Deeper look at progress on the four priorities
Belonging Survey Review	Twice yearly	Review survey results and act on findings
Annual Planning Retreat	Yearly (Sept/Oct)	Look back and build next year's calendar and goals

Reporting flow: Ward Reps → Leads → Secretary (dashboard & monthly report) → Co-Chairs → Stake Presidency.

Decision Guide

- Council decides: program content, calendar/event design, and duty rotation within the Council.
- Council recommends, Stake Presidency approves: new signature events or spending beyond budget; extending or releasing callings.
- Flagged immediately: building-use/priesthood conflicts and sensitive personal or pastoral situations go straight to bishops and the stake presidency.

First 90 Days

Weeks 1–2: confirm charter, clean up roster, identify leads. Weeks 2–4: call/set apart leads and secretary; bishoprics identify the assigned EQ & RS counselors as ward reps. Weeks 4–6: first Executive Council meeting; belonging survey launched. Weeks 6–8: first Full Council meeting; 90-day calendar published. Weeks 8–12: first monthly report and first activities delivered under the new structure.

Bottom line: A 25-member, YSA-run Council — 13 executive seats plus ward reps — with a steady meeting rhythm and single reporting line keeps the stake presidency informed and able to guide through vision and approval, while the Council holds real ownership, clear accountability, and a direct connection to the plan's four priorities.

Executive Co-Chair — Stake YSA Relief Society President

Executive Council — Co-Chair (Sister)

Reports To	Stake Presidency, together with the Priesthood Executive Co-Chair.
Positions Needed	One (1) — Executive Council seat.

Purpose

The Sister Co-Chair shares full leadership of the YSA Council with the Priesthood Co-Chair, co-running every Executive and Full Council meeting. She champions belonging for every sister in YSA — especially less-active and new-to-the-area sisters — and ensures the Council's work stays personal, not just programmatic.

Key Responsibilities

- Co-leads the Executive Council and Full Council; co-chairs every meeting.
- Champions the “belonging audit” and the twice-a-year belonging survey, and follows through on what it finds.
- Makes sure sister YSAs — especially less-active and new-to-the-area sisters — are personally known and cared for, working with the Outreach & Shepherding Co-Lead (Sister).
- Partners with the Gathering Place & Covenant Progression Lead.
- Represents the Council to Relief Society.

What success looks like: Belonging survey completion and trends; sister participation in “Know Them by Name.”

Implementation Ideas

- Set a standing 15-minute check-in with the Priesthood Co-Chair before every Executive Council meeting to align the agenda.
- Launch the twice-a-year belonging survey as a short 5-question online form, then build a personal follow-up call list for anyone who reports feeling disconnected.
- Keep a running list of sister YSAs (less-active or new-to-area) and review it monthly with the Outreach & Shepherding Co-Lead (Sister).
- Rotate a short visit to each ward's Relief Society meeting over the year to stay visible and gather feedback firsthand.
- Bring specific names, not just numbers, into every Executive Council discussion about sisters who need outreach.

Executive Co-Chair — YSA High Councilor

Executive Council — Co-Chair (Priesthood)

Reports To	Stake Presidency, together with the Sister Executive Co-Chair.
Positions Needed	One (1) — Executive Council seat.

Purpose

The Priesthood Co-Chair shares leadership of the YSA Council with the Sister Co-Chair and assumes the stake presidency's delegated priesthood oversight. He serves as the Council's primary line of accountability to the stake presidency and ensures every program remains Christ-centered and doctrine-first.

Key Responsibilities

- Co-leads the Executive Council and Full Council; carries the stake presidency's delegated priesthood oversight.
- Is the main point of contact with the stake presidency, including monthly and quarterly reports.
- Coordinates with bishops on building use, priesthood correlation, and sensitive referrals.
- Reviews and recommends any Council calling changes to the stake presidency.
- Makes sure every program stays Christ-centered and doctrine-first.

What success looks like: Monthly reports delivered on time; issues resolved within a week.

Implementation Ideas

- Put a recurring calendar hold the same week every month for the stake presidency report, built from the Secretary's dashboard.
- Keep a simple bishop-contact log for building use and priesthood correlation issues, and close each item within a week.
- Bring a one-page Council calling roster to stake council meetings to flag any upcoming vacancy or change that needs approval.
- Open each Executive Council meeting with a short doctrine-centered thought tied to one of the Gathering Plan's four priorities.
- Track “issues resolved within a week” on the same tracker the Secretary uses for the monthly dashboard.

Purpose

The Outreach & Shepherding Co-Lead (Sister) co-owns the stake-level "Know Them by Name" contact system with the Priesthood Co-Lead and is primarily responsible for every sister YSA on the roster. She ensures every sister—active, less-active, non-attending, newly arrived, or newly turned 18, including returned missionaries—is personally known and welcomed.

Key Responsibilities

- Keeps the sister portion of the master roster current — active, less-active, non-attending, and new move-in YSAs.
- Partners with the Sister Co-Chair on sister-specific outreach and on following through with belonging survey findings; sends sister outreach numbers to the Priesthood Co-Lead for the combined monthly report.

What success looks like: Percent of sisters on the roster contacted each month; sister move-ins reached within 7 days.

Implementation Ideas

- Keep the sister tab of the master roster segmented by active, less-active, non-attending, and new move-in, and review it monthly with each Ward Rep B.
- Give every Ward Rep B a standing monthly "Know Them by Name" call list pulled straight from the sister roster.
- Set an automatic 7-day/14-day reminder the same week a newly arrived sister, newly turned-18 sister, or returned missionary appears in ward records.
- Hold a monthly 30-minute call with sister Gathering Specialists and ward Relief Society presidencies to trade challenges and best practices ahead of the Executive Council meeting.
- Send sister outreach numbers to the Priesthood Co-Lead a few days before the dashboard deadline (for example, the 22nd) so the combined report reaches the Secretary on time.

Reports To	Executive Co-Chairs (works most closely with the Priesthood Executive Co-Chair).
Positions Needed	One (1) — Executive Council seat.

Purpose

The Outreach & Shepherding Co-Lead (Priesthood) co-owns the stake-level "Know Them by Name" contact system with the Sister Co-Lead and is primarily responsible for every brother YSA on the roster. He ensures every brother—active, less-active, non-attending, newly arrived, or newly turned 18, including returned missionaries—is personally known and welcomed. He reconciles the combined roster each month and delivers the combined outreach report that feeds the Council dashboard.

Key Responsibilities

- Co-owns the "Know Them by Name" contact system with the Sister Co-Lead, with primary responsibility for every brother YSA on the roster.
- Coordinates brother Gathering Specialists; teams up with ward elders quorum presidencies and Ward Rep A on less-active rescue among brothers, including ministering coordination.
- Runs the welcome plan for newly arrived and newly turned-18 brothers, including returned missionaries (contact within 7 days, invite within 14).
- Keeps the brother portion of the master roster current, and reconciles the combined roster with the Sister Co-Lead each month.
- Sends the combined outreach numbers to the Secretary each month for the dashboard; routes any referral that needs a bishop through the Priesthood Co-Chair.

What success looks like: Percent of brothers on the roster contacted each month; brother move-ins reached within 7 days; combined outreach report delivered on time.

Implementation Ideas

- Keep the brother tab of the master roster segmented by active, less-active, non-attending, and new move-in, and review it monthly with each Ward Rep A.
- Give every Ward Rep A a standing monthly "Know Them by Name" call list, and use quarterly ministering interviews as a key outreach data source.
- Set an automatic 7-day/14-day reminder the same week a newly arrived brother, newly turned-18 brother, or returned missionary appears in ward records.
- Meet monthly with the Sister Co-Lead to reconcile the combined roster before the numbers go to the Secretary, and flag any YSA who appears on neither list.
- Send the combined outreach report to the Secretary by the same date every month (for example, the 25th), and pass any bishop-level referral to the Priesthood Co-Chair the same day it surfaces.

Activities Co-Chair (Sister)

Executive Council — Co-Chair, Activities Committee

Reports To	Executive Co-Chairs.
Positions Needed	One (1) — Executive Council seat.

Purpose

The Activities Co-Chair (Sister) sets the tone for belonging at every Category Lead huddle and Full Activities Committee meeting, ensuring that greeters, name tags, and cross-ward mixing make every event feel like a place where newcomers and less-active YSAs feel personally invited and welcomed.

Key Responsibilities

- Co-chairs every Category Lead huddle and Full Activities Committee meeting.
- Sets the standard for making sure everyone feels included and welcome — greeters, name tags, mixing people from different wards.
- Sets and reviews how Connection Hosts are recruited and trained, together with Category Leads and Ward Activity Representatives.
- Works with the Outreach & Shepherding Co-Leads to make sure less-active and new-move-in YSAs get personally invited.
- Runs the after-event debriefs with each Category Lead and Activity Lead.

What success looks like: How many 48-hour follow-ups actually happen, and how many newcomers come back.

Implementation Ideas

- Build a simple greeter/name-tag/cross-ward-mixing checklist that every Category Lead runs through before doors open.
- Give Connection Hosts a one-page training card covering how to spot a newcomer and make the first introduction.
- Ask the Outreach & Shepherding Co-Leads for a short list of less-active or new-move-in names before each event and personally text an invite to each one.
- Run the after-event debrief within 48 hours and ask each Category Lead one question: “Who came for the first time, and did we follow up?”
- Rotate which Category Lead hosts the monthly huddle so ownership of inclusion doesn't default to one committee.

Activities Co-Chair (Priesthood)

Executive Council — Co-Chair, Activities Committee

Reports To	Executive Co-Chairs.
Positions Needed	One (1) — Executive Council seat.

Purpose

The Activities Co-Chair (Priesthood) keeps the six-week planning board on schedule, confirms Activity Lead assignments early, and manages the budget so that every stake activity is delivered on time, to a high standard, and within its financial limits.

Key Responsibilities

- Co-chairs every Category Lead huddle and Full Activities Committee meeting.
- Keeps the six-week planning board up to date, working with the Communications & Calendar Lead.
- Confirms Activity Lead assignments that Category Leads propose, at least six weeks before each event.
- Manages the Activities Committee budget and sorts out any scheduling conflicts between categories.
- Sends the monthly attendance and newcomer report to the YSA Council.

What success looks like: Activities happening on time and at a good standard every month, and staying within budget.

Implementation Ideas

- Keep the six-week planning board as a single shared document with the Communications & Calendar Lead, updated every huddle.
- Require Category Leads to propose their Activity Lead by six weeks out, then confirm in writing within 48 hours.
- Track the Activities Committee budget in one running spreadsheet, reviewed at each Full Activities Committee meeting.
- Flag any building-schedule or category-timing conflict the moment it appears — these need stake presidency approval before they're locked in.
- Send the monthly attendance and newcomer report to the YSA Council on the same date every month, matching the Secretary's dashboard deadline.

Executive Council — Co-Chair, Athletics Committee

Reports To	Executive Co-Chairs.
Positions Needed	One (1) — Executive Council seat.

Purpose

The Athletics Co-Chair (Sister) shares ownership of the athletics calendar and program quality with the Priesthood Co-Chair, ensuring that every league night, open play, and tournament is designed so newcomers and less-active YSAs feel personally invited and never sit on the sidelines unnoticed.

- Coordinates recruiting and training Connection Hosts with the Ward Athletics Representatives.
- Tracks weekly attendance, absentee follow-up, and less-active/non-member turnout alongside the Priesthood Co-Lead.

What success looks like: How many 48-hour follow-ups actually happen, and how many newcomers come back.

Implementation Ideas

- Co-review the season calendar with the Priesthood Co-Chair monthly to keep ownership of quality shared, not siloed by sport.
- Ask Ward Athletics Representatives for a short list of less-active or new-move-in names before each season starts.
- Give Connection Hosts a one-page checklist for welcoming a new face at league night or open play.
- Track weekly attendance and absentee follow-up on one shared sheet with the Priesthood Co-Chair, reviewed every Sunday evening.
- Personally text-invite at least three less-active or new-move-in YSAs before each week's open play.

Positions Needed	One (1) — Executive Council seat.

Purpose

The Athletics Co-Chair (Priesthood) owns facility scheduling, equipment, and safety standards for the season, keeps the calendar published at least 60 days in advance, and ensures the “More Than a Game” spiritual message and sportsmanship standard are present at every league and open-play night.

Key Responsibilities

- Co-chairs the committee with the Sister Co-Chair, and oversees the Sport Commissioners, Team Captains, and Connection Hosts.
- Owns facility scheduling, equipment inventory, and safety standards for all athletics.
- Builds and runs the season calendar (open play, leagues, tournaments, inter-stake and outdoor events) and gets it to the Communications & Calendar Lead at least 60 days ahead.
- Makes sure every league and open-play night includes the “More Than a Game” spiritual message and the written sportsmanship standard.
- Recruits, briefs, and checks in with Sport Commissioners each season, and represents the Committee at the Stake YSA Council meeting.

What it looks like when it's working: Attendance trending up week over week; absentees contacted within 48 hours; seasons starting on time.

Implementation Ideas

- Confirm facility reservations and equipment inventory at least 60 days before each season starts, matching the Communications & Calendar Lead's publish date.
- Put together a one-page “More Than a Game” script bank and written sportsmanship standard so any Sport Commissioner can lead it on short notice.
- Recruit and brief Sport Commissioners each season with a clear safety, equipment, and roster checklist.
- Review weekly attendance trends with the Sister Co-Chair every Sunday evening so absentee follow-up happens inside 48 hours.
- Keep a simple incident/safety log so any injury or facility issue is documented and reported promptly to the Stake YSA Council.

Education & Enrichment Co-Chair (Sister)

Executive Council — Co-Chair, Education & Enrichment Committee

Reports To	Executive Co-Chairs.
Positions Needed	One (1) — Executive Council seat.

Purpose

The Education & Enrichment Co-Chair (Sister) co-chairs every Committee Core meeting with the Priesthood Co-Chair, runs the Monthly Stake Enrichment Night, and champions recruiting sister-specific facilitators so small groups are intentionally formed and no one sits alone.

Key Responsibilities

- Co-leads the Education & Enrichment Committee; co-chairs every Committee Core meeting with the Priesthood Executive Co-Chair.
- Runs the Monthly Stake Enrichment Night and rotates through the four curriculum threads over the year, together with the Priesthood Co-Chair.
- Champions sister-specific facilitator and mentor recruiting, and makes sure small groups are set up so no one sits alone.
- Represents the Committee at the monthly YSA Council meeting alongside the Priesthood Co-Chair.
- Makes sure every enrichment night ends with a specific invitation to take a covenant step.

Success metric: Monthly enrichment attendance and trend; facilitators trained per cycle.

Implementation Ideas

- Map the four curriculum threads onto a 12-month calendar together with the Priesthood Co-Chair so no topic repeats back-to-back.
- Recruit sister facilitators and mentors at least two weeks before each Enrichment Night, using a simple one-page facilitator guide.
- Walk the room before each small-group session starts and personally place any solo attendee into a group.
- Close every enrichment night with a printed “next step” card participants can take home as a concrete covenant invitation.
- Track facilitators trained per cycle on the same tracker the Secretary uses for the monthly dashboard.

Education & Enrichment Co-Chair (Priesthood)

Executive Council — Co-Chair, Education & Enrichment Committee

Reports To	Executive Co-Chairs.
Positions Needed	One (1) — Executive Council seat.

Purpose

The Education & Enrichment Co-Chair (Priesthood) manages the Committee's reporting relationship with the Executive Co-Chairs, coordinates the Workshop/Seminar series with the Institute, and upholds Christ-centered, doctrine-first teaching standards across all enrichment nights, workshops, and discussion groups.

Key Responsibilities

- Co-leads the Education & Enrichment Committee; carries the Committee's reporting relationship with the YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs.
- Coordinates the Workshop/Seminar series and keeps it aligned with the Institute, drawing on stake members' expertise.
- Reviews Committee coordinator changes and recommends them to the YSA Council Co-Chairs.
- Makes sure Christ-centered framing and doctrine-first teaching standards are upheld across every enrichment night, workshop, and discussion group.
- Delivers the monthly enrichment stewardship report to the YSA Council Co-Chairs, prepared by the Secretary.

Success metric: On-time monthly reports; teaching-standards compliance across all sessions.

Implementation Ideas

- Line up Workshop/Seminar topics with the Institute course calendar each term, working with the Gathering Place & Covenant Progression Lead.
- Book workshop/seminar presenters at least three weeks ahead using a shared “stake expertise” contact list.
- Review any proposed Committee coordinator change with the current coordinator before recommending it to the YSA Council Co-Chairs.
- Spot-check one enrichment night, workshop, or discussion group per month for Christ-centered framing and doctrine-first teaching.
- Have the Secretary prep the monthly enrichment stewardship report from a standing template so it's ready for delivery on the same date every month.

Gathering Place & Covenant Progression Lead

Executive Council — Lead (Institute Council President)

Reports To	Executive Co-Chairs.
Positions Needed	One (1) — Executive Council seat.

Purpose

This Lead partners with Institute faculty to increase enrollment and remove barriers to attendance, while owning the covenant pathway that guides YSAs from first contact through temple, calling, mission, or marriage.

Key Responsibilities

- Partners with Institute faculty to boost enrollment and remove barriers (rides, scheduling).
- Owns the covenant pathway map (attend → connect → institute → temple → calling → mission/marriage) for people being tracked.
- Runs the temple recommend campaign and coordinates stake temple nights and group temple trips.
- Lines up institute course topics with the stake's four curriculum threads where it makes sense.
- Reports institute enrollment and temple recommend numbers to the Secretary.

What success looks like: Institute enrollment rate, temple recommend holders, and temple night attendance.

Implementation Ideas

- Build a simple covenant pathway tracker (attend → connect → institute → temple → calling → mission/marriage) and review it monthly with Institute faculty.
- Identify ride-share or scheduling barriers each term and solve them before the semester starts.
- Put a quarterly temple night and one annual group temple trip on the master calendar at least 60 days out.
- Run a temple recommend campaign each fall and spring tied to a specific, visible goal number.
- Send institute enrollment and temple recommend numbers to the Secretary on the same monthly schedule as the other Leads.

Communications & Calendar Lead

Executive Council — Lead

Reports To	Executive Co-Chairs.
Positions Needed	One (1) — Executive Council seat.

Purpose

This Lead keeps the shared stake calendar accurate, runs the invitation flow for every event, and creates the outreach materials the other Leads use to spread the word.

Key Responsibilities

- Owns the one shared stake calendar used by every ward.
- Runs the invitation flow for every event: personal invite → text reminder → group announcement.
- Creates outreach materials (announcements, group texts, graphics) for the other leads.
- Gathers stories — testimonies and experiences from leaders and YSAs — to keep momentum going.
- Keeps the Council's communication channels (group chat, shared calendar, contact lists) up to date.

What success looks like: Calendar published 60+ days out; invite chain completed for each event.

Implementation Ideas

- Publish the master calendar 60+ days out and set a standing weekly slot to keep it current.
- Build one repeatable invitation-chain template (personal invite → text reminder → group announcement) every Lead can plug their event into.
- Create a simple content calendar for graphics and announcements so materials go out a week ahead, not the day of.
- Set up one shared group chat and contact list structure, and audit it for accuracy on the first of each month.
- Collect one story — a testimony or experience — each month from a Lead or YSA to keep momentum visible stakewide.

Council Secretary / Metrics Recorder

Executive Council — Lead

Reports To	Executive Co-Chairs.
Positions Needed	One (1) — Executive Council seat.

Purpose

The Secretary keeps the Council's records straight — minutes, action items, the monthly dashboard, and the report to the stake presidency — so nothing that's decided or promised is lost.

Key Responsibilities

- Takes minutes and tracks action items for every Executive and Full Council meeting.
- Puts together the monthly dashboard using data from each lead.
- Drafts the monthly report and quarterly review packet for the stake presidency (Section 6).
- Tracks the Council roster, term dates, and upcoming turnover.
- Runs the twice-a-year belonging survey and compiles the results.

What success looks like: Reports delivered on time; dashboard is accurate and complete.

Implementation Ideas

- Use one standing minutes/action-item template for every Executive and Full Council meeting, and send it out within 48 hours.
- Build the monthly dashboard from a single shared intake form each Lead fills out by a set deadline (for example, the 25th).
- Draft the monthly report using the Section 6 template so the Co-Chairs can pass it to the stake presidency with minimal edits.
- Keep the Council roster and term dates on a calendar with automatic reminders 60 days before turnover.
- Schedule both belonging-survey windows at the start of the year so they're never missed.

Ward Representatives (two per ward)

Full Council — Ward-Level Representation

Reports To	Council Leads for the work; their bishopric liaison for anything pastoral.
Positions Needed	Two (2) per ward — Counselor in Ward EQ Presidency (Rep A) and Counselor in Ward RS Presidency (Rep B).

Purpose

Ward Representatives carry the Gathering Plan into every ward — identifying members to contact, tracking attendance, and running the "Know Them by Name" effort at the ward level — then bring stake-level assignments back home and escalate ward needs to the appropriate Lead.

Key Responsibilities

- Counselor in Ward EQ Presidency (Rep A), Counselor in Ward RS Presidency (Rep B).
- Outreach: identifies ward members in their respective organizations to contact, extend personal invitations, and runs "Know Them by Name" contacts for that ward.
- Activities/Attendance: tracks ward attendance at activities, athletics, and enrichment nights for their respective organizations; leads 48-hour follow-up for newcomers and no-shows in that ward/organization.
- Both attend the monthly Full Council meeting and bring stake-level assignments back to their ward.
- Both raise ward-level needs and concerns up to the relevant Lead.

What success looks like: Ward-level contact and follow-up rate; ward attendance trend.

Implementation Ideas

- Divide the ward roster between Rep A (EQ) and Rep B (RS) so every YSA has one clear point of contact; Rep A works with the Outreach & Shepherding Co-Lead (Priesthood), and Rep B with the Co-Lead (Sister).
- Keep a simple monthly "Know Them by Name" contact list for your half of the roster, and send your numbers to your Outreach & Shepherding Co-Lead each month.
- Set a 48-hour follow-up reminder for every newcomer or no-show at an activity, athletics night, or enrichment event.
- Bring specific names — not just numbers — to your bishopric liaison when raising a pastoral concern.
- After every Full Council meeting, spend 10 minutes turning stake-level assignments into a ward-specific to-do list.

BOISE IDAHO YSA STAKE

Ward Representative Role Clarification

Handbook Alignment for Rep A (Elders Quorum Counselor) and Rep B (Relief Society Counselor)

A companion to the Stake YSA Council Charter and Meeting Plan

Prepared October 2026

1. Purpose of This Document

The Stake YSA Council Charter and Meeting Plan calls two Ward Representatives from every ward: a Counselor in the Ward Elders Quorum (EQ) Presidency ("Rep A") and a Counselor in the Ward Relief Society (RS) Presidency ("Rep B"). Both are already sustained, set-apart callings with duties defined in the General Handbook: Serving in The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. The Charter then layers on Council-specific outreach, activity-tracking, and reporting duties.

This document lays out, side by side, (1) the Handbook baseline for each counselor calling, (2) the additional duties the Charter contemplates for that person as a Ward Rep, and (3) whether the two fit together cleanly. It closes with practical implementation ideas for each Rep and a short list of recommendations for the Council co-chairs and stake presidency.

A note on this being a YSA stake: because the entire population of the Boise Idaho YSA Stake is young single adults, a provision that matters in a typical geographic ward — where the EQ president or RS president may assign just one counselor to focus on young single adults (General Handbook 8.3.1 and 9.3.1, referencing 14.1.2.2) — is effectively already fulfilled by every counselor in every ward. There is no "family ward" population competing for attention. This removes a potential point of friction and is discussed further in Section 4.

2. How the Handbook Frames Counselor Callings

In both organizations, the Handbook writes the list of responsibilities under the president's calling and then states, "His counselors assist him" (elders quorum) or "Her counselors assist her" (Relief Society). Counselors do not hold independent authority over the organization; they act on assignments delegated by their president, and they may act in the president's place at ward council or elsewhere only when asked to.

General Handbook, 8.3.3–8.3.4 (elders quorum) and 9.3.2–9.3.3 (Relief Society), describe the counselor relationship as follows: a counselor "supports and sustains" the president, "accepts and prayerfully fulfills responsibilities" the president delegates, and attends ward council "when the president invites you to go in his/her absence."

3. Rep A — Counselor, Ward Elders Quorum Presidency

3.1 Handbook Responsibilities (Elders Quorum Presidency)

General Handbook, chapter 8 — "the elders quorum president has the following responsibilities. His counselors assist him." Reference: https://www.churchofjesuschrist.org/study/manual/general-handbook/8-elders-quorum?lang=eng

- Serve on the ward council — as a council member helping to address ward needs, and as a representative of the elders quorum.

- Lead the quorum's efforts to participate in God's work of salvation and exaltation.
- Organize and oversee the service of ministering brothers; coordinate ministering assignments with the Relief Society presidency at least quarterly; hold ministering interviews at least quarterly.
- Under the bishop's guidance, counsel with adult members of the ward. Only the bishop counsels members about worthiness, abuse, or fast-offering approval.
- With the Relief Society presidency, help lead ward efforts to invite all to receive the blessings of the gospel; oversee the ward mission leader if one is called.
- With the Relief Society presidency, help lead the ward's temple and family history efforts.
- Coordinate the quorum's efforts to strengthen young adult brethren, both single and married (one counselor may be assigned to serve young single adults).
- Meet with each quorum member individually at least once a year to discuss priesthood duties and well-being.
- Teach quorum members their priesthood duties; oversee and help improve teaching in the quorum.
- Plan and conduct quorum meetings; oversee elders quorum activities.
- Help young men and prospective elders prepare to receive the Melchizedek Priesthood.
- Oversee quorum records, reports, and finances.

3.2 Charter-Assigned Duties (Rep A, from Section 4.14)

Boise Idaho YSA Stake, Stake YSA Council Charter and Meeting Plan, Section 4.14, "Ward Representatives (two per ward)."

- Outreach: identify elders quorum brothers to contact, extend personal invitations, and run "Know Them by Name" contacts for the ward.
- Activities/Attendance: track ward brothers' attendance at activities, athletics, and enrichment nights; lead 48-hour follow-up for newcomers and no-shows.
- Attend the monthly Full Council meeting and bring stake-level assignments back to the ward.
- Raise ward-level needs and concerns up to the relevant Council Lead.

3.3 Alignment Check

Good fit: the Handbook already directs the elders quorum presidency to strengthen young adult brethren, hold ministering interviews, meet individually with members, and coordinate outreach and temple/family history work with the Relief Society presidency. The Charter's "Know Them by Name" and outreach duties operationalize that existing mandate rather than adding a new one.

Good fit: the Handbook explicitly allows the president to "ask a counselor or another quorum member to take the lead in planning and carrying out" activities. Naming Rep A as the activities/attendance point person is a Handbook-sanctioned delegation, not a workaround.

YSA-specific simplification: because the whole quorum is young single adults, the Handbook line "one counselor may be assigned to serve with young single adults" has no one else to be assigned to serve instead — Rep A's Charter focus and the Handbook's YSA-strengthening duty are the same population and the same work.

Watch item — line of authority: the Charter routes Council reporting to "Council Leads for the work" and to a bishopric liaison "for anything pastoral." The Handbook still expects Rep A to act on assignments the elders quorum president delegates. The EQ president should stay in the loop on Council assignments given to Rep A so the calling relationship is not bypassed.

Watch item — sensitive matters: the Handbook reserves worthiness, abuse, and fast-offering decisions to the bishop alone. This matches the Charter's own Section 2 rule that sensitive personal situations "go straight to the bishops and stake presidency rather than being handled within the Council" — the two documents agree, and Rep A should be reminded of this boundary during training.

3.4 Implementation Ideas for Rep A

- Build a single "Know Them by Name" roster for the elders quorum (active, less-active, non-attending, new move-in) and reconcile it against current ministering assignments each quarter — this turns the Handbook-required quarterly ministering coordination with the Relief Society presidency into the same data review the Charter asks for.
- Ask the elders quorum president to formally delegate the activities/attendance lead role at a presidency meeting, consistent with Handbook 8.2.1.3/8.3.5 — this gives Rep A standing to track attendance and run 48-hour follow-up as part of the calling, not as a side assignment.
- Use ministering interview notes (already required at least quarterly) as the primary source for identifying brothers who need outreach, rather than building a second, separate contact system.
- Add a standing five-minute item to elders quorum presidency meetings: review Full Council assignments and the shared stake calendar, and flag ward-level needs to bring to the next Lead conversation.
- Route any personal, worthiness, or safety concern that surfaces during outreach straight to the elders quorum president and bishopric — do not attempt to resolve it inside the Council.
- Because there is no "family ward" population splitting attention, use the full counselor assignment for YSA strengthening rather than dividing time between single and married members as a mixed ward counselor would.

4. Rep B — Counselor, Ward Relief Society Presidency

4.1 Handbook Responsibilities (Relief Society Presidency)

General Handbook, chapter 9 — "the Relief Society president has the following responsibilities. Her counselors assist her." Reference: https://www.churchofjesuschrist.org/study/manual/general-handbook/9-relief-society?lang=eng

- Serve on the ward council — as a council member helping to address ward needs, and as a representative of the Relief Society.
- Lead the Relief Society's efforts to participate in God's work of salvation and exaltation.
- Organize and oversee the service of ministering sisters; coordinate ministering assignments with the elders quorum presidency at least quarterly; hold ministering interviews at least quarterly.
- Under the bishop's guidance, counsel with adult members of the ward. Only the bishop counsels members about worthiness, abuse, or fast-offering approval.
- With the elders quorum presidency, help lead ward efforts to invite all to receive the blessings of the gospel.
- With the elders quorum presidency, help lead the ward's temple and family history efforts.
- Coordinate the Relief Society's efforts to strengthen young adult sisters, both single and married (one counselor may be assigned to serve young single adults).
- Meet with each Relief Society member individually at least once a year to discuss well-being.
- Teach sisters their covenant responsibilities and blessings; oversee and help improve teaching in Relief Society.
- Plan and conduct Relief Society meetings; oversee Relief Society activities.
- Help young women prepare to participate in Relief Society.
- Oversee Relief Society records, reports, and finances.

4.2 Charter-Assigned Duties (Rep B, from Section 4.14)

Boise Idaho YSA Stake, Stake YSA Council Charter and Meeting Plan, Section 4.14, "Ward Representatives (two per ward)."

- Outreach: identify Relief Society sisters to contact, extend personal invitations, and run "Know Them by Name" contacts for the ward.
- Activities/Attendance: track ward sisters' attendance at activities, athletics, and enrichment nights; lead 48-hour follow-up for newcomers and no-shows.
- Attend the monthly Full Council meeting and bring stake-level assignments back to the ward.
- Raise ward-level needs and concerns up to the relevant Council Lead.

4.3 Alignment Check

Good fit: the same logic that applies to Rep A applies here — ministering interviews, individual annual visits, and the mandate to strengthen young adult sisters already give Rep B a Handbook basis for "Know Them by Name" outreach and follow-up.

Good fit: the Handbook lets the Relief Society president "ask a counselor or another sister to take the lead in planning and carrying out" activities, so naming Rep B the activities/attendance lead is squarely within the calling.

YSA-specific simplification: as with Rep A, the Handbook's "one counselor may be assigned to serve with young single adults" provision has nothing else to divide against in a YSA stake — the whole Relief Society is young single adult sisters, so Rep B's Charter role and the Handbook's YSA-strengthening duty are one and the same.

Additional YSA-stake nuance: the Handbook notes that if the stake has a young single adult committee, a member of the stake Relief Society presidency serves on it. The Charter's Sister Co-Chair seat (the Stake YSA Relief Society President) already fills that role at the executive level; Rep B is simply the ward-level extension of the same structure, which is a consistent design rather than a duplicate layer.

Watch item — line of authority and sensitive matters: the same two cautions from Rep A apply: keep the Relief Society president informed of Council assignments given to Rep B, and route worthiness, abuse, or safety concerns straight to the bishop rather than handling them inside the Council, consistent with both the Handbook and the Charter's Section 2.

4.4 Implementation Ideas for Rep B

- Maintain the ward's "Know Them by Name" roster for sisters jointly with Rep A's elders quorum roster where households or social groups overlap, so outreach is not duplicated for sisters and brothers who attend the same activities.
- Have the Relief Society president formally delegate the activities/attendance lead assignment in a presidency meeting, so tracking and 48-hour follow-up are recognized presidency work.
- Use required quarterly ministering interviews as the outreach data source, and use the required quarterly ministering-coordination meeting with the elders quorum presidency as the natural sync point with Rep A — this can double as a joint Ward Rep planning check-in rather than a separate meeting.
- Pay particular attention to newly turned-18 young women transitioning into Relief Society and newly arrived sisters in the stake boundaries — both groups need the same "contact within 7 days, invite within 14" welcome the Charter calls for, and this overlaps with the Handbook's existing duty to help young women prepare to participate in Relief Society.
- Coordinate with the Activities Co-Chair (Sister) and Athletics Co-Chair (Sister) on Connection Host recruiting so ward-level attendance tracking feeds directly into the stake-level 48-hour follow-up standard.
- Route any personal, worthiness, or safety concern straight to the Relief Society president and bishopric.

5. Side-by-Side Summary

Handbook Baseline (Counselor)	Charter Addition (Ward Rep Duty)	Alignment Note
Serve on ward council; represent the organization	Attend monthly Full Council; represent the ward's YSAs there	Extension, not conflict — same representative function, one more meeting layer at the stake level
Ministering interviews and assignments (at least quarterly, coordinated with the counterpart presidency)	"Know Them by Name" outreach and personal invitations	Same underlying work; Charter gives it a program name and a reporting rhythm
President may delegate activity planning/leading to a counselor	Track attendance at activities, athletics, enrichment; lead 48-hour follow-up	Handbook-sanctioned delegation, provided the president actually makes the assignment
Coordinate efforts to strengthen young adult members; one counselor may be assigned to YSAs specifically	Entire Ward Rep role is YSA-focused by design	Naturally aligned in a YSA stake — no competing population to divide attention
Only the bishop counsels on worthiness, abuse, or fast-offering approval	Charter: sensitive personal situations go straight to bishops/stake presidency	Fully aligned — both documents draw the same boundary
Counselor acts on assignments delegated by the president; attends ward council only as invited	Reports to Council Leads for Council work; bishopric liaison for pastoral matters	Needs active coordination — keep the EQ/RS president informed of Council assignments given to the counselor

6. Recommendations for the Council Co-Chairs and Stake Presidency

- When a ward calls its EQ and RS counselors, have the bishopric note that these two callings will also carry the Ward Rep assignment, so the calling conversation and the sustaining reflect the full scope of the responsibility from the start.
- Ask each elders quorum and Relief Society president to formally delegate the activities/attendance-tracking piece to their respective counselor in a presidency meeting — this keeps the Charter's duties inside normal Handbook delegation rather than as a parallel assignment.
- Align the required quarterly EQ–RS ministering coordination meeting with the Ward Reps' outreach planning, so wards are not running two separate coordination tracks for the same population.
- Add a short footnote to the Charter (Section 4.14 or 3.2) noting that in a YSA stake, the Handbook's "one counselor assigned to serve young single adults" provision is inherently fulfilled by every EQ and RS counselor — this heads off future confusion for leaders less familiar with YSA-stake structure.
- Reaffirm in Ward Rep training (Section 9 of the Charter) that sensitive personal matters go to the bishopric immediately, matching both the Handbook and the Charter's own Section 2 exception.

1. Purpose of This Document

The Boise, Idaho, YSA Stake Gathering Plan outlines the stake's vision and strategy for outreach to and gathering of Young Single Adults (YSAs). This charter builds on Section 9 of that plan — "Organization, Roles, and Accountability" — by detailing how the YSA Council is organized, staffed, and held accountable for executing the plan day to day. The Gathering Plan explains what needs to happen. This document explains who's responsible, how many people are needed, how the work is divided, and how the Council reports back to the stake presidency.

This is intended to be approved by the stake presidency and to serve as the YSA Council co-chairs' everyday reference and onboarding guide.

2. Who Does What: Stake Presidency and the Council

The Gathering Plan draws a clear line between designing the plan and carrying it out. This charter keeps that line clear:

Who	What They Do
Stake Presidency	Sets the vision and priorities, and approves the Gathering Plan and any major changes to it. Calls and releases the Council's co-chairs, leads, and specialists. Approves the yearly budget and any spending outside it. Gets regular updates and offers guidance, counsel, and correction—steps in on building-use conflicts, doctrinal questions, and sensitive pastoral situations.
Stake YSA Council	Fully owns putting the Gathering Plan into action across all three program areas (Activities, Athletics, Education & Enrichment) plus the outreach and shepherding work under Priority 1. Builds the calendar, staffs every event and program, tracks attendance and outreach, and adjusts as needed. Manages the approved budget and oversees the volunteers and callings under the Council. Reports progress, risks, and needs to the stake presidency on a regular schedule (Section 6).

What the Council can decide on its own:

- Program content, activity themes, and the monthly/quarterly calendar within the four priorities.
- Who does what and how duties rotate within the Council and its Committees.
- Day-to-day outreach, invitations, and follow-up.

What needs stake presidency approval:

- Any new calling, release, or change to who sits on the Council.
- Spending beyond the approved budget, or moving money between major categories.
- Building-schedule conflicts with priesthood or other stake/ward activities.
- Sensitive personal situations (mental health crisis, worthiness concerns, safety issues) — these go straight to the bishops and stake presidency rather than being handled within the Council.

3. How the Council Is Set Up

The Council operates on two levels: an executive team responsible for outcomes and a network of ward reps who carry the plan into every ward.

3.1 Executive Council (the core team)

Thirteen seats, all filled by Young Single Adults, each person owning one clear piece of the Gathering Plan:

Seat	Name	Handles	Advisors
Sister Co-Chair — Stake YSA Relief Society President		Co-leads the Council; sets the shepherding tone; sister-specific outreach and covenant progression	Stake Presidency
Priesthood Co-Chair — YSA High Councilor		Co-leads the Council; priesthood correlation; main link to the stake presidency.
Outreach & Shepherding Co-Lead (Sister)		"Know Them by Name" for sister YSAs, sister Gathering Specialists, less-active rescue, move-in welcome; works with Ward Rep B (RS)
Outreach & Shepherding Co-Lead (Priesthood)		"Know Them by Name" for brother YSAs, brother Gathering Specialists, less-active rescue, move-in welcome; works with Ward Rep A (EQ); combined outreach report
Activities Committee Co-Chair (Priesthood)		Stake Activities Committee — social, service, adventure, and signature events
Activities Committee Co-Chair (Sister)		Stake Activities Committee — social, service, adventure, and signature events
Athletics Committee Co-Chair (Priesthood)		Stake Athletics Committee — open play, leagues, inter-stake and outdoor events
Athletics Committee Co-Chair (Sister)		Stake Athletics Committee — open play, leagues, inter-stake and outdoor events
Education & Enrichment Committee Co-Chair (Priesthood)		Enrichment nights, workshops, discussion groups, mentor pairing
Education & Enrichment Committee Co-Chair (Sister)		Enrichment nights, workshops, discussion groups, mentor pairing
Gathering Place & Covenant Progression Lead (Institute Council President)		Institute partnership, temple nights/recommends, covenant pathway tracking (Priority 4)

Communications & Calendar Lead		Master calendar, invitation rhythm, multi-channel messaging, story-sharing
Council Secretary / Metrics Recorder		Minutes, attendance and outreach data, dashboards, drafting reports to the stake presidency

Executive Council total: 13 members.

3.2 Ward Representatives

Following the Gathering Plan, each ward calls or assigns two YSA reps. They focus on outreach and invitations, working with the Outreach & Shepherding Co-Leads (Rep A with the Priesthood Co-Lead, Rep B with the Sister Co-Lead); running activities, tracking attendance, and following up; and, as needed, working with the Activities, Athletics, and Enrichment leads. Ward reps sit on the Full Council, serve as the ward's point of contact for each program, and ensure that their ward's YSAs are known, invited, and followed up with.

3.3 Council Size

Total Council size = 13 (Executive Council) + 12 (Ward Representatives)

Wards in the Stake	Ward Reps	Executive Council	Total
6	12	13	25

Keep the Executive Council fixed at thirteen; that keeps clear ownership for each part of the plan.

5. How People Are Chosen and How Long They Serve

Seat	How They Get There	Term
Co-Chairs	Already called as YSA High Councilor and Stake YSA Relief Society President; no separate calling needed.	As long as they hold that calling
Leads, Co-Leads & Secretary	Nominated by the Co-Chairs with input from the stake presidency; called or formally assigned ("Stake YSA Gathering Specialist – [role]"); interviewed and set apart.	12–18 months, staggered
Ward Representatives	Already called as Elders Quorum Presidency Counselor and Counselor in Ward Relief Society Presidency; no separate calling needed.	As long as they hold that calling

Stagger terms so no more than half of the Council turns over at once. Give outgoing and incoming leads a 4–6 week overlap for the handoff, since the YSA population changes often. Where a role is shared by two co-leads or co-chairs, stagger their terms so at least one experienced partner stays in place.

[1] Because this is a YSA stake, its entire population is young single adults. The General Handbook provision that lets an elders quorum or Relief Society president assign one counselor to focus specifically on young single adults (General Handbook 8.3.1 and 9.3.1, referencing 14.1.2.2) is written for a geographic ward that also serves married and older members. In this stake, there is no such other population to divide attention from — every EQ and RS counselor already serves an entirely young-single-adult organization. Rep A and Rep B's Ward Rep duties are therefore an operational extension of a responsibility the Handbook already assigns them, not a new or competing calling. No additional YSA-focused counselor assignment is needed on top of this Charter's Ward Rep structure.

6. Meetings and Reporting

Meeting	How Often	Who Comes	What It's For	What Comes Out of It
Executive Council Meeting	Weekly for the first 90 days, then every other week	Co-Chairs, Leads, Secretary	A spiritual thought and prayer for specific people; review the numbers; plan the next 2–4 weeks; work through cross-program issues; seek guidance for specific YSAs by name; line up shepherding assignments	Minutes and action items; updated rescue and shepherding list
Full Council Meeting	Monthly	Executive Council + all Ward Reps	Coordinate the calendar; plan cross-ward invitations; train; hear updates from the wards.	Updated master calendar; ward assignments.
Stake Presidency Report	Monthly	Co-Chairs (+ a Lead if needed) and the Stake Presidency	A short written report plus a verbal update on highlights, risks, and any decisions needed	Approved next steps; resource decisions
Quarterly Priority Review	Quarterly	Executive Council + Stake Presidency	A deeper look at progress on the four priorities and all the numbers	Calendar and program adjustments
Belonging Survey Review	Twice a year	Full Council + Stake Presidency	Review the belonging survey results and act on what it shows	Program adjustments
Annual Planning Retreat	Yearly (Sept/Oct)	Full Council + Stake Presidency	Look back at the year and build next year's calendar	Year-two calendar and goals

6.1 How Information Flows

Information flows in one consistent line so nothing gets lost between the wards and the stake presidency:

1. Ward reps track and report attendance, contacts, and follow-up at the ward level.
2. Leads pull that ward data together with their own program data and bring it to the Executive Council meeting.
3. The Secretary combines all the leads' reports into one dashboard and puts together the monthly report.
4. The Co-Chairs review it, add context and any requests, and send it to the Stake Presidency.

6.2 Monthly Report Template

The Secretary drafts this every month for the Co-Chairs to pass along to the stake presidency. Keep it to one page, following the Gathering Plan's measurement framework (Section 10):

- Attendance & Participation — activities, athletics, and enrichment turnout compared to last month and to the roster.
- Outreach & Rescue — percent of roster personally contacted; less-active visits; new move-ins welcomed on schedule.
- Covenant Progression — institute enrollment, temple recommend holders, reactivations, baptisms, and callings accepted.
- What's Coming — the next 60 days on the calendar and the support that's needed.
- Risks, Needs & Decisions — anything that needs stake presidency input or approval.

7. Decision Guide: What Needs Stake Presidency Approval

Decision	Council's Role	Stake Presidency's Role
Program content, calendar, and event design	Decides	Kept informed
Assignments and duty rotation within the Council	Decides	Kept informed
A new signature event or spending beyond budget	Recommends	Approves
Extending or releasing callings/assignments	Recommends	Approves and sets apart
Building-use or priesthood scheduling conflicts	Coordinates	Resolves conflicts
Sensitive personal or pastoral situations	Flags right away	Handles with the bishops

8. How the Council Works Together

- Every meeting opens and closes with prayer, and starts with a short spiritual thought tied to one of the four priorities.
- Conversations about specific people (rescue efforts, sensitive needs) stay within the Council and are shared with bishops only when they need to know.
- Decisions are made by consensus among the Co-Chairs and the relevant Leads. If something can't be resolved, it goes to the stake presidency within a week rather than sitting unsettled.
- Leads are expected at Executive Council meetings. If a Lead can't make it, a substitute (a deputy or Ward Rep) comes in their place.
- Every Council member holds to the same "on-ramp, not destination" standard the Gathering Plan sets for activities — the Council tries to model belonging and purpose in its own meetings, the same way it wants to create that for YSAs.

9. Onboarding, Training, and Handoffs

- New Council members get a starter packet: this charter, the Gathering Plan, the current dashboard, and a handoff document from whoever had the role before them.
- New Leads shadow their predecessor for one full meeting cycle before taking over fully, whenever the timing allows for overlap.
- Each Lead keeps a living handoff document (contacts, vendor/venue info, open items, lessons learned) updated all along — not just at turnover.
- Ward Reps are trained by their Lead counterpart within two weeks of starting, covering the invitation chain, follow-up expectations, and how to report data.

10. First 90 Days: Getting Started

Timeframe	Milestones
Weeks 1–2	Co-chairs confirm the charter with the stake presidency, clean up the YSA roster, and identify lead candidates.
Weeks 2–4	Leads and Secretary called/assigned and set apart; ward bishoprics asked to identify two ward reps each (the EQ & RS counselors who have been assigned).
Weeks 4–6	First Executive Council meeting; reporting templates and dashboard set up; belonging survey launched.
Weeks 6–8	First Full Council meeting; ward reps trained; "Know Them by Name" assignments handed out; 90-day calendar published.
Weeks 8–12	First monthly report delivered to the stake presidency; first quarterly review scheduled; first stake activity, league season, and enrichment night run under the new setup.

This timeline lines up with Phase 1 and the start of Phase 2 of the Gathering Plan's implementation timeline (Section 13), so the Council and the plan move forward together.

11. Summary

This charter establishes a Council for the Boise YSA Stake, fully run by Young Single Adults and co-led by the YSA High Councilor and the Stake YSA Relief Society President. It has thirteen executive seats, each responsible for one clear piece of the Gathering Plan, plus a network of ward reps who carry the plan into every ward. A steady meeting rhythm and a single reporting line keep the stake presidency informed and able to guide through vision and approval — without managing the day-to-day — while the Council has real ownership, clear accountability, and a direct connection back to the plan's four priorities.

Appendix A: Ward Representative Quick-Start Guide

BOISE IDAHO YSA STAKE • STAKE YSA COUNCIL

For newly assigned Rep A (EQ Counselor) and Rep B (RS Counselor) — companion to Charter Section 4.14

Remember: this is a YSA stake — every quorum and Relief Society member is a young single adult. Your Ward Rep focus IS your calling's Handbook focus; there's no separate population competing for your attention.

Rep A — Counselor, Ward Elders Quorum

Reports to: EQ President (calling duties) • Council Leads (Council work) • Bishopric (pastoral matters)

YOUR CORE RESPONSIBILITIES

- Know Them by Name: identify EQ brothers, extend personal invitations, keep contact list current
- Track brothers' attendance at activities, athletics, enrichment; lead 48-hour follow-up on newcomers/no-shows
- Attend the monthly Full Council meeting; bring stake assignments back to your EQ presidency
- Raise ward-level needs and concerns to the right Council Lead

QUICK-START TIPS

- Ask your EQ president to formally delegate the activities/attendance role at a presidency meeting
- Use your required quarterly ministering interviews as your outreach data source
- Coordinate quarterly with Rep B — ministering coordination and outreach overlap

Rep B — Counselor, Ward Relief Society

Reports to: RS President (calling duties) • Council Leads (Council work) • Bishopric (pastoral matters)

BOISE IDAHO YSA STAKE

Stake Activities Committee

Charter and Meeting Plan — One Page Summary

Prepared for the Boise Idaho YSA Stake YSA Council — October 2026

Purpose

This charter puts the Comprehensive Gathering Plan into practice for the Activities Committee. It assigns clear ownership for Social, Service, Adventure, and Signature Events; sets a steady planning rhythm; and defines how the committee reports to the YSA Council — all within the boundaries set by the Stake YSA Council Charter (§2, §7).

Notable update: Ward Activity Coordinators have been restructured as Ward Activity Representatives — two per ward (Rep A, an Elders Quorum presidency counselor, and Rep B, a Relief Society presidency counselor), up from one. Committee Leads and Committee Co-Leads are now titled Co-Chairs.

Committee Structure

Level	Seats	Standing / Rotating
Committee Leadership	2	Standing
Category Leads	5 (up to 10 in pairs)	Standing
Married Couple Advisors	Up to 4 couples	Standing, advisory
Ward Activity Representatives (Rep A & Rep B)	12 (two per ward)	Standing
Activity Leads & Connection Hosts	Varies by event	Rotates each activity

Two Co-Chairs (Priesthood — High Councilor, and Sister) jointly own the committee and report to the YSA Executive Co-Chairs. Five Category Leads — Social, Service, Adventure & Recreation (18–25 and 26–35), and Signature Events — each own one activity type start to finish. Ward Activity Representatives (Rep A: Elders Quorum Presidency Counselor; Rep B: Relief Society Presidency Counselor) carry that work into each ward. Married couple advisors mentor from the side; young single adults plan and lead every event.

Meeting Rhythm

- Category Lead Huddle — weekly for the first 90 days, then every two weeks; assigns Activity Leads and updates the six-week planning board.
- Full Activities Committee Meeting — monthly; coordinates the calendar and trains Connection Hosts.
- Post-Event Evaluation — within 48 hours of every activity; captures what worked and who needs follow-up.
- YSA Council Report — monthly attendance and newcomer numbers.
- Quarterly Signature Event Summit and Annual Planning Retreat (Sept/Oct) — build next year's calendar.

Accountability & Success Measures

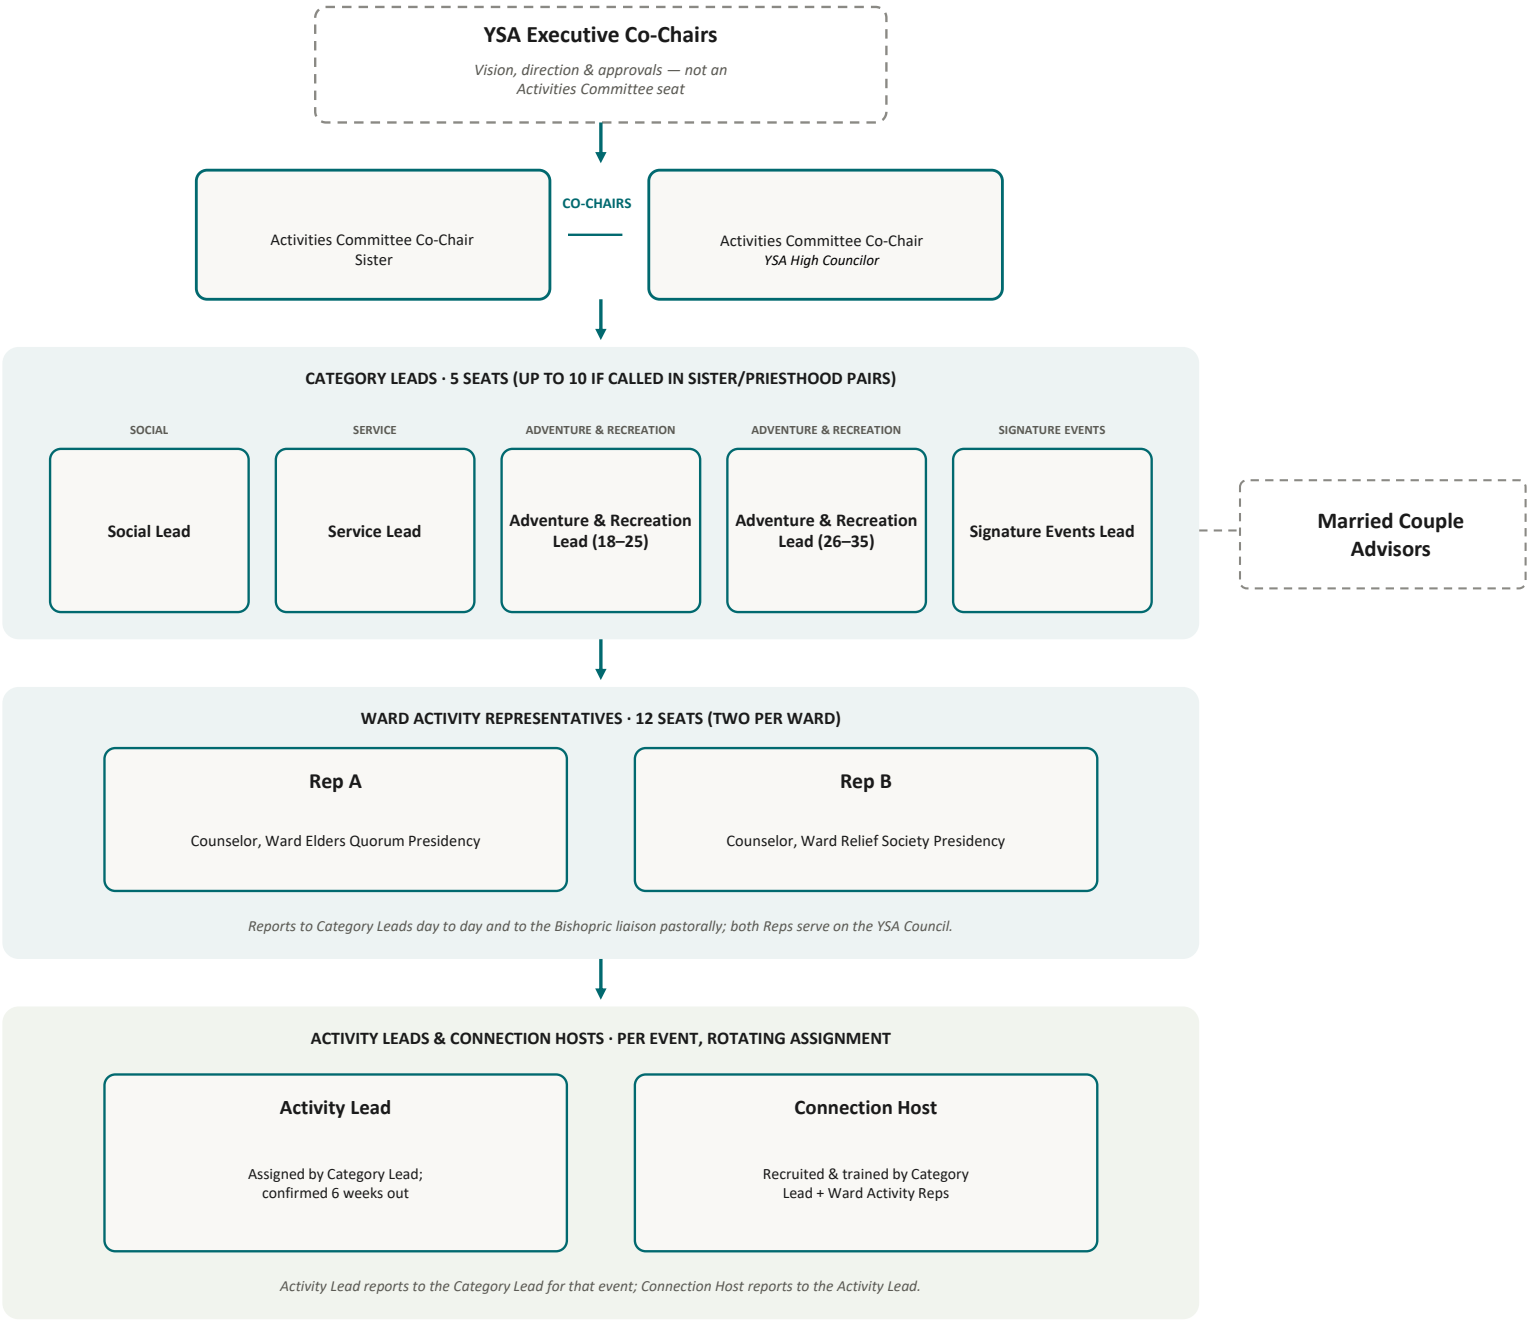

- Activity theme, format, and calendar slot: Category Leads decide, Co-Chairs informed. New signature events or spending beyond budget: Category Leads recommend, Co-Chairs approve, YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs sign off. Sensitive personal situations go straight to Bishops/Stake Presidency.
- Success is tracked through on-time, on-checklist, in-budget delivery; the 48-hour follow-up and newcomer-return rate; Connection Hosts trained per event; and a twice-yearly belonging survey reviewed in the Quarterly Priority Review.

Activities Committee Co-Chair (Priesthood)

Committee Leadership — paired calling

Reports To	YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs (jointly with the Sister Co-Chair)
Positions Needed	One, called and set apart alongside the Sister Co-Chair

Purpose

The Priesthood Co-Chair, together with the Sister Co-Chair, owns the entire Activities Committee. This calling keeps the six-week planning board current, confirms who is leading each event, manages the committee budget, and reports attendance and newcomer trends to the YSA Council — so Social, Service, Adventure, and Signature Events all happen on schedule, at a good standard, and within budget every month.

Key Responsibilities

- Co-chairs every Category Lead huddle and Full Activities Committee meeting.
- Keeps the six-week planning board up to date, working with the Communications & Calendar Lead.
- Confirms Activity Lead assignments that Category Leads propose, at least six weeks before each event.
- Manages the Activities Committee budget and sorts out any scheduling conflicts between categories.
- Sends the monthly attendance and newcomer report to the YSA Council.

What success looks like: Activities happening on time and at a good standard every month, and staying within budget.

Implementation Ideas

- Build a shared six-week rolling planning board (spreadsheet or shared calendar), color-coded by category, and review it at every huddle so gaps surface early.
- Set a recurring “Activity Lead confirmed?” checkpoint six weeks before each event so no event enters its final month without a named lead.
- Track budget line items against the approved annual budget in a simple shared sheet, updated as soon as an expense request comes in.
- Open and close every huddle and Full Committee meeting with prayer and a short spiritual thought tied to one of the four stake priorities.
- Make the monthly attendance/newcomer report a standing agenda item so trends are visible before they become problems.

Activities Committee Co-Chair (Sister)

Committee Leadership — paired calling

Reports To	YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs (jointly with the Priesthood Co-Chair)
Positions Needed	One, called and set apart alongside the Priesthood Co-Chair

Purpose

The Sister Co-Chair sets the committee's standard for belonging — making sure every activity actually welcomes people, that Connection Hosts are trained well, and that less-active and new-move-in young single adults get a personal invitation. She also runs the after-event debriefs that turn each activity into a learning moment for the next one.

Key Responsibilities

- Co-chairs every Category Lead huddle and Full Activities Committee meeting.
- Sets the standard for making sure everyone feels included and welcome — greeters, name tags, mixing people from different wards.
- Sets and reviews how Connection Hosts are recruited and trained, together with Category Leads and Ward Activity Representatives.
- Works with the Outreach & Shepherding Co-Leads to make sure less-active and new-move-in YSAs get personally invited.
- Runs the after-event debriefs with each Category Lead and Activity Lead.

What success looks like: How many 48-hour follow-ups actually happen, and how many newcomers come back.

Implementation Ideas

- Publish a one-page “Welcome Standard” (greeters at the door, name tags, a structured mixer in the first 15 minutes) that every Category Lead hands to their Activity Lead.
- Build a short, repeatable 15-minute Connection Host training — how to greet, learn names, and hand off newcomer/absentee names — delivered within two weeks of assignment.
- Hold a quick 10-minute debrief after every event: what worked, what didn't, who's new, who's less active, what follow-up is needed.
- Keep a running “needs a personal invite” list with the Outreach & Shepherding Co-Leads so less-active and new-move-in YSAs are never missed.
- Track the 48-hour follow-up rate and the newcomer return rate as your two headline numbers each month.

Social Lead

Category Lead — Planning Team

Reports To	Activities Committee Co-Chairs
Positions Needed	One (may be called as a sister-and-priesthood pair)

Purpose

The Social Lead owns the Social category from the Gathering Plan start to finish — the monthly stake social plus smaller ward-level get-togethers that give people an easy, low-pressure way to build friendships and have fun together.

Key Responsibilities

- Plans and staffs the monthly stake social, and helps coordinate smaller ward-level get-togethers.
- Lines up an Activity Lead for every social event at least six weeks ahead.
- Makes sure every social has a way to welcome first-timers — greeters, name tags, and some structured mingling.
- Reports attendance and newcomer numbers to the Secretary after each event.

What success looks like: How attendance and newcomer turnout trend each month.

Implementation Ideas

- Keep a rolling three-month social calendar with themes so the six-week lead time never slips.
- Recruit and confirm the Activity Lead the same week a social is added to the calendar, not the week before.
- Build a reusable “first-timer kit” — name tags, a greeter station, and one mixer game — for every social.
- Send attendance/newcomer counts to the Secretary within 48 hours using a shared quick-count template.
- Rotate host wards periodically so socials naturally mix people from across the stake.

Service Lead

Category Lead — Planning Team

Reports To	Activities Committee Co-Chairs
Positions Needed	One (may be called as a sister-and-priesthood pair)

Purpose

The Service Lead owns the Service category — a quarterly stake-wide service project plus ongoing ward-level service, including JustServe activities. Community service is one of the most effective ways young single adults grow spiritually and feel connected to something bigger than themselves.

Key Responsibilities

- Plans the quarterly stake-wide service project and coordinates ongoing ward-level service, including JustServe activities.
- Opens every service project with a prayer and a brief thought on serving as the Savior did.
- Lines up an Activity Lead for every service project.
- Reports participation and service hours to the Secretary.

What success looks like: Quarterly participation numbers and the number of ward-level service opportunities offered.

Implementation Ideas

- Post a standing JustServe.org search each month so ward-level options are always visible to Ward Activity Representatives.
- Build the quarterly service project checklist at least eight weeks out: cause, location, sign-up, tools/supplies, and a closing testimony moment.
- Prepare a short scripture or thought on Christlike service to open every project.
- Log participation and total service hours after every project in a shared tracker for the quarterly report.
- Line up a local service partner or JustServe contact ahead of time for facility or equipment access.

Adventure & Recreation Lead (18–25)

Category Lead — Planning Team

Reports To	Activities Committee Co-Chairs
Positions Needed	One (may be called as a sister-and-priesthood pair)

Purpose

This Adventure & Recreation Lead owns the outdoor and active-fellowship calendar for younger young single adults — hikes, lake days, camping, ski trips, and cycling — giving people an active, shared-experience way to build friendship.

Key Responsibilities

- Builds the monthly and seasonal adventure calendar; hikes, lake days, camping, ski trips, cycling.
- Makes sure rides and carpools are sorted out so nobody misses an outing for lack of a ride.
- Keeps groups a manageable size so people can actually connect, and lines up an Activity Lead for every outing.
- Handles safety planning for each activity; weather, terrain, waivers when needed.

What success looks like: Monthly and seasonal attendance, and whether carpools and inclusion plans are actually in place.

Implementation Ideas

- Publish a season-ahead outdoor calendar each quarter so people can plan around work and school.
- Set up a simple carpool sign-up sheet for every outing and confirm every rider has a ride 48 hours ahead.
- Cap group size per outing (roughly 12–15) and run two smaller outings instead of one crowd when interest is high.
- Complete a quick safety and weather check — and any waiver paperwork — the week of the activity.
- Confirm an Activity Lead and Connection Host for every outing at least two weeks ahead.

Adventure & Recreation Lead (26–35)

Category Lead — Planning Team

Reports To	Activities Committee Co-Chairs
Positions Needed	One (may be called as a sister-and-priesthood pair)

Purpose

This Adventure & Recreation Lead runs the parallel outdoor and active-fellowship calendar for the 26–35 age band — the same range of hikes, lake days, camping, ski trips, and cycling — sized and scheduled for a group whose work and life stage often looks different from the 18–25 group.

Key Responsibilities

- Builds the monthly and seasonal adventure calendar; hikes, lake days, camping, ski trips, cycling.
- Makes sure rides and carpools are sorted out so nobody misses an outing for lack of a ride.
- Keeps groups a manageable size so people can actually connect, and lines up an Activity Lead for every outing.
- Handles safety planning for each activity; weather, terrain, waivers when needed.

What success looks like: Monthly and seasonal attendance, and whether carpools and inclusion plans are actually in place.

Implementation Ideas

- Coordinate the monthly calendar with the 18–25 Adventure Lead so outings don't compete for the same weekend or venue.
- Offer weekday-evening or Sunday-afternoon options alongside weekend trips, since many in this age range have less flexible full-time work schedules.
- Keep group sizes manageable and pair newcomers with a familiar face on their first outing.
- Handle safety planning — weather, terrain, waivers — the week of every activity.
- Line up rides/carpools and an Activity Lead at least two weeks ahead of each outing.

Signature Events Lead

Category Lead — Planning Team

Reports To	Activities Committee Co-Chairs
Positions Needed	One (may be called as a sister-and-priesthood pair)

Purpose

The Signature Events Lead owns the year's marquee stake-wide gatherings — the events that anchor the calendar and draw participation from across every ward: Fall Kickoff Social, Christmas Devotional and Concert, YSA Conference/Retreat, Easter fireside, Spring Service Day, Summer Celebration, and Year-End Testimony Night.

Key Responsibilities

- Owns the major stake-wide events for the year: Fall Kickoff Social, Christmas Devotional and Concert, YSA Conference/Retreat, Easter fireside, Spring Service Day, Summer Celebration, and Year-End Testimony Night.
- Starts planning the annual conference/retreat at least twelve weeks out, and other signature events at least eight weeks out.
- Coordinates support from Social, Service, and Adventure, plus involvement from married-couple advisors, for each signature event.
- Runs the Quarterly Signature Event Summit and updates the Co-Chairs on where things stand.

What success looks like: Events that feel high-quality and happen on schedule, with good turnout across wards.

Implementation Ideas

- Build a master year-at-a-glance timeline listing all seven signature events with their lead times (12 weeks for the retreat, 8 weeks for the rest).
- At kickoff for each signature event, name a specific point person from Social, Service, and Adventure so support isn't left to chance.
- Invite married-couple advisors early and give them a specific, concrete role — greeting, hosting a table — rather than a general invitation.
- Hold the Quarterly Signature Event Summit on a fixed recurring date so planning never slips through the cracks.
- Route budget, venue, and vendor requests through the Co-Chairs at least two weeks before the event.

Married Couple Advisors

Advisory — mentor from the side

Reports To	Activities Committee Co-Chairs, day to day; Stake Presidency for the calling
Positions Needed	As assigned by the Stake Presidency, coordinated across events by the Priesthood Co-Chair

Purpose

Married couple advisors counsel, encourage, and share what they've learned — they don't plan or run activities. Young single adults lead and plan every event; advisors attend as guests and friends, offer advice when asked or when it clearly feels right, and let the young adult leaders take the lead.

Key Responsibilities

- Offer advice and experience when asked, or when it feels right; never as an instruction to follow.
- Come to activities as guests and friends, not staff; let the young single adult leaders greet, run, and close things out.
- Find whoever's standing alone, learn their name, and have a real conversation without stepping in front of the Category Lead or Activity Lead.
- After events, talk privately with Category Leads and kindly ask what worked, what they learned, and what to try differently next time.
- Coordinate who attends when with the Priesthood Co-Chair.

What success looks like: How confident and supported Category Leads and Activity Leads feel, and whether advisors show up to their assigned events.

Implementation Ideas

- Get an event assignment calendar from the Priesthood Co-Chair each month so coverage is spread evenly across advisor couples.
- Before each event, agree between yourselves who will “work the room” for newcomers and who will stay available if a Category Lead asks for input.
- Keep a small private notebook of encouragement and coaching notes to share one-on-one with Category Leads after events, not in front of the group.
- Read A Guide for Married Couples Serving in the Boise YSA Stake alongside this charter when called, and revisit it each new planning cycle.
- Practice restraint: if you catch yourself about to run something, pause and ask the Activity Lead how you can support instead.

Ward Activity Representatives (Rep A & Rep B)

Ward-Level — two per ward (Rep A: Elders Quorum Counselor · Rep B: Relief Society Counselor)

Reports To	Category Leads, day to day; their Bishopric liaison, pastorally
Positions Needed	Two per ward — Rep A (Counselor, Ward Elders Quorum Presidency) and Rep B (Counselor, Ward Relief Society Presidency)

Purpose

The Ward Activity Representatives bring the Activities Committee's work home to a specific ward, split by organization so both brothers and sisters receive personal attention. Rep A works from the Elders Quorum and Rep B from the Relief Society, each personally inviting people in their respective organizations, tracking their organizations' attendance, and following up with newcomers and no-shows within 48 hours — the personal, one-by-one outreach that keeps activities from becoming impersonal calendar postings.

Key Responsibilities

- Rep A (Counselor, Ward Elders Quorum Presidency) and Rep B (Counselor, Ward Relief Society Presidency) each identify people in their respective organizations (brothers or sisters) to reach out to and personally invite before every stake activity.
- Each Rep tracks how their organization is doing on attendance across all four activity types.
- Each Rep leads the 48-hour follow-up for newcomers and people who missed the event within their organization.
- Both Reps recruit Connection Hosts for ward-hosted events and flag ward-level needs to the right Category Lead.

What success looks like: How well invitations and follow-up get done, and the ward's attendance trend.

Implementation Ideas

- Keep a shared ward roster checklist split by organization — brothers tracked by Rep A, sisters by Rep B — with a column for each activity type so gaps stand out at a glance.
- Invite personally — a call, text, or visit — rather than relying only on group chats or flyers, with each Rep working their own organization's roster.
- Set a 48-hour timer as soon as an activity ends so each Rep reaches every newcomer and no-show in their organization.
- Have Rep A and Rep B check in briefly before and after each activity so Connection Host recruiting and ward-level needs are covered without duplicating effort.
- Bring specific names, not just numbers, to ward council when discussing YSA needs — Rep A speaking to the brothers' needs, Rep B to the sisters'.

Activity Lead

Event-Level — rotating assignment

Reports To	The Category Lead for that activity
Positions Needed	One per event, confirmed by the Co-Chairs at least six weeks ahead

Purpose

The Activity Lead owns one specific event from start to finish — the person on the ground who works through the planning checklist, sets the spiritual tone, handles logistics, and makes sure the event is inclusive and well followed-up.

Key Responsibilities

- Works through the activity planning checklist (Section 7), from setting the purpose to the post-event review.
- Owns the spiritual framing, making sure it's inclusive, logistics, and the invitation plan for their event.
- Recruits and briefs Connection Hosts for the event, with the Category Lead.
- Reports attendance, newcomer, and follow-up info to the Category Lead within 48 hours of the event.

What success looks like: The event happening on time, the checklist completed, and the 48-hour report turned in.

Implementation Ideas

- Start the six-step checklist the day you're confirmed: purpose → priority → inclusion plan → spiritual framing → logistics → invitations → follow-up → evaluation.
- Open (and close, when appropriate) the activity with prayer and a short spiritual thought tied to one of the four stake priorities.
- Recruit Connection Hosts at least two weeks out and brief them the week of the event on names or faces to watch for.
- Build the invitation plan around personal invites — ask each Ward Activity Representative who in their ward needs a personal ask, not just a calendar posting.
- Submit the 48-hour post-event report (attendance, newcomers, follow-up needed) to the Category Lead before moving to the next event.

Sources: Activities Committee Charter and Meeting Plan, §4.10 and §2–3; the Boise Idaho YSA Stake Comprehensive Gathering Plan, Part 2 (§2, §4, §5); General Handbook 20, "Activities" (Organizing and planning activities).

Connection Host (Activities)

Event-Level — rotating assignment

Reports To	The Activity Lead for that event
Positions Needed	Multiple per event, recruited and trained by the Category Lead and Ward Activity Representatives

Purpose

The Connection Host is the front-line welcome at every event — the one job is to find whoever's standing alone, learn their name, and bring them in, so no one leaves an activity without a real connection.

Key Responsibilities

- Greets everyone who arrives, especially anyone coming alone or for the first time.
- Learns names and makes real introductions rather than leaving it to chance.
- Passes along newcomer and absentee names to the Activity Lead for follow-up before leaving the event.

What success looks like: Whether newcomers say they made a real connection at the event (from the post-event survey).

Implementation Ideas

- Arrive 10–15 minutes early and station yourself near the entrance so no one walks in unnoticed.
- Use a simple checklist for every guest: greet, learn a name, introduce them to at least one other person.
- Watch for anyone standing alone mid-event, not just at arrival — belonging gaps often show up later in the night.
- Keep a small notecard or phone note of new and absent names to hand off to the Activity Lead before you leave.
- Complete the 15-minute Connection Host training from your Category Lead within two weeks of being assigned, before serving solo.

1. Purpose of This Document

The Comprehensive Gathering Plan outlines what our Activities need to deliver: social, service, adventure, and major signature events that help people feel they belong, not just events people show up for.

The Stake YSA Council Charter places the Activities Committee Co-Chairs in charge of that work and makes them jointly responsible to the YSA Executive Co-Chairs.

This charter is about putting that plan into practice. It outlines how the Activities Committee is organized, who's on it, and how it operates — so all four activity types are planned on a steady schedule, every event has someone clearly in charge, and we report on our progress the same way every other team does.

Think of this as the working guide for the Activities Committee Co-Chairs, Category Leads, Ward Activity Representatives, Activity Leads, Connection Hosts, and married-couple advisors, a resource new people can use to understand their role.

2. How This Fits with the Gathering Plan and the YSA Council Charter

Three documents work together, each answering a different question, so nothing gets duplicated or missed:

Document	Answers	Owner
Comprehensive Gathering Plan, Part 2	What needs to happen: activity types, what good looks like, outreach and belonging, and planning guidelines.	Stake Presidency (approves)
Stake YSA Council Charter, §3–4	Who's responsible: the Activities Committee Co-Chairs, who report jointly to the YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs.	YSA Council
This Charter and Meeting Plan	How the Activities Committee is staffed, run week to week, and held accountable for results.	Activities Committee Co-Chairs

Nothing here changes the boundaries or the points at which decisions must go up the chain, as set out in the Stake YSA Council Charter (Sections 2 and 7). The Activities Committee decides on and runs the activities, themes, content, and calendar slots within the four stake priorities. However, anything involving new spending beyond budget, calling changes, or sensitive personal situations still goes up through the Activities Co-Chairs to the YSA Co-Chairs and, if needed, to the Stake Presidency.

3. How the Committee Is Organized

The Activities Committee operates on three levels: two Co-Chairs who own the entire team; a group of Category Leads, each owning one activity type; and the people on the ground, including Ward Activity Representatives, Activity Leads, and Connection Hosts, who make each event happen.

3.1 Committee Leadership

Seat	Name	Reports To	Owns
Activities Committee Co-Chair (Priesthood, High Councilor)		YSA Executive Co-Chairs	Co-leading the committee, keeping the six-week planning schedule on track, and confirming Activity Lead assignments.
Activities Committee Co-Chair (Sister)		YSA Executive Co-Chairs	Co-leading the committee, setting the standard for making people feel included, and training Connection Hosts.

3.2 Category Leads (the planning team)

Five category spots, each person owning one type of activity from start to finish and reporting to the Co-Chairs. These match the activity types laid out in the Gathering Plan (Part 2, §2):

Category	What They Own	When It Happens
Social Lead	Dances, game nights, ice cream socials, outdoor barbecues, talent shows, cultural nights.	Monthly stake social
Service Lead	Community service projects, JustServe projects, temple and family history service.	Quarterly stake-wide service, plus ongoing ward service
Adventure & Recreation Lead (18–25)	Hikes, river trips, lake days, ski and snowboard trips, camping, cycling rides.	Monthly, seasonal
Adventure & Recreation Lead (26–35)	Hikes, river trips, lake days, ski and snowboard trips, camping, cycling rides.	Monthly, seasonal
Signature Events Lead	Fall Kickoff Social, Christmas Devotional and Concert, YSA Conference/Retreat, Easter fireside, Spring Service Day, Summer Celebration, Year-End Testimony Night.	Quarterly, plus the big annual conference/retreat

Category Leads can be called in sister-and-priesthood pairs if the stake presidency prefers, as is done elsewhere on the YSA Council. Each Category Lead owns their category's calendar slot from start to finish and is the one person the Co-Chairs look to for that category.

3.3 Married Couple Advisors

Advisor Couple	Assignment
	Advisors to the Priesthood Co-Chair and the Committee generally
	Advisors to the Committee
	Advisors to the Committee
	Advisors to the Committee

As outlined in A Guide for Married Couples Serving in the Boise YSA Stake, advisor couples are there to counsel, encourage, and share what they've learned, not to plan or run activities. Young single adults lead and plan every event. Advisors attend as guests, offer advice when asked or when it feels appropriate, and let the young adults take the lead.

3.4 Ward Activity Representatives

As outlined in the Stake YSA Council Charter (§3.2 and §4.14), each ward has two Ward Activity Representatives — Rep A (Counselor in the Ward Elders Quorum Presidency) and Rep B (Counselor in the Ward Relief Society Presidency) — who bring the Activities Committee's work to that ward: inviting people, tracking attendance at activities for their respective organization (brothers or sisters), and following up with newcomers and those who missed out within 48 hours. Both Ward Activity Representatives serve on the YSA Council and attend the monthly Full Activities Committee meeting.

3.5 Activity Leads and Connection Hosts

- Activity Lead — the person responsible for each activity or event: planning, the spiritual aspect, ensuring inclusivity, logistics, and follow-up (Gathering Plan, Part 2, §5). The Category Lead selects this person, and the Co-Chairs confirm the selection at least six weeks before the event.
- Connection Host — greets people at every activity. Recruited and trained by the Category Lead and the Ward Activity Representatives. Their one job: find whoever's standing alone, learn their name, and bring them in.

3.6 Suggested Committee Size

Level	Seats	Standing or Rotating
Committee Leadership	2	Standing
Category Leads	5 (up to 10 if called in pairs)	Standing
Married Couple Advisors	Up to 4 couples	Standing, advisory
Ward Activity Representatives	12 (two per ward)	Standing
Activity Leads & Connection Hosts	Varies by event	Rotates each activity

Keep Committee Leadership at two people and Category Leads at five; that's what keeps one person clearly responsible for each piece, the same principle the Stake YSA Council Charter uses at the stake level (§3.3).

4. Roles and What Each One Actually Does

Here's what each role really involves. Use this wording when you call or brief someone onto the Activities Committee.

4.1 Activities Committee Co-Chair (Priesthood)

Reports to: YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs (jointly with the Sister Co-Chair)

- Co-chairs every Category Lead huddle and Full Activities Committee meeting.
- Keeps the six-week planning board up to date, working with the Communications & Calendar Lead.
- Confirms Activity Lead assignments that Category Leads propose, at least six weeks before each event.
- Manages the Activities Committee budget and sorts out any scheduling conflicts between categories.
- Sends the monthly attendance and newcomer report to the YSA Council.

4.2 Activities Committee Co-Chair (Sister)

Reports to: YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs (jointly with the Priesthood Co-Chair)

- Co-chairs every Category Lead huddle and Full Activities Committee meeting.
- Sets the standard for making sure everyone feels included and welcome — greeters, name tags, mixing people from different wards.
- Sets and reviews how Connection Hosts are recruited and trained, together with Category Leads and Ward Activity Representatives.
- Works with the Outreach & Shepherding Co-Leads to make sure less-active and new-move-in YSAs get personally invited.
- Runs the after-event debriefs with each Category Lead and Activity Lead.

What success looks like: How many 48-hour follow-ups actually happen, and how many newcomers come back.

4.3 Social Lead

Reports to: Activities Committee Co-Chairs

- Plans and staffs the monthly stake social, and helps coordinate smaller ward-level get-togethers.
- Lines up an Activity Lead for every social event at least six weeks ahead.
- Makes sure every social has a way to welcome first-timers — greeters, name tags, and some structured mingling.
- Reports attendance and newcomer numbers to the Secretary after each event.

What success looks like: How attendance and newcomer turnout trend each month.

4.4 Service Lead

Reports to: Activities Committee Co-Chairs

- Plans the quarterly stake-wide service project and coordinates ongoing ward-level service, including JustServe activities.
- Opens every service project with a prayer and a brief thought on serving as the Savior did.
- Lines up an Activity Lead for every service project.
- Reports participation and service hours to the Secretary.

What success looks like: Quarterly participation numbers and the number of ward-level service opportunities offered.

4.5 Adventure & Recreation Lead (18–25)

Reports to: Activities Committee Co-Chairs

- Builds the monthly and seasonal adventure calendar; hikes, lake days, camping, ski trips, cycling.
- Makes sure rides and carpools are sorted out so nobody misses an outing for lack of a ride.
- Keeps groups a manageable size so people can actually connect, and lines up an Activity Lead for every outing.
- Handles safety planning for each activity; weather, terrain, waivers when needed.

What success looks like: Monthly and seasonal attendance, and whether carpools and inclusion plans are actually in place.

4.6 Adventure & Recreation Lead (26–35)

Reports to: Activities Committee Co-Chairs

- Builds the monthly and seasonal adventure calendar; hikes, lake days, camping, ski trips, cycling.
- Makes sure rides and carpools are sorted out so nobody misses an outing for lack of a ride.
- Keeps groups a manageable size so people can actually connect, and lines up an Activity Lead for every outing.
- Handles safety planning for each activity; weather, terrain, waivers when needed.

What success looks like: Monthly and seasonal attendance, and whether carpools and inclusion plans are actually in place.

4.7 Signature Events Lead

Reports to: Activities Committee Co-Chairs

- Owns the major stake-wide events for the year: Fall Kickoff Social, Christmas Devotional and Concert, YSA Conference/Retreat, Easter fireside, Spring Service Day, Summer Celebration, and Year-End Testimony Night.
- Starts planning the annual conference/retreat at least twelve weeks out, and other signature events at least eight weeks out.
- Coordinates support from Social, Service, and Adventure, plus involvement from married-couple advisors, for each signature event.
- Runs the Quarterly Signature Event Summit and updates the Co-Chairs on where things stand.

What success looks like: Events that feel high-quality and happen on schedule, with good turnout across wards.

4.8 Married Couple Advisors

Reports to: Activities Committee Co-Chairs, day to day; Stake Presidency for the calling

- Offer advice and experience when asked, or when it feels right; never as an instruction to follow.
- Come to activities as guests and friends, not staff; let the young single adult leaders greet, run, and close things out.
- Find whoever's standing alone, learn their name, and have a real conversation without stepping in front of the Category Lead or Activity Lead.
- After events, talk privately with Category Leads and kindly ask what worked, what they learned, and what to try differently next time.
- Coordinate who attends when with the Priesthood Co-Chair.

What success looks like: How confident and supported Category Leads and Activity Leads feel, and whether advisors show up to their assigned events.

4.9 Ward Activity Representatives (Rep A & Rep B) — two per ward

Reports to: Category Leads day to day; their Bishopric liaison pastorally

- Rep A (Counselor, Ward Elders Quorum Presidency) and Rep B (Counselor, Ward Relief Society Presidency) each identify people in their respective organizations (brothers or sisters) to reach out to and personally invite before every stake activity.
- Each Rep tracks how their organization is doing on attendance across all four activity types.
- Each Rep leads the 48-hour follow-up for newcomers and people who missed the event within their organization.
- Both Reps recruit Connection Hosts for ward-hosted events and flag ward-level needs to the right Category Lead.

What success looks like: How well invitations and follow-up get done, and the ward's attendance trend.

4.10 Activity Lead (per event, rotating assignment)

Reports to: The Category Lead for that activity

- Works through the activity planning checklist (Section 7), from setting the purpose to the post-event review.
- Owns the spiritual framing, making sure it's inclusive, logistics, and the invitation plan for their event.
- Recruits and briefs Connection Hosts for the event, with the Category Lead.
- Reports attendance, newcomer, and follow-up info to the Category Lead within 48 hours of the event.

What success looks like: The event happening on time, the checklist completed, and the 48-hour report turned in.

4.11 Connection Host (Activities) — per event, rotating assignment

Reports to: The Activity Lead for that event

- Greets everyone who arrives, especially anyone coming alone or for the first time.
- Learns names and makes real introductions rather than leaving it to chance.
- Passes along newcomer and absentee names to the Activity Lead for follow-up before leaving the event.

What success looks like: Whether newcomers say they made a real connection at the event (from the post-event survey).

5. How People Are Chosen and How Long They Serve

Seat	How They're Chosen	Term
Activities Committee Co-Chairs	Nominated by the YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs with input from the Stake Presidency; extended as a calling, interviewed, and set apart.	12–18 months, staggered
Category Leads	Nominated by the Activities Co-Chairs; extended as a calling ("Stake YSA Activities Specialist — [Category]"); interviewed and set apart.	12–18 months, staggered
Married Couple Advisors	Called by the Stake Presidency on the Activities Co-Chairs' recommendation.	Runs alongside their assignment
Ward Activity Representatives	Already called as Counselor in Ward Elders Quorum Presidency (Rep A) and Counselor in Ward Relief Society Presidency (Rep B); no separate calling needed.	Runs alongside their existing calling
Activity Leads & Connection Hosts	Assigned by the relevant Category Lead for each event; can rotate every event or hold a standing assignment for a season.	Per event or per season

Stagger Category Lead terms so no more than half the planning team turns over at once, and build in a 2–4-week overlap between the outgoing and incoming Category Lead to ensure a smooth handoff — matching the overlap approach in the Stake YSA Council Charter (§5).

6. Meeting and Planning Schedule

Meeting	How Often	Who's There	What It's For	What Comes Out of It
Category Lead Huddle	Weekly for the first 90 days, then every two weeks	Co-Chairs, Category Leads	Spiritual thought and prayer; review the six-week planning board; assign Activity Leads; sort out logistics	Updated planning board; Activity Lead assignments
Full Activities Committee Meeting	Monthly	Co-Chairs, Category Leads, Married Couple Advisors, Ward Activity Representatives	Coordinate the calendar; train Connection Hosts; hear ward report-backs	Updated ward assignments; trained Connection Host roster
Post-Event Evaluation	Within 48 hours of every activity	Activity Lead, Connection Hosts, the relevant Category Lead	What worked, what didn't, who was new, who needs follow-up	Follow-up list to Ward Activity Representatives; data to the Secretary
YSA Council Report	Monthly	Activities Co-Chairs	Share attendance and newcomer numbers, plus what's coming in the next six weeks	Feeds into the Monthly Stewardship Report (YSA Council Charter §6.2)
Quarterly Signature Event Summit	Quarterly	Full Activities Committee	Deep planning session for the quarter's signature event	Signature event production plan
Annual Planning Retreat	Annual (Sept/Oct)	Full Activities Committee + Stake Presidency	Build next year's full activities calendar	Year-two activities calendar

7. How We Plan an Activity

- Plan every stake activity at least six weeks in advance, eight weeks for signature events, and twelve weeks for the annual conference/retreat.
- Every activity follows a planning checklist, owned by the Activity Lead: state the purpose → identify the priority → build an inclusion plan → set the spiritual framing → sort logistics → plan invitations → plan follow-up → evaluate afterward.
- What good looks like: starts on time, is well organized, has a spiritual anchor, welcomes newcomers, and stays within budget.
- Post-event evaluation is quick and consistent: what worked, what didn't, who came, who was new, who's less active, and what follow-up is needed.

See · Love · Teach · Invite

8. Outreach, Belonging, and Following Up

The Gathering Plan's approach to inclusion (Part 2, §4) is assigned to specific roles.

Phase	Who Owns It	What's Expected
Before the Event	Ward Activity Representatives, with the Category Lead	Personal invitations to the right people; reminders through several channels (announcement → group text → personal text → day-of); carpools arranged.
During the Event	Connection Hosts, recruited and trained by the Category Lead	Greeters at every activity; name tags; structured mingling; mixing people from different wards.
After the Event	Activity Lead, with Ward Activity Representatives	Contact newcomers and absentees within 48 hours; invite them to the next thing; track attendance and report it to the Secretary.

9. Budget and Resources

- The Activities Committee Co-Chairs manage the approved Activities budget line by line, following the Stake YSA Council Charter (§2, §7).
- Category Leads submit expense requests at least two weeks before an event; the Co-Chairs approve them within the approved budget.
- Activities stay affordable and accessible; help is available so nobody's left out for financial reasons.
- Supplies, spaces, and know-how are shared across wards, and stakeholders work together to reduce duplicate costs for larger events.
- Any spending beyond the approved budget or moving money between categories is recommended by the Co-Chairs and requires sign-off from the YSA Executive Co-Chairs before it occurs.

10. Who Decides What

Decision	Category Lead	Co-Chair	Goes Up To
Activity theme, format, and calendar slot	Decides	Informed	—
Activity Lead and Connection Host assignments	Decides	Informed	—
New signature event or spending beyond budget	Recommends	Approves	YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs
Cross-category or building-use conflicts	Flags	Resolves	Communications & Calendar Lead / Stake Presidency
Sensitive personal or pastoral situations	Flags right away	—	Bishops / Stake Presidency — never handled at the activity level

11. How the Committee Works

- Every huddle and Full Committee meeting opens and closes with prayer, and starts with a short spiritual thought tied to one of the four stake priorities.
- Young single adult Category Leads and Activity Leads plan, lead, and teach; married couple advisors support, attend, and share their experience only when asked or when it feels right.
- Decisions are made by consensus among the Co-Chairs and Category Leads; if something can't be resolved, it goes to the YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs within a week rather than remaining unsettled.
- Conversations about specific people (follow-up needs, sensitive situations) stay within the Committee and are only shared with bishops on a need-to-know basis.
- Every activity should feel like an on-ramp, not a finish line. The Committee tries to practice that in its own meetings, just as it wants activities to feel for everyone else.

A note for married couple advisors

Come as a guest and a friend, not as staff. Let the Category Lead and Activity Lead greet, run, and close things out — that's part of helping them lead, not something you're just putting up with.

Find whoever's standing alone. Learn their name. Ask a real question, and actually listen to the answer.

Only offer your experience when asked, or when it feels right. The goal is for the Category Lead and Activity Lead to feel stronger because you were there — not for the event to only work because you were.

12. Getting New People Up to Speed

- New Committee members get an onboarding packet: this charter, the Comprehensive Gathering Plan (Part 2), the current planning board, and a handoff document from whoever had the role before them.
- New Category Leads shadow the person before them for one full planning cycle before taking over fully, whenever the timing allows for overlap.
- Connection Hosts receive training from their Category Lead within two weeks of being assigned and before they're on their own, covering how to greet, learn names, and hand off the 48-hour follow-up.
- Married couple advisors receive A Guide for Married Couples Serving in the Boise, Idaho YSA Stake when they're called and should read it alongside this charter.
- Each Category Lead maintains a living handoff document: vendor and venue contacts, budget history, and lessons learned, updated as they go, not just at the end.

13. First 90 Days

Timeframe	Milestones
Weeks 1–2	Co-Chairs confirm this charter with the YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs; check category rosters; identify Category Lead candidates and married-couple advisor pairings.
Weeks 2–4	Category Leads called and set apart; Ward Activity Representatives (Rep A and Rep B) confirmed with each bishopric.
Weeks 4–6	First Category Lead huddle; six-week planning board set up; Connection Host training finalized.
Weeks 6–8	First Full Activities Committee meeting; first activity run under the new structure, with a full planning checklist and 48-hour follow-up.
Weeks 8–12	First monthly report goes to the YSA Council; first Quarterly Signature Event Summit is scheduled; first full post-event evaluation cycle is completed.

This checklist aligns with Phase 1 and the start of Phase 2 of the Stake YSA Council Charter's First 90 Days checklist (§10), so the Activities Committee and the stake-level committee can move forward together.

14. Keeping Track of How We're Doing

- Things to watch month to month: whether activities are delivered on time and follow the checklist; how many newcomers and less-active people show up; the 48-hour follow-up rate; and how many Connection Hosts are trained.
- Things to check over time: whether newcomers keep coming back; whether friendships form across wards and how connected people feel; whether people move from activities into institute or temple nights.
- Belonging survey: conducted twice a year, feeding into the stake-wide survey run by the Committee Secretary.
- Quarterly review: Activity results are reviewed against the four stake priorities alongside Athletics and Education & Enrichment during the Quarterly Priority Review (YSA Charter §6).

15. Summary

This charter establishes the Stake Activities Committee as the team of young single adults responsible for the Gathering Plan's Social, Service, Adventure, and Signature Events. Two Co-Chairs own the entire effort; five Category Leads each own one activity type from start to finish; married-couple advisors mentor from the side rather than the front; and every event has a named Activity Lead and trained Connection Hosts behind it. A steady meeting schedule and a clear reporting line keep the YSA Council in the loop and able to direct the effort.

BOISE IDAHO YSA STAKE

Stake Athletics Committee

Charter and Meeting Plan — One Page Summary

Prepared for the Boise Idaho YSA Stake YSA Council — October 2026

Purpose

The Gathering Plan identifies Stake Athletics as one of three ways the stake reaches young single adults, alongside Stake Activities and Education & Enrichment. This charter turns the Stake YSA Council's athletics assignment into a working playbook: who plans and runs every open-play night, league season, tournament, and inter-stake event, and how the Committee keeps the stake presidency in the loop via the Stake YSA Council.

Structure & Key Roles

The Committee is organized in three parts to keep accountability clear: two Co-Chairs who own results, a group that runs each sport and season, and a ward-level network that delivers invitations and follow-up. Across 6 wards and 4–6 sports running at once, the roster totals roughly 16–20 standing and rotating volunteers. Married Couple Advisors mentor from the sidelines — never planning, running, or refereeing in place of a YSA leader.

Role (Count)	Reports To	Core Focus
Athletics Co-Chairs — Priesthood (High Councilor) & Sister (2)	YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs	Jointly own the season calendar, facility scheduling, safety standards, and inclusion; represent the Committee at Council.
Sport Commissioner (4–6, per season)	Athletics Co-Chairs	Scheduling, rules, equipment, and officiating for one sport; recruits Team Captains.
Team Captain (8–12, per season)	Sport Commissioner	Tracks attendance; welcomes and follows up with newcomers and absentees within 48 hours.
Connection Host (2/night, rotating)	Co-Chairs / on-site Commissioner	Greets newcomers every night and hands off names for 48-hour follow-up.
Facility & Equipment Steward (1)	Athletics Co-Chairs	Building access, equipment inventory, first aid and safety procedures.
Ward Athletics Representatives — Rep A & Rep B (2 per ward)	Co-Chairs; bishopric for pastoral matters	Rep A (Counselor, Ward Elders Quorum Presidency) and Rep B (Counselor, Ward Relief Society Presidency); no separate calling. Invite, track, and follow up within 48 hours.

Levels of Play & Season Calendar

Open Play (drop-in, no roster) leads to Stake Leagues (6–8 week, cross-ward seasons ending in a tournament) and then Inter Stake & Regional events — the same connection-before-competition on-ramp at every level.

Season	Sports & Notes
Fall	Volleyball and flag football leagues start; open play resumes with the Fall Kickoff Social.
Winter	Basketball (flagship league) and futsal; monthly "More Than a Game" devotional.
Spring	Pickleball and softball leagues start; basketball tournaments wrap up.
Summer	Coed softball, ultimate frisbee, and tournament season; inter-stake tournament.

Meeting & Reporting

Meeting	Frequency	Purpose
Athletics Committee Meeting	Weekly in-season	Review weekly attendance and follow-up; resolve facility and equipment issues.
Stake YSA Council Meeting / Stewardship Report	Monthly	Athletics section rolled into the Council's combined report to the stake presidency.
Quarterly Priority Review	Quarterly	Deeper look at attendance and outreach against the four stake priorities.

Decision Authority

Committee decides on its own:

- Season format, sport selection, and the monthly/quarterly calendar; team formation, roster rules, and day-to-day officiating.

Escalate to the Council or stake presidency:

- Calling changes, spending beyond budget, adding a sport/tournament not on the calendar, facility conflicts, safety incidents, or sensitive personal situations.

Summary

A YSA High Councilor and a Sister share full responsibility for athletics, staffed by Sport Commissioners, Team Captains, Connection Hosts, and a Facility & Equipment Steward, and reaching every ward through the existing Ward Representative network without adding new callings. A regular meeting rhythm and clear reporting keep the Council and the stake presidency informed, while married-couple advisors mentor from beside the court rather than from authority. The result: connection before competition, and every night and tournament remains an on-ramp toward covenants, not a destination.

Athletics Committee Co-Chair (Priesthood)

Committee Leadership — paired calling

Reports To	YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs; also sits on the Stake YSA Council.
Positions Needed	One (YSA High Councilor)

Purpose

Stake Athletics is one of the three ways the Gathering Plan reaches young single adults, alongside Stake Activities and Learning & Enrichment. The Priesthood Co-Chair jointly owns that entire piece with the Sister Co-Chair — the calendar, the facilities, the safety standards, and ensuring that connection comes before competition at every open-play night, league, and tournament.

Key Responsibilities

- Co-chairs the committee with the Sister Co-Chair, and oversees the Sport Commissioners, Team Captains, and Connection Hosts.
- Owns facility scheduling, equipment inventory, and safety standards for all athletics.
- Builds and runs the season calendar (open play, leagues, tournaments, inter-stake and outdoor events) and gets it to the Communications & Calendar Lead at least 60 days ahead.
- Makes sure every league and open-play night includes the “More Than a Game” spiritual message and the written sportsmanship standard.
- Recruits, briefs, and checks in with Sport Commissioners each season, and represents the Committee at the Stake YSA Council meeting.

Implementation Ideas

- Build a rolling season-calendar template and lock it in 60+ days out, every season, before sending it to the Communications & Calendar Lead.
- Open every Committee meeting, league night, and open-play with the same short prayer plus a 60–90 second spiritual thought, rotating who gives it, so “More Than a Game” never gets skipped when things get busy.
- Keep a shared facility/equipment tracker with the Steward and flag Sabbath-scheduling conflicts before they reach the bishops.
- When recruiting a Sport Commissioner, walk through purpose, time commitment, training, and who they report to before asking them to accept — the same pattern the General Handbook uses for extending a calling.
- Hold a short weekly huddle with the Sister Co-Chair during season to compare notes before the full Committee meets.

Athletics Committee Co-Chair (Sister)

Committee Leadership — paired calling

Reports To	YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs; also sits on the Stake YSA Council.
Positions Needed	One

Purpose

The Sister Co-Chair shares full ownership of the athletics calendar and program quality, with a particular focus on ensuring that every league, open-play night, and tournament is designed so everyone — sisters, newcomers, less-active YSAs, and non-members — feels genuinely included and welcome, in line with the Gathering Plan's "belonging matters more than headcount" standard.

Key Responsibilities

- Co-chairs the committee with the Priesthood Co-Chair, sharing full ownership of the calendar and program quality.
- Makes sure every league, open-play night, and tournament is designed so everyone feels included, welcome, and belongs.
- Works with the Outreach & Shepherding Co-Leads to make sure less-active and new-move-in YSAs get personally invited.
- Coordinates recruiting and training Connection Hosts with the Ward Athletics Representatives.
- Tracks weekly attendance, absentee follow-up, and less-active/non-member turnout alongside the Priesthood Co-Chair.

Implementation Ideas

- Build a simple "everyone belongs" pre-night checklist — greeters staffed, teams mixed across wards, a newcomer follow-up owner assigned — and run it before every league or open-play night.
- Keep one shared sheet tracking weekly attendance and 48-hour follow-up completion side by side with the Priesthood Co-Chair so nothing slips.
- Meet monthly with the Gathering Specialists / Outreach & Shepherding Co-Leads to get specific names — not just numbers — of less-active or new-move-in YSAs to personally invite.
- Train every new Connection Host with the same short checklist: greet, learn names, invite to what's next, hand off newcomer/absentee names within 48 hours.
- Give a quick shout-out in Committee meetings when a newcomer returns a second time, reinforcing that belonging, not headcount, is the measure of success.

Sport Commissioner

One per active sport, per season

Reports To	Athletics Committee Co-Chairs.
Positions Needed	Four to six (rotating by season)

Purpose

The Sport Commissioner oversees one sport — volleyball, basketball, futsal, softball, pickleball, flag football, or ultimate frisbee — for its season, translating the Gathering Plan's athletics vision into a real schedule, real teams, and a season that opens and closes on time.

Key Responsibilities

- Owns scheduling, rules, equipment, and officiating for one sport during its season.
- Recruits and briefs Team Captains for that sport, and makes sure teams are mixed across wards so people aren't just playing with the same ward crowd.
- Works with the Facility & Equipment Steward on reservations and makes sure scheduling respects the Sabbath.
- Runs the season opener and closer, including the stake tournament at the end.
- Reports weekly attendance, any incidents, and roster changes to the Committee Secretary.

Implementation Ideas

- Put together a one-page season packet for each sport — schedule, roster rules, officiating plan, safety basics — and hand it to every Team Captain at recruitment.
- Shadow the outgoing Commissioner for a full season before taking over solo, whenever the calendar allows.
- Keep a running handoff document (facility contacts, equipment inventory, open items, lessons learned) updated continuously, not just at the end of the season.
- Mix rosters across wards at sign-up, before the season starts, so cross-ward friendships form from week one.
- Report weekly attendance and incidents to the Committee Secretary on the same simple form every week so nothing depends on memory.

Team Captain

One per team, per season

Reports To	Sport Commissioner (functionally).
Positions Needed	Eight to twelve (rotating by season)

Purpose

A Team Captain looks out for teammates, not just plays with them — the on-the-court version of shepherding that keeps every player known, contacted, and welcomed, favoring YSAs who haven't led before so the calling helps them grow.

Key Responsibilities

- Looks out for teammates, not just plays with them: knows everyone's name, tracks attendance, and reaches out to anyone who misses within 48 hours.
- Welcomes non-members, investigators, and less-active YSAs onto the team, no exceptions.
- Pairs up active YSAs with less-active or new teammates ("Adopt a Player").
- Leads a short prayer and a spiritual thought when a Commissioner or Connection Host isn't present.
- Reports attendance and follow-up needs to the Sport Commissioner after each game.

Implementation Ideas

- Keep a simple roster sheet with name, ward, and a "contacted this week" checkbox — a lightweight version of the ward's monthly contact tracker.
- Set a personal 48-hour rule: anyone who misses a game gets a text or call before the next one, mirroring the stake-wide absentee standard.
- Run "Adopt a Player" proactively — pair a new or less-active teammate with an active one before the first game, not after someone starts slipping away.
- Prepare a short prayer or spiritual thought ahead of time for weeks the Commissioner or Connection Host can't attend, and rotate who gives it.
- Report attendance and follow-up needs to the Sport Commissioner right after each game, while it's still fresh.

Connection Host (Athletics)

Two per night, rotating

Reports To	Athletics Committee Co-Chairs (functionally); on-site Sport Commissioner.
Positions Needed	Two per night (rotating)

Purpose

A Connection Host is a called greeter whose entire job is to find whoever's standing alone at an open-play, league, or tournament night, learn their name, and make sure they're followed up with — often the easiest calling for someone building confidence on a first assignment.

Key Responsibilities

- Greets people at every open-play, league, and tournament night, finds whoever's standing alone, and learns their name.
- Encourages people to bring a friend, and welcomes newcomers, investigators, and less-active YSAs.
- Leads the pre-game prayer and spiritual thought when no Commissioner is around.
- Passes the names of newcomers and absentees to the appropriate Team Captain or Sport Commissioner for follow-up within 48 hours.

Implementation Ideas

- Arrive early enough to greet people at the door rather than starting once play begins, so no one arrives without a welcome.
- Keep a small notecard or phone note during the night to jot newcomer and absentee names on the spot for hand-off within 48 hours.
- Personally invite one newcomer or guest to "bring a friend" to the next event, every single night.
- Rotate leading the pre-game prayer and spiritual thought when no Commissioner is present, building comfort with a first calling.
- Debrief for two minutes with the Sport Commissioner after each night: who was new, who seemed to be standing alone, who needs a follow-up call.

Sources: Athletics Committee Charter and Meeting Plan §4.5, §5; Comprehensive Gathering Plan, Part 3 §2A ("bring a friend"); General Handbook 4.2, Leadership and Councils in the Church of Jesus Christ.

Facility & Equipment Steward

Stays in place year-round

Reports To	Athletics Committee Co-Chairs.
Positions Needed	One (12–18 month term)

Purpose

The Facility & Equipment Steward keeps the physical side of athletics running — handling building access, reservations, gear, and safety — so Sabbath conflicts, missing equipment, and unresolved safety issues never derail a season.

Key Responsibilities

- Handles building access, court and field reservations, and keeps scheduling Sabbath-respectful across wards.
- Keeps the shared equipment inventory up to date, and hands out and collects gear each season.
- Owns first aid kits, injury procedures, concussion awareness, and any liability/release forms.
- Brings unresolved facility conflicts to the Priesthood Co-Chair to sort out with bishops.

Implementation Ideas

- Maintain one master booking calendar covering every gym and field reservation across wards, checked weekly against the season calendar for Sabbath conflicts.
- Keep a simple equipment checklist — in/out, condition, season assigned — updated every time gear changes hands.
- Stock and check first aid kits before each season begins, and post a written injury/incident procedure where Commissioners can find it fast.
- Route liability or release forms through the office in advance of any tournament or off-site inter-stake event, per General Handbook activity-approval guidelines.
- Escalate any facility conflict to the Priesthood Co-Chair the same week it appears, rather than letting it sit until game day.

Ward Athletics Representatives (Rep A & Rep B)

Ward-Level — two per ward (Rep A: Elders Quorum Counselor · Rep B: Relief Society Counselor)

Reports To	Athletics Co-Chairs (day-to-day); ward bishopric liaison (for pastoral matters).

Purpose

The Ward Athletics Representatives bring the Athletics Committee's work home to a specific ward, organized by organization so both brothers and sisters receive personal attention. Rep A works from the Elders Quorum and Rep B from the Relief Society, each personally inviting people in their respective organizations, tracking their organizations' attendance, and following up with newcomers and no-shows within 48 hours — the personal, one-by-one outreach that keeps activities from becoming impersonal calendar postings.

Key Responsibilities

- These are the ward's existing Ward Representatives (§4.14 of the Stake YSA Council Charter) — the Counselor in the Ward Elders Quorum Presidency (Representative A) and the Counselor in the Ward Relief Society Presidency (Representative B) — no separate calling needed.
- Each promotes athletics within their respective organization and personally invites people to open play, leagues, and tournaments.
- Tracks the ward's athletics attendance alongside activities and enrichment for their organization, and follows up with that organization's newcomers and absentees within 48 hours.
- Attends the monthly Stake YSA Council meeting and flags any facility, safety, or participation concerns to the Athletics Co-Chairs.

Implementation Ideas

- Pull your organization's YSA roster monthly (Elders Quorum for Representative A, Relief Society for Representative B) and check it against athletics attendance, flagging anyone who hasn't shown up in 30-plus days.
- Send a personal invite — not just an announcement — to each YSA in your organization before every open-play night and league season kicks off.
- Coordinate with your counterpart Representative before each season so invitations and follow-up cover the whole ward without duplicating effort or leaving gaps.
- Follow up with newcomers and absentees from your organization's athletics participation within 48 hours, using the same rhythm as your other Ward Representative assignments.
- Bring specific names and situations, not just numbers, to the monthly Stake YSA Council meeting, and carry stake-level athletics assignments back to your ward council.

Married Couple Advisors

Mentors, not managers — assigned by the stake presidency

Reports To	Athletics Committee Co-Chairs (as mentors, not managers).
Positions Needed	Assigned by the stake presidency, as needed

Purpose

Following the Guide for Married Couples Serving in the Boise YSA Stake, married couples serve as mentors and role models rather than managers — showing up, encouraging, and sharing their experience without planning, running, or refereeing in place of a YSA leader.

Key Responsibilities

- Show up to open-play nights, league games, and tournaments as guests and friends, not running things per the stake's married-couple guidance.
- Offer experience and encouragement to Sport Commissioners and Team Captains when asked or prompted. Never plan, run, or referee in place of a YSA leader.
- Model "connection before competition" and the adult-to-adult boundaries laid out in A Guide for Married Couples Serving in the Boise Idaho YSA Stake.
- Coordinate who attends when with the Priesthood Co-Chair.

Implementation Ideas

- Show up consistently to the same sport or season so YSAs get to know the couple by name.
- Offer feedback or encouragement only when a Commissioner or Captain asks — resist the instinct to referee, coach, or run things.
- Coordinate attendance plans with the Priesthood Co-Chair each season so coverage is spread across nights rather than concentrated on a few.
- Share brief personal experiences or encouragement with Commissioners and Captains one-on-one after games, modeling "connection before competition."
- Review A Guide for Married Couples Serving in the Boise YSA Stake before each new season as a refresher.

1. Purpose of This Document

The Gathering Plan identifies Stake Athletics as one of three ways the stake reaches young single adults, alongside Stake Activities and Education & Enrichment. The Stake YSA Council Charter then hands ownership of the athletics piece to a pair of Athletics Committee Co-Chairs on the Stake YSA Council.

This charter turns that assignment into something you can run with day to day. It outlines how the Athletics Committee is structured and staffed, and who's responsible for planning and running every open-play night, league season, tournament, and inter-stake event described in Part 3 of the Gathering Plan. The Gathering Plan sets out what athletics needs to accomplish; this document specifies who does it, how many people it takes, how the work is split across sports and seasons, and how the Committee keeps the stake presidency in the loop through the Stake YSA Council.

Athletics Co-Chairs should use this as their working playbook and onboarding guide, following the same format as the Stake YSA Council Charter and Meeting Plan.

2. Who's Responsible for What

The Gathering Plan and the Stake YSA Council Charter draw a clear line between deciding and doing. This charter keeps that same line for athletics:

Group	What They Do
Stake Presidency	Sets the overall vision for YSA athletics through the Gathering Plan, and signs off on this charter and any major changes. Calls and releases the Athletics Co-Chairs, based on a recommendation from the YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs. Approves the yearly athletics budget, facility priorities, and any spending outside the plan. Steps in on building-use conflicts, safety issues, and sensitive personal situations that get referred up through the Council.
Stake YSA Council	Holds the Athletics Committee accountable, the same way it does for Activities and Education & Enrichment. Gets a monthly report from the Athletics Co-Chairs and rolls it into the Council's overall report to the stake presidency. Settles calendar conflicts between Athletics, Activities, and Education & Enrichment.
Stake Athletics Committee	Fully owns the running of the athletics side of the Gathering Plan, including open play, stake leagues, tournaments, and inter-stake events. Builds and runs the season calendar, staffs every sport and event, tracks weekly turnout and outreach, and adjusts on the fly. Manages the approved athletics budget and oversees Sport Commissioners, Team Captains, Connection Hosts, and the Facility & Equipment Steward. Reports progress, risks, and needs to the Stake YSA Council on a regular schedule (Section 7).

What the Committee can decide on its own:

- Season format, which sports to run, and the monthly/quarterly calendar, as long as it fits the four stake priorities.
- How teams are formed, roster rules, and mixing players across wards.
- Day-to-day officiating, schedule tweaks, and mid-season roster changes.

Check in with the Stake YSA Council or stake presidency before:

- Calling, releasing, or changing anyone on the Athletics Committee.
- Spending beyond the approved budget, or adding a sport or tournament that isn't already on the calendar.
- Facility conflicts with priesthood meetings or other stake/ward activities.
- For safety incidents, injuries requiring medical attention, or sensitive personal situations, send these directly to the bishops or the stake presidency rather than handling them within the Committee.

3. How the Committee Is Organized

The Athletics Committee is organized in three parts to maintain clear accountability: two Co-Chairs who own the results, a group that runs each sport and season, and a ward-level network that delivers invitations and follow-up to every ward.

3.1 Committee Leadership — Co-Chairs

Two seats, filled by young single adults, who jointly own the whole athletics side of the Gathering Plan, matching Section 4.7–4.8 of the Stake YSA Council Charter:

Seat	Name	# Seats	What They Do	Advisors
Athletics Committee Co-Chair (Priesthood, YSA High Councilor)		1	Co-leads athletics with Sister Co-Chair; season calendar, facility scheduling, safety standards, and the "More Than a Game" spiritual message
Athletics Committee Co-Chair (Sister)		1	Co-leads athletics with the Priesthood Co-Chair; makes sure sisters feel included in athletics; coordinates outreach with the Outreach & Shepherding Co-Leads

Two people total, and both also sit on the Stake YSA Council.

3.2 Running Each Sport

As described in Part 3 of the Gathering Plan, each season's sports are staffed by Sport Commissioners, Team Captains, and Connection Hosts, plus one Facility & Equipment Steward who stays in place year-round:

Seat	Name	# Seats	What They Do	Advisors
Sport Commissioner (one per active sport)	TBD (rotating by season)	4–6	Handles scheduling, rules, equipment, and officiating for one sport during its season
Team Captain (one per team)	TBD (rotating by season)	8–12	Looks after one team, attendance, following up with people who miss, and taking turns with the spiritual thought
Connection Host (Athletics)	TBD (rotating)	2 per night	Greets and welcomes newcomers at open-play and tournament nights
Facility & Equipment Steward	TBD	1	Building access, equipment inventory, and first aid/safety

3.3 Ward-Level Support — Rep A & Rep B

Athletics doesn't add a new ward calling. As outlined in the Stake YSA Council Charter (§4.14, Ward Representatives), each ward's two Ward Representatives: the Counselor in the Ward Elders Quorum Presidency (Representative A) and the Counselor in the Ward Relief Society Presidency (Representative B) serve as the Ward Athletics Representatives for their respective organizations. They bring the Athletics Committee's work to that ward by inviting people, tracking attendance at athletic events, and following up with newcomers and those who missed out within 48 hours. Ward Athletics Representatives are part of the YSA Council and attend the monthly Stake YSA Council meeting, bringing stake-level assignments back to their ward.

3.4 Married Couple Advisors

Following the Guide for Married Couples Serving in the Boise YSA Stake, married couples serve as mentors and role models rather than as managers. They show up, offer encouragement, and share what they've learned. They don't plan, run, or referee in place of a YSA leader.

3.5 How Big the Committee Gets

Add it up: 2 Co-Chairs + 4–6 Sport Commissioners + 8–12 Team Captains (in-season) + a rotating group of Connection Hosts + 1 Facility & Equipment Steward.

Wards in Stake	Sports at Once	Team Captains	Co-Chairs	Total Roster
6	4–6	8–12	2	Roughly 16–20, standing plus rotating

Keep the Co-Chairs seats at two — that's the same clear-accountability model the Stake YSA Council Charter uses for every part of the Gathering Plan.

4. What Each Role Does

Each role below is spelled out so you can hand it straight to someone when you call or brief them.

4.1 Athletics Committee Co-Chair (Priesthood)

Reports to: YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs

- Co-chairs the committee with the Sister Co-Chair, and oversees the Sport Commissioners, Team Captains, and Connection Hosts.
- Owns facility scheduling, equipment inventory, and safety standards for all athletics.
- Builds and runs the season calendar (open play, leagues, tournaments, inter-stake and outdoor events) and gets it to the Communications & Calendar Lead at least 60 days ahead.
- Makes sure every league and open-play night includes the “More Than a Game” spiritual message and the written sportsmanship standard.
- Recruits, briefs, and checks in with Sport Commissioners each season, and represents the Committee at the Stake YSA Council meeting.

What it looks like when it’s working: attendance trending up week over week; absentees contacted within 48 hours; seasons starting on time.

4.2 Athletics Committee Co-Chair (Sister)

Reports to: YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs

- Co-chairs the committee with the Priesthood Co-Chair, sharing full ownership of the calendar and program quality.
- Makes sure every league, open-play night, and tournament is designed so everyone feels included, welcome, and belongs.
- Works with the Outreach & Shepherding Co-Leads to make sure less-active and new-move-in YSAs get personally invited.
- Coordinates recruiting and training Connection Hosts with the Ward Athletics Representatives.
- Tracks weekly attendance, absentee follow-up, and less-active/non-member turnout alongside the Priesthood Co-Chair.

What success looks like: How many 48-hour follow-ups actually happen, and how many newcomers come back.

4.3 Sport Commissioner (one per sport, per season)

Reports to: Athletics Committee Co-Chairs

- Owns scheduling, rules, equipment, and officiating for one sport during its season: volleyball, basketball, futsal, softball, pickleball, flag football, or ultimate frisbee.
- Recruits and briefs Team Captains for that sport, and makes sure teams are mixed across wards so people aren’t just playing with the same ward crowd.
- Works with the Facility & Equipment Steward on reservations and makes sure scheduling respects the Sabbath.
- Runs the season opener and closer, including the stake tournament at the end.
- Reports weekly attendance, any incidents, and roster changes to the Committee Secretary.

What it looks like when it's working: the season starts and ends on time; facility and officiating problems get fixed the same week.

4.4 Team Captain

Reports to: Sport Commissioner (functionally)

- Looks out for teammates, not just plays with them: knows everyone's name, tracks attendance, and reaches out to anyone who misses within 48 hours.
- Welcomes non-members, investigators, and less-active YSAs onto the team, no exceptions.
- Pairs up active YSAs with less-active or new teammates ("Adopt a Player").
- Leads a short prayer and a spiritual thought when a Commissioner or Connection Host isn't present.
- Reports attendance and follow-up needs to the Sport Commissioner after each game.

What it looks like when it's working: team attendance trending up; most absentees contacted within 48 hours.

4.5 Connection Host (Athletics)

Reports to: Athletics Committee Co-Chairs (functionally); on-site Sport Commissioner

- Greets people at every open-play, league, and tournament night, finds whoever's standing alone, and learns their name.
- Encourages people to bring a friend, and welcomes newcomers, investigators, and less-active YSAs.
- Leads the pre-game prayer and spiritual thought when no Commissioner is around.
- Passes the names of newcomers and absentees to the appropriate Team Captain or Sport Commissioner for follow-up within 48 hours.

What it looks like when it's working: newcomers greeted and remembered by name each night; follow-up actually happens.

4.6 Facility & Equipment Steward

Reports to: Athletics Committee Co-Chairs

- Handles building access, court and field reservations, and keeps scheduling Sabbath-respectful across wards.
- Keeps the shared equipment inventory up to date, and hands out and collects gear each season.
- Owns first aid kits, injury procedures, concussion awareness, and any liability/release forms.
- Brings unresolved facility conflicts to the Priesthood Co-Chair to sort out with bishops.

What it looks like when it's working: no facility conflicts left unresolved; equipment inventory is accurate; every safety incident gets logged and closed.

4.7 Ward Athletics Representatives (Rep A & Rep B)

Reports to: Athletics Co-Chairs (day-to-day); ward bishopric liaison (for pastoral matters)

- These are the ward's existing Ward Representatives (§4.14 of the Stake YSA Council Charter) — the Counselor in the Ward Elders Quorum Presidency (Representative A) and the Counselor in the Ward Relief Society Presidency (Representative B) — no separate calling needed.

- Each promotes athletics within their respective organization and personally invites people to open play, leagues, and tournaments.
- Tracks the ward's athletics attendance alongside activities and enrichment for their organization, and follows up with that organization's newcomers and absentees within 48 hours.
- Attends the monthly Stake YSA Council meeting and flags any facility, safety, or participation concerns to the Athletics Co-Chairs.

What it looks like when it's working: ward-level attendance trending up; follow-up actually gets done.

4.8 Married Couple Advisors

Reports to: Athletics Committee Co-Chairs (as mentors, not managers)

- Show up to open-play nights, league games, and tournaments as guests and friends are present, not running things per the stake's married-couple guidance.
- Offer experience and encouragement to Sport Commissioners and Team Captains when asked or prompted. Never plan, run, or referee in place of a YSA leader.
- Model "connection before competition" and the adult-to-adult boundaries laid out in A Guide for Married Couples Serving in the Boise Idaho YSA Stake.
- Coordinate who attends when with the Priesthood Co-Chair.

What it looks like when it's working: consistent attendance at league nights; Co-Chairs feel coached, not managed.

5. How People Are Chosen, and For How Long

Seat	How They're Chosen	Term
Athletics Co-Chairs	The Co-Chair (priesthood) is a YSA High Councilor. The Co-Chair (sister) is nominated by the YSA Council. The sister Co-Chair, along with the stake presidency, is extended as a calling ("Stake YSA Athletics Committee Co-Chair"), interviewed, and set apart.	12–18 months, staggered
Sport Commissioners	Nominated by the Co-Chairs each season; assigned or called depending on how long the season runs.	One season (6–8 weeks) up to a full year for the flagship winter sport
Team Captains	Picked by the Sport Commissioner from the team roster, favoring YSAs who haven't led before.	One season
Connection Hosts	Recruited by the Co-Chairs or Commissioners from anyone willing, including people building confidence with a first calling.	Rotating, night by night or season by season
Facility & Equipment Steward	Nominated by the Priesthood Co-Chair; extended as a calling or formal assignment.	12–18 months
Ward Athletics Representatives	Already serving as Ward Representatives — Elders Quorum Presidency Counselor (Rep A) and Relief Society Presidency Counselor (Rep B); no separate calling.	Same as their existing calling

Seat	How They're Chosen	Term
Married Couple Advisors	Assigned by the stake presidency.	Ongoing, reviewed annually

Stagger terms so that no more than half the Sport Commissioners turn over at once between seasons. When the calendar allows, build in a 2–3-week overlap between an outgoing and incoming Commissioner or Captain — YSA turnover is naturally high, so this overlap helps.

6. Season Calendar and Levels of Play

6.1 The Three Levels of Play

Athletics runs three levels of the same on-ramp described in Part 3 of the Gathering Plan: connection before competition, regular touchpoints, and a Christ-centered message at every level.

Level	What It Looks Like
Open Play Nights (Easiest to Join)	Drop in anytime — no roster, no commitment, no skill needed; teams get formed on the spot each week. Happens weekly or every other week, rotating through basketball, volleyball, pickleball, and futsal. A Connection Host greets newcomers, learns their names, and personally invites them to the next event or institute.
Stake Leagues (Building Real Connection)	Structured 6–8 week seasons that end in a stake tournament and social. Teams are deliberately mixed across wards so people aren't stuck with the same ward group; each team has a Team Captain.
Inter-Stake and Regional Events (Growing the Network)	Inter-stake basketball tournament, regional softball invitational, combined outdoor adventure events, and YSA sports festivals. Great chances to build friendships and, even eternal relationships and marriages.

6.2 The Yearly Schedule

The Athletics Co-Chairs send this calendar to the Communications & Calendar Lead at least 60 days before each season starts, matching the Stake YSA Council's master calendar standard.

Season	Sports	Notes
Fall	Volleyball and flag football leagues start; open play resumes	Kicks off with the Fall Kickoff Social and the new-move-in welcome
Winter	Basketball (the flagship league) and futsal; weekly open-play	Monthly "More Than a Game" devotional; push for winter institute enrollment
Spring	Pickleball and softball leagues start; basketball tournaments wrap up	Timed with the Easter-season fireside and temple recommend campaign
Summer	Coed softball, ultimate frisbee, and tournament season	Outdoor adventure crossover with Stake Activities; inter-stake tournament

7. How We Meet and Report Back

Meeting	Frequency	Who's There	What It's For
Athletics Committee Meeting	Weekly in season, every other week off-season	Co-Chairs, Sport Commissioners, Facility & Equipment Steward	Prayer and a spiritual thought for specific YSAs; review the week's attendance and follow-up; sort out facility and equipment issues
Team Captain / Connection Host Huddle	Weekly, in-season	Sport Commissioner, Team Captains, Connection Hosts for that sport	Confirm rosters, who's following up with absentees, and whose turn it is for the spiritual thought
Stake YSA Council Meeting	Monthly	Athletics Co-Chairs, other Leads, and Ward Representatives	Coordinate the calendar across all three channels; cross-ward invitations; hear back from the wards
Stake YSA Council Stewardship Report	Monthly	Athletics Co-Chairs and the Committee Secretary	The athletics section of the combined monthly report to the stake presidency
Quarterly Priority Review	Quarterly	Athletics Co-Chairs, Stake YSA Council, Stake Presidency	A deeper look at attendance and outreach against the four stake priorities

7.1 How Information Flows Up

Information and accountability move in one clear line, so nothing gets lost between the game floor and the stake presidency:

1. Team Captains and Connection Hosts track and report attendance, contacts, and follow-up at every game and open-play night.
2. Sport Commissioners pull that data together by sport and bring it to the Athletics Committee Meeting.
3. The Athletics Co-Chairs combine all of it into the athletics section of the monthly report.
4. The Committee Secretary folds the athletics report into the Stake YSA Council's overall monthly report to the stake presidency.

7.2 What Goes in the Monthly Report

Each month, the Athletics Co-Chairs write this section for the Committee Secretary to add to the Stake YSA Council's combined report. It follows the same format as the Gathering Plan's measurement framework (Part 3, Section 7):

- Participation — weekly attendance by sport, compared to last month and to the roster.
- Outreach — less-active and non-member attendance; absentee contacts made within 48 hours.
- Covenant Progression — people moving from open play to league to institute to temple night.
- Look-Ahead — what's coming in the next 60 days and what support is needed.
- Risks, Needs & Decisions Requested — facility, equipment, safety, or staffing items that need a decision from the Stake YSA Council or stake presidency.

8. Who Decides What

Decision	Athletics Committee	Stake Presidency / Committee
Season calendar, format, and sport selection	Decides	Informed
Team formation and roster rules	Decides	Informed
New sport, tournament, or spending beyond approved budget	Recommends	Approves
Extending or releasing a Commissioner, Captain, or Steward	Recommends	Approves and sets apart (for callings)
Facility scheduling or conflicts	Coordinates	Resolves conflicts
Safety incidents or sensitive personal situations	Flags immediately	Handles with bishops

9. Safety and Equipment Basics

- Facilities —coordinated access to stake and ward buildings; respecting priesthood-occupied spaces; scheduling around the Sabbath.
- Safety — first aid kits at every game and open-play night; injury procedures and concussion awareness; liability/release forms where needed.
- Sportsmanship — a written standard that emphasizes respect, inclusion, and Christlike conduct; no ejections, conflicts resolved with grace.
- Cost — kept low, with a scholarship or subsidy available so no one is left out for financial reasons.
- Equipment — a shared stake supply kept up by the Facility & Equipment Steward, with Sport Commissioners keeping their own sport's inventory.

10. How We Operate

- Every meeting, practice, and game begins and ends with prayer and a short spiritual thought tied to one of the four stake priorities — the "More Than a Game" standard.
- Connection comes before competition; winning matters less than belonging, from open play all the way to the stake tournament.
- Conversations about specific people (absentee outreach, sensitive needs) stay within the Committee and are only shared with bishops when they truly need to know.
- Decisions are made by consensus between the Co-Chairs and the relevant Commissioners; if something can't be resolved, it goes to the YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs within a week rather than sitting unsettled.
- Sport Commissioners are expected at the Athletics Committee Meeting. If a Commissioner can't make it, a Team Captain fills in.
- Married Couple Advisors come as guests and friends, not staff, per the stake's married-couple guide; they let YSA leaders greet, run, and close things out.
- Every Committee member adheres to the same idea the Gathering Plan uses everywhere: this is an on-ramp, not a destination.

11. Bringing New People Up to Speed

- New Athletics Committee members get an onboarding packet: this charter, the relevant part of the Gathering Plan, the current participation numbers, and a handoff document from whoever had the role before them.
- New Sport Commissioners shadow the outgoing Commissioner for a full season before taking over fully, whenever the timing allows.
- Each Commissioner maintains a running handoff document, facility contacts, equipment inventory, open items, and lessons learned, updated continuously, not just at the end.
- Team Captains and Connection Hosts get briefed by their Sport Commissioner within a week of starting, covering how invitations work, follow-up expectations, and the sportsmanship standard.
- Married Couple Advisors review A Guide for Married Couples Serving in the Boise YSA Stake before their first season.

12. First 90 Days

Timeframe	What Happens
Weeks 1–2	Co-Chairs confirm this charter with the Stake YSA Council, check the athletics roster, and identify Sport Commissioner candidates for the next season.
Weeks 2–4	Sport Commissioners and the Facility & Equipment Steward are called or assigned; ward bishoprics are reminded that both Ward Representatives (Rep A and Rep B) cover Ward Athletics for their respective organizations.
Weeks 4–6	First Athletics Committee Meeting; season calendar published to the Communications & Calendar Lead; equipment inventory confirmed.
Weeks 6–8	Team Captains and Connection Hosts recruited and briefed; open-play nights and league play begin; facility reservations confirmed with bishops.
Weeks 8–12	The first monthly athletics report goes to the Committee Secretary; the first "More Than a Game" devotional is held; the first quarterly review is scheduled.

This follows the same timing as Phase 1 and the start of Phase 2 of the Gathering Plan, and the Stake YSA Councils Charter's own First 90 Days checklist — so Athletics moves on the same clock as the rest of the Stake YSA Council.

13. Summary

This charter establishes a Stake Athletics Committee for the Boise Idaho YSA Stake, run entirely by young single adults and co-led by a YSA High Councilor and a Sister Co-Chair who share full responsibility for the athletics side of the Gathering Plan. It staffs every sport and season through Sport Commissioners, Team Captains, Connection Hosts, and a Facility & Equipment Steward, and reaches every ward through the existing Ward Representative Network without adding a new calling. A regular meeting rhythm and a clear reporting line keep the Stake YSA Council and the stake presidency informed and able to guide the vision. Meanwhile, married-couple advisors mentor from beside the court, not from a position of authority. The result: connection before competition, and every open-play night, league game, and tournament remains what the Gathering Plan intends it to be, an on-ramp on the path to covenants, not a final destination.

BOISE IDAHO YSA STAKE

Stake Education and Enrichment Committee

Charter and Meeting Plan — One Page Summary

Prepared for the Boise Idaho YSA Stake YSA Council — October 2026

Purpose

This charter establishes the Education & Enrichment Committee, which delivers Part 4 of the Gathering Plan and staffs the two Co-Chair seats named in the YSA Council Charter. It defines the Committee's structure, roles, meeting rhythm, and reporting line so the Stake YSA Council can steer the vision while the Committee owns day-to-day execution.

Committee Structure

A fixed, ten-member Committee Core (all Young Single Adults), supported by advisor couples and a seasonal Facilitator & Mentor Network:

Layer	Composition	Size
Committee (Tier 1)	Co-Chairs + 8 coordinators, all YSAs	10 members
Advisor Couples	Married couples per the Guide for Married Couples; non-voting	2–3 couples
Facilitator & Mentor Network (Tier 2)	Facilitators, presenters, hosts, mentors recruited each curriculum cycle	15–25, seasonal

Ten seats: Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs (Sister & Priesthood-YSA High Councilor), Monthly Enrichment Night Producer, Small-Group Facilitator Coordinator, Workshop & Seminar Series Coordinator, Discussion Group Coordinator, Mentorship Pairing Coordinator, Institute & Covenant Progression Liaison, Learning & Enrichment Coordinator, and Committee Secretary/Metrics Recorder. Young single adults plan, run, and teach every session; advisor couples support and mentor without leading.

New — Learning & Enrichment Coordinator: the Committee's needs-and-resources hub. Gathers members' interests, talents, and needs; keeps a stake-wide resource list of teachers, presenters, and experts; recommends 3–5 Christ-centered topics each cycle; and plans firesides and pilot workshops. Supplies topics, speakers, facilitators, mentors, and needs data to the other Coordinators and the Secretary, and hands proven pilots to the Workshop & Seminar Coordinator so the two seats never compete.

Meeting & Reporting

Meeting	Frequency	Purpose
Committee Core Meeting	Biweekly (first 90 days), then monthly	Review curriculum calendar and needs summary; coordinate facilitators, workshops, mentors
Needs & Resources Huddle	Monthly, before Committee meeting	Learning & Enrichment, Workshop, and Producer match needs to topics and presenters
Enrichment Night Debrief	Monthly	Assess belonging, attendance, and the commitment invitation
YSA Council Report	Monthly	Co-Chairs deliver the stewardship report, incl. member needs, to the Executive Co-Chairs
Quarterly Curriculum Review	Quarterly	Progress check on the four curriculum threads and the quarter's needs patterns

Decision Rights

- Committee decides on its own: enrichment-night/workshop content and calendar; facilitator, presenter, and mentor recruitment and assignment; needs-driven workshops and firesides within the approved budget and calendar.
- Committee recommends, Executive Co-Chairs approve: coordinator or advisor-couple changes; any paid presenter, honorarium, or spending beyond the enrichment budget; content and distribution of a stake-wide member interest survey.
- Escalates immediately: building-use conflicts (Executive Co-Chairs resolve) and sensitive individual situations (go straight to bishops or stake presidency). Survey responses are reported as patterns, never names.

First 90 Days

Weeks 1–2: confirm charter and Advisor assignments. Weeks 2–4: call Coordinators/Secretary; recruit first facilitators; Learning & Enrichment Coordinator sets scope with the Priesthood Co-Chair. Weeks 4–6: first Committee Core meeting and Enrichment Night scheduled; leader needs gathering begins and survey submitted for approval. Weeks 6–8: first Enrichment Night runs; workshop calendar published; first resource list shared. Weeks 8–12: first stewardship report delivered; discussion groups launch; first needs summary reported and pilot workshop or fireside planned.

Summary

A ten-member, YSA-led Committee with clear, undivided ownership of each Part 4 delivery format; a Learning & Enrichment Coordinator who grounds every offering in members' real interests, talents, and needs; a Facilitator & Mentor Network that carries the four curriculum threads into every small group; and a single reporting chain that keeps the Stake YSA Council informed and able to steer the vision.

Section 4.1 of the Charter

Education & Enrichment Committee Co-Chair (Sister)

Committee Core — Tier 1 · Co-Chair

Reports To	YSA Council Co-Chairs (jointly with the Priesthood Co-Chair)
Selection & Term	Nominated by the Stake YSA Council Co-Chairs with stake presidency input; called, interviewed, and set apart. 12–18 months, staggered with the Priesthood Co-Chair.

Purpose

The Sister Co-Chair co-chairs the Education & Enrichment Committee and shares full accountability for delivering Priority 2 (“Teach Divine Identity, Purpose, and Potential”) through the Monthly Stake Enrichment Night, workshops, discussion groups, and mentorship pairings (Gathering Plan, Part 4). This role carries particular responsibility for sister-facing recruiting and for ensuring that every small group is a place where someone can belong.

Key Responsibilities

- Co-leads the Education & Enrichment Committee; co-chairs every Committee Core meeting with the Priesthood Executive Co-Chair.
- Runs the Monthly Stake Enrichment Night and rotates through the four curriculum threads over the year, together with the Priesthood Co-Chair (Gathering Plan, Part 4, Section 4A).
- Champions sister-specific facilitator and mentor recruiting, and makes sure small groups are set up so no one sits alone.
- Represents the Committee at the monthly YSA Council meeting alongside the Priesthood Co-Chair.
- Makes sure every enrichment night ends with a specific invitation to take a covenant step.
- Uses the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator’s needs summary when setting each enrichment night’s emphasis and designing small groups.

Implementation Ideas

- Keep a running roster of trained sister facilitators and mentors, noting who is assigned each curriculum cycle.
- Build a shared cross-ward seating chart with the Priesthood Co-Chair so newcomers are never grouped alone.
- Write a short "greet and connect" script for hosts to use in the first five minutes of every enrichment night.
- Track which sisters have been personally invited to serve each thread rotation, not just who volunteered.
- Debrief after every enrichment night on whether the closing invitation was given and how it landed.

Section 4.2 of the Charter

Education & Enrichment Committee Co-Chair (Priesthood)

Committee Core — Tier 1 · Co-Chair

Reports To	YSA Council Co-Chairs (jointly with the Sister Co-Chair)
Selection & Term	Nominated by the Stake YSA Council Co-Chairs with stake presidency input; called, interviewed, and set apart. 12–18 months, staggered with the Sister Co-Chair.

Purpose

The Priesthood Co-Chair co-chairs the Committee and maintains its formal reporting relationship with the YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs. This role keeps the Workshop & Seminar Series aligned with the Institute and upholds the doctrine-first, Christ-centered teaching standard across every enrichment night, workshop, and discussion group (Gathering Plan, Part 4, Section 6).

Key Responsibilities

- Co-leads the Education & Enrichment Committee; carries the Committee's reporting relationship with the YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs.
- Coordinates the Workshop/Seminar series and keeps it aligned with the Institute, drawing on stake members' expertise.
- Reviews Committee coordinator changes and recommends them to the YSA Council Co-Chairs.
- Makes sure Christ-centered framing and doctrine-first teaching standards are upheld across every enrichment night, workshop, and discussion group.
- Delivers the monthly enrichment stewardship report to the YSA Council Co-Chairs, prepared by the Secretary.
- Serves as the assigned high councilor for the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator; reviews member-survey content and needs-based topics for Christ-centered framing and carries approvals to the Executive Co-Chairs.

Implementation Ideas

- Use a short "doctrine-first checklist" with every presenter or facilitator before they teach for the first time.
- Sit in on one enrichment night, workshop, or discussion group each quarter to sample teaching quality firsthand.
- Keep a one-page coordinator roster with term dates, flagged 60 days ahead of any turnover.
- Use the Section 6.2 measurement framework as a fixed template so the monthly stewardship report is quick to assemble.
- Compare Institute course topics against the current curriculum thread each term to catch alignment gaps early.

Section 4.3 of the Charter

Monthly Enrichment Night Producer

Committee Core — Tier 1 · Coordinator

Reports To	Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs
Selection & Term	Nominated by the Co-Chairs with input from the YSA Co-Chairs; extended as a calling or formal assignment, interviewed and set apart. 12–18 months, staggered.

Purpose

The Producer owns the delivery of the Monthly Stake Enrichment Night — the flagship format for Priority 2, rotating through the four curriculum threads throughout the year (Gathering Plan, Part 4, Section 4A). Success means a well-run night every month, with a clear next step offered at the end.

Key Responsibilities

- Books the teaching slot and speaker for each month's enrichment night, matching the current curriculum thread.
- Runs the standard format: brief worship (hymn, prayer), 35–40 minutes of teaching, small-group discussion, and a personal commitment invitation.
- Coordinates room setup and logistics with the building scheduler and the Communications & Calendar Lead.
- Makes sure the night is on the master calendar at least 60 days ahead of time.
- Runs a quick post-event debrief with the Small-Group Facilitator Coordinator and reports attendance to the Secretary.
- Draws on the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator's topic recommendations and resource list when booking speakers, and shares commitment-invitation patterns that point to new needs.

Implementation Ideas

- Build a 60-day production calendar: speaker booked → room reserved → topic confirmed → promotion sent → facilitators assigned.
- Keep a rotating "speaker bench" of 8–10 approved teachers per curriculum thread so slots are never scrambled last minute.
- Use a repeatable run-of-show template (opening hymn/prayer, teaching, small groups, commitment invite, closing) for every night.
- Log which commitment invitation was given each month and roughly how many responded, for the debrief.
- Confirm next month's thread and speaker before leaving each debrief meeting.

Section 4.4 of the Charter

Small-Group Facilitator Coordinator

Committee Core — Tier 1 · Coordinator

Reports To	Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs
Selection & Term	Nominated by the Co-Chairs with input from the YSA Co-Chairs; extended as a calling or formal assignment, interviewed and set apart. 12–18 months, staggered.

Purpose

This Coordinator builds and trains the Facilitator & Mentor Network members who lead cross-ward small-group discussions at every enrichment night — the setting where real belonging happens (Gathering Plan, Part 4, Section 4A). Training covers the six teaching standards: doctrine first, Christ-centered, interactive, safe space, confidentiality, and referral pathways.

Key Responsibilities

- Recruits and trains 6–10-person cross-ward small-group facilitators for every enrichment night.
- Briefs facilitators on the teaching standards in Section 6 of Part 4 of the Gathering Plan: doctrine first, Christ-centered, interactive, safe space, confidentiality, and referral pathways.
- Assigns facilitators to groups each cycle, and makes sure no facilitator stays with the same group long enough to form a clique.
- Runs a short debrief after each enrichment night and passes facilitator counts and notes to the Secretary.
- Recruits potential facilitators from the stake resource list, and passes recurring debrief themes (without names) to the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator.

Implementation Ideas

- Maintain a facilitator roster with training-completion dates and current assignment.
- Hand every new facilitator a one-page card covering the six teaching standards at training.
- Rotate facilitator-to-group assignments each cycle with a simple numbered draw so no one defaults to the same group.
- Build a "when to refer" card pointing facilitators to the bishop for worthiness, safety, or mental-health concerns.
- Send a two-question post-night survey to facilitators (what went well / who needs follow-up) and log it for the Secretary.

Section 4.5 of the Charter

Workshop & Seminar Series Coordinator

Committee Core — Tier 1 · Coordinator

Reports To	Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs
Selection & Term	Nominated by the Co-Chairs with input from the YSA Co-Chairs; extended as a calling or formal assignment, interviewed and set apart. 12–18 months, staggered.

Purpose

This Coordinator develops the quarterly workshop calendar covering career, financial literacy, wellness, scripture study, marriage prep, and parenting — practical topics aligned with divine identity, purpose, and potential (Gathering Plan, Part 4, Section 4C). The intended audience for every session is young single adults ages 18–35.

Key Responsibilities

- Builds the quarterly workshop calendar: career development, financial literacy, mental and emotional wellness, scripture study and prayer methods, marriage prep and healthy dating, and parenting basics.
- Recruits presenters from among stake members with relevant expertise, starting with the stake resource list, including married-couple advisors where appropriate.
- Coordinates logistics and makes sure every workshop is framed around divine identity, purpose, or potential rather than feeling like a stand-alone class.
- Reports attendance and presenter-recruiting status to the Secretary each month.
- Builds the quarterly calendar from the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator’s needs summary, meets monthly in the Needs & Resources Huddle, and takes on pilot topics that prove useful.

Implementation Ideas

- Keep a presenter pipeline sheet: topic, presenter, confirmed date, and a backup presenter.
- Ask every presenter to open with a one-minute tie-back to divine identity, purpose, or potential before the content begins.
- Publish the quarterly calendar one quarter ahead so presenters get at least 8 weeks of lead time.
- Invite married-couple advisors specifically for marriage-prep, parenting, and financial sessions, consistent with their advisory role.
- Log a short presenter-quality note after each workshop so strong presenters get repeat invitations.

Section 4.6 of the Charter

Discussion Group Coordinator

Committee Core — Tier 1 · Coordinator

Reports To	Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs
Selection & Term	Nominated by the Co-Chairs with input from the YSA Co-Chairs; extended as a calling or formal assignment, interviewed and set apart. 12–18 months, staggered.

Purpose

This Coordinator runs small, recurring discussion groups (4–8 people) centered on Come, Follow Me, general conference talks, and other approved Church resources — a format that offers depth a large event can't (Gathering Plan, Part 4, Section 4D).

Key Responsibilities

- Forms small, recurring 4–8-person discussion groups studying Come, Follow Me, recent general conference talks, or approved Church resources.
- Recruits and briefs group hosts on confidentiality and the fundamentals of leading a discussion.
- Tracks group health, attendance, retention, and whether groups are building real depth and connection, not just showing up.
- Reports the number of active groups and the participation trend to the Secretary.
- Uses member-interest survey results from the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator to choose study topics and invite new participants and hosts.

Implementation Ideas

- Keep a directory of active groups with host name, meeting night, and location.
- Give every new host a one-page "hosting basics" card: open with prayer, ask open questions, watch for the quiet person, close with a takeaway.
- Check in with each host quarterly on group health, not just attendance numbers.
- Refresh a group that has been static with the same 4–5 people for more than two cycles, to keep belonging fresh.
- Keep a standing list of approved discussion resources so hosts never scramble for material.

Section 4.7 of the Charter

Mentorship Pairing Coordinator

Committee Core — Tier 1 · Coordinator

Reports To	Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs
Selection & Term	Nominated by the Co-Chairs with input from the YSA Co-Chairs; extended as a calling or formal assignment, interviewed and set apart. 12–18 months, staggered.

Purpose

This Coordinator pairs young single adults with mature stake members for life, career, and spiritual guidance — especially valuable for YSAs without nearby family (Gathering Plan, Part 4, Section 4E). Because mentoring conversations are personal, confidentiality and clear referral pathways matter more here than in any other seat.

Key Responsibilities

- Recruits mature stake members, including couples and individuals, such as married couple advisors, to serve as mentors for life, career, and spiritual guidance.
- Pairs YSAs with mentors, paying particular attention to single YSAs who don't have family nearby.
- Sets up a monthly mentor-meeting rhythm built around the four curriculum threads.
- Tracks how the pairings are going and reports active-pairing counts and meeting completion to the Secretary.
- Draws on professional skills and life experience recorded on the stake resource list to build the mentor pool, and receives career and life-transition needs flagged by the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator.

Implementation Ideas

- Use a simple mentor-application intake (background, availability, areas of experience) before pairing anyone.
- Keep a pairing tracker: mentor, mentee, pairing date, last meeting date, and next scheduled meeting.
- Flag any pairing with no contact in 45+ days for a personal check-in.
- Give every mentor a one-page confidentiality reminder: keep mentoring conversations private, and refer safety, worthiness, or mental-health concerns to the Coordinator or a bishop.
- Prioritize new pairings for YSAs without nearby family within their first 30 days in the pairing pool.

Section 4.8 of the Charter

Institute & Covenant Progression Liaison

Committee Core — Tier 1 · Coordinator

Reports To	Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs (works with the Gathering Place & Covenant Progression Lead)
Selection & Term	Nominated by the Co-Chairs with input from the YSA Co-Chairs; extended as a calling or formal assignment, interviewed and set apart. 12–18 months, staggered.

Purpose

This Liaison makes Institute the true hub of the Committee's work, boosting enrollment and clearing barriers like rides and scheduling for young single adults ages 18–35 (Gathering Plan, Part 4, Section 4B). Institute course topics are lined up with the stake's four curriculum threads wherever possible.[1]

Key Responsibilities

- Partners with institute faculty and the Gathering Place & Covenant Progression Lead to boost enrollment and clear away barriers like rides and scheduling.
- Lines up institute course topics with the stake's four curriculum threads wherever possible.
- Sends institute enrollment numbers relevant to Education & Enrichment programming to the Secretary each month.
- Shares institute course offerings with the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator and uses needs patterns to recommend courses that complement, rather than duplicate, stake workshops and firesides.

Implementation Ideas

- Post a simple ride-share sign-up sheet each Institute term for anyone without transportation.
- Meet with Institute faculty each term to compare the course catalog against the current curriculum thread.
- Track enrollment by ward so under-enrolled wards get a targeted, personal-invite push.
- Personally invite every newly identified less-active or new-move-in YSA to at least one Institute class within their first 30 days.
- Share a short monthly enrollment snapshot (numbers plus trend) with the Secretary before the Committee Core meeting.

Section 4.9 of the Charter

Learning & Enrichment Coordinator

Committee Core — Tier 1 · Coordinator

Reports To	Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs (a stake calling under the direction of the stake presidency and the assigned high councilor, the Priesthood Co-Chair)
Selection & Term	Nominated by the Co-Chairs with input from the YSA Co-Chairs; extended as a calling or formal assignment, interviewed and set apart. 12–18 months, staggered.

Purpose

This Coordinator is the Committee's needs-and-resources hub. The role is not just event planning — it is a way of ministering: gathering members' interests, talents, and needs and connecting them with people and resources that can bless them, so every offering helps members feel seen, strengthens faith, and supports covenant keeping.

Key Responsibilities

- Identifies member interests, talents, skills, and unmet needs through a member survey, interviews, and input from bishoprics, Relief Society, Elders Quorum, and ward YSA leaders.
- Keeps the stake-wide resource list of willing teachers, presenters, and subject-matter experts, and shares it with every Coordinator.
- Recommends 3 to 5 topics each planning cycle that fit stake priorities and the current curriculum thread, each paired with a Christ-centered framing.
- Plans stake firesides and needs-driven pilot classes, and hands those that prove useful to the Workshop & Seminar Series Coordinator so the two seats never compete.
- Reports needs patterns, attendance, feedback, and recommended future topics to the Secretary and the Co-Chairs.

Coordination with the Committee

- Co-Chairs: set scope, survey approval, and reporting expectations at the start of the term; deliver a needs-and-topics summary each planning cycle.
- Workshop & Seminar Series Coordinator: meet monthly in the Needs & Resources Huddle to align calendars, avoid duplicate topics, and hand off proven pilots and presenters.
- Enrichment Night Producer and Discussion Group Coordinator: supply needs-based topics, speakers, and study interests from the survey and resource list.
- Small-Group Facilitator and Mentorship Pairing Coordinators: share members with teaching, facilitation, or professional skills; receive themes and needs back without names.
- Institute Liaison, Secretary, and Advisor Couples: share needs patterns for course alignment, provide monthly metrics for the dashboard, and invite advisor skills for the resource list.

Implementation Ideas

- Ask every ward and stake leader, "What are the most common needs or gaps you see among our YSA members?" and combine the answers with survey results.
- Build the resource list as a simple spreadsheet with columns for topic, audience, suggested presenter, cost, location, and spiritual purpose — reviewed each planning cycle.
- Plan one pilot first, such as a "Faith and Future" workshop with a short devotional, a practical class, and a testimony-bearing close; promote it well and gather feedback.
- Track a few metrics each cycle: members surveyed, top needs, resources added, events held, and attendance.

Section 4.10 of the Charter

Committee Secretary / Metrics Recorder

Committee Core — Tier 1 · Coordinator

Reports To	Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs
Selection & Term	Nominated by the Co-Chairs with input from the YSA Co-Chairs; extended as a calling or formal assignment, interviewed and set apart. 12–18 months, staggered.

Purpose

The Secretary sits at the hub of the reporting chain, consolidating every Coordinator's numbers into a single dashboard and a monthly stewardship report for the Co-Chairs (Gathering Plan, Part 4, Section 8; charter Section 6.1–6.2). Meeting notes, rosters, and attendance data are Church records and are handled accordingly.

Key Responsibilities

- Takes minutes and tracks action items for every Committee Core meeting.
- Pulls together the monthly attendance, facilitator, workshop, discussion-group, mentorship, and needs-gathering dashboard from data each Coordinator provides.
- Drafts the monthly enrichment stewardship report for the Co-Chairs to deliver to the Executive Co-Chairs.
- Keeps track of the Committee roster, term dates, and any upcoming turnover or succession needs.
- Records the Learning & Enrichment topic pipeline and related action items in the minutes, and adds needs-gathering metrics to the dashboard.

Implementation Ideas

- Build one shared dashboard (spreadsheet or shared document) with a tab per Coordinator so data rolls up automatically.
- Send each Coordinator a same-day-of-month reminder to submit their numbers before the report is due.
- Store minutes and the roster/term-date tracker in an access-limited shared folder, so records stay available only to those with a need to know.
- Flag any Coordinator whose term ends within 90 days at the top of the roster so succession planning starts early.
- Use the Attendance & Participation / Facilitator & Mentor Health / Covenant Progression / Member Needs & Resources / Look-Ahead / Risks & Needs framework as a fixed checklist every month so nothing gets skipped.

Section 4.11 of the Charter

Married Couple Advisors

Standing Advisor Couples — non-voting · 2–3 couples

Reports To	Advisory relationship to the Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs (not a supervisory reporting line)
Selection & Term	Called by the stake presidency, following the orientation in A Guide for Married Couples Serving in the Boise YSA Stake; interviewed and set apart. Concurrent with assignment; no fixed rotation.

Purpose

Married couples serve this Committee as advisors, not leaders. They sit with the Co-Chairs to plan, join the Mentorship Pairing pool, and may be invited to speak on marriage, parenting, or career and financial topics — while young single adults plan, run, and teach every enrichment night, workshop, and discussion group.

Key Responsibilities

- Sit with the Committee Core in planning meetings as counsel, not as chairs; share experience when asked or when the Spirit prompts, never as a directive to follow.
- Serve in the Mentorship Pairing pool as mentors, and may be invited to speak in the Workshop & Seminar Series on marriage, parenting, or career and financial topics; share their skills for the stake resource list and suggest topics when the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator asks.
- Attend enrichment nights, workshops, and discussion groups as guests and friends, there to be present, not to run the program; young adult facilitators greet, lead, and teach.
- Coach and encourage Coordinators privately; if something needs correcting, do it specifically, kindly, and away from the group, per the Guide for Married Couples.

Implementation Ideas

- Complete the First 30 Days orientation from the Guide for Married Couples and meet the supporting high councilor before your first Committee meeting.
- Sit toward the back or side at events rather than the front, so facilitators are clearly seen as leading.
- Keep a private, running note of encouragement or coaching points for each Coordinator and share it one-on-one, never in the group setting.
- Offer your specific expertise (career, marriage, finances, parenting) to the Workshop Coordinator ahead of each quarterly calendar build.
- Volunteer for the Mentorship Pairing pool early each cycle so the Coordinator can pair you before the roster fills.

Section 4.12 of the Charter

Facilitator and Mentor Network (Tier 2)

Facilitators · Presenters · Discussion Hosts · Mentors — 15–25, seasonal

Reports To	The relevant Coordinator (Small-Group Facilitator, Workshop & Seminar, Discussion Group, or Mentorship Pairing)
Selection & Term	Recruited by the relevant Coordinator each curriculum cycle or season; an informal assignment, not a calling, unless the ward extends one separately. One curriculum cycle or season, renewable.

Purpose

Network members carry the four curriculum threads into every small group, workshop, and mentoring relationship (Gathering Plan, Part 4). They are not standing Committee members — they train, attend assigned sessions, and report back to their Coordinator each time.

OBJ

Key Responsibilities

- Complete training on teaching standards and confidentiality within two weeks of being assigned.
- Attend every session they're assigned to and immediately report attendance and participation notes to the Coordinator afterward.
- Bring any individual needs, concerns, or opportunities to the Coordinator rather than handling sensitive situations on one's own.

Implementation Ideas

- Schedule your training within your first week of being asked to serve, rather than waiting for a reminder.
- Keep a short note (notebook or app) after every session: who was new, who seemed to need follow-up, who to watch for next time.
- Learn the referral pathway before your first session: personal concerns go to your Coordinator; anything involving safety, worthiness, or a mental-health crisis goes straight to a bishop.
- Arrive 10 minutes early to greet people as they come in, especially anyone arriving alone.
- Ask your Coordinator for the current curriculum thread ahead of each session so your teaching or discussion ties back to it.

1. Purpose of This Document

The Boise YSA Stake Comprehensive Gathering Plan outlines the vision for reaching and gathering Young Single Adults. The Stake YSA Council Charter and Meeting Plan establishes the twelve-seat Executive Committee that delivers on that vision, including the two Education & Enrichment Co-Lead seats described in Sections 4.8 and 4.9 of that charter. This document brings those two seats and Part 4 of the Gathering Plan ("Education and Enrichment Curriculum") into action by creating a standing committee with its own structure, staffing, meeting rhythm, and accountability for day-to-day work.

The Gathering Plan outlines what the four curriculum threads and delivery formats must accomplish, and the YSA Council Charter identifies who owns Education & Enrichment at the Executive Committee level. This document explains how that ownership plays out week to week: how many coordinators and facilitators we need, how the work is divided among them, how married couple advisors help without leading, and how the Committee keeps the Stake YSA Executive Council in the loop through the Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs.

This document is meant to be adopted by the Stake YSA Executive Co-Chairs and used directly by the Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs as their working charter and onboarding guide for every coordinator, facilitator, mentor, and married-couple advisor on the Committee.

2. Relationship to the Gathering Plan and the YSA Council

The YSA Council Charter draws a clear line between the YSA Council, which owns outcomes across all four priorities, and the specialist committees under it, which own the execution of one piece of the plan. This charter keeps that same line for Education & Enrichment:

Body	Role
Stake YSA Council (Executive Co-Chairs)	Extends or recommends the Education & Enrichment Co-Chair assignments and signs off on changes to Committee makeup. Sets the yearly budget for enrichment nights, workshops, and materials, and approves any spending outside that budget. Gets the Committee's monthly report and gives direction, counsel, and correction. Resolves building-use conflicts and other issues the Committee can't settle on its own.
Education & Enrichment Committee	Fully owns delivering Priority 2 ("Teach Divine Identity, Purpose, and Potential") and the enrichment-related parts of Priorities 3 and 4, through the Monthly Stake Enrichment Night, workshops, discussion groups, and mentorship pairings. Builds and runs the curriculum calendar across the four threads, recruits and trains facilitators and mentors, and tracks attendance, facilitator counts, and covenant-progression indicators. Works with the Gathering Place & Covenant Progression Lead so institute topics and stake enrichment topics reinforce each other. Gathers members' interests, talents, and needs and keeps a stake-wide resource list of teachers, presenters, and subject-matter experts, so every offering responds to real member needs. Reports progress, risks, and needs to the Stake YSA Council on a set schedule (Section 6).

What the Committee can decide and run on its own, without asking first:

- Content and scheduling for enrichment nights, workshops, discussion groups, and mentorship pairings within the four curriculum threads.
- Recruiting, training, and assigning facilitators, presenters, and mentors.
- Forming, rotating, or changing the format of small groups to help people feel like they belong.
- Gathering member needs from ward and stake leaders, keeping the stake resource list, and planning needs-driven workshops and firesides within the approved budget and curriculum calendar.

What needs to go to the Stake YSA Executive Co-Chairs before moving forward:

- Any new coordinator calling, release, or change to who's on the Committee.
- A new paid presenter, honorarium, or any spending beyond the approved enrichment budget.
- The scope and wording of any stake-wide member interest survey before it is distributed.
- Building scheduling conflicts with priesthood or other stake and ward activities.
- Sensitive situations that come up through mentorship or small groups — mental health crises, worthiness concerns, safety issues — these go straight to the bishops or stake presidency, not handled inside the Committee.

3. Committee Structure and Composition

The Committee works in two tiers, matching the two-tier design used across the YSA Council: a Committee Core that owns outcomes and reports to the Executive Co-Chairs, and a Facilitator & Mentor Network that carries the curriculum into every small group, workshop, and mentoring relationship.

3.1 Tier 1 — Committee

Ten seats, all filled by Young Single Adults, each one owning a clearly defined piece of Education and Enrichment. Use these seat names exactly when calling or briefing Committee members.

Seat	Name	Owns	Advisor Couple(s)
Education & Enrichment Co-Chair (Sister)	TBD (Sister)	Co-Chairs the Committee; leads sister-facing facilitator and mentor recruiting; designs small groups so everyone feels they belong.
Education & Enrichment Co-Chair (Priesthood)	High Councilor	Co-chairs the Committee; keeps the curriculum aligned with the Institute; ensures teaching standards are followed.
Monthly Enrichment Night Producer		Runs the Monthly Stake Enrichment Night — worship, the teaching slot, small-group logistics, and the closing invitation to commit.
Small-Group Facilitator Coordinator		Recruits, trains, and schedules cross-ward small-group facilitators for every enrichment night.
Workshop & Seminar Series Coordinator		Runs the quarterly workshop calendar (career, financial literacy, wellness, scripture study, marriage prep, parenting) and recruits presenters.
Discussion Group Coordinator		Runs small, recurring book and article discussion groups centered on Christ, identity, and purpose.
Mentorship Pairing Coordinator		Pairs YSAs with mature stake members for life, career, and spiritual guidance; maintains a monthly mentor-meeting cadence.
Institute & Covenant Progression Liaison		Works with the Gathering Place & Covenant Progression Lead and institute faculty so course topics line up with the four threads.
Learning & Enrichment Coordinator		Gathers member interests, talents, and needs; keeps the stake resource list; plans needs-based workshops and firesides.
Committee Secretary / Metrics Recorder		Keeps minutes, attendance, and facilitator data, and puts together the monthly enrichment stewardship report.

Committee Core total: 10 members.

3.2 Tier 2 — Facilitator and Mentor Network

In line with the Gathering Plan's delivery formats, the Committee recruits small-group facilitators for the Monthly Enrichment Night, presenters for the Workshop & Seminar Series, hosts for Discussion Groups, and mentors for the Mentorship Pairing program every curriculum cycle. Network members aren't standing Committee members; they're trained and assigned by the relevant Coordinator, show up for the sessions they're assigned to, and report attendance and participation to that Coordinator after every session. When recruiting, Coordinators start with the stake resource list kept by the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator.

3.3 Married Couple Advisors

Per A Guide for Married Couples Serving in the Boise YSA Stake, married couples called to this committee serve as advisors, not leaders. They sit with the Co-Chairs during Committee planning, are available as mentors in the Mentorship Pairing pool, and may be invited by the Workshop & Seminar Series Coordinator to speak on marriage prep, parenting, or career and financial topics based on their own experience. With their permission, their skills and teaching interests are added to the stake resource list. Young single adults plan, run, and teach every enrichment night, workshop, and discussion group; advisor couples support and attend.

3.4 Suggested Total Committee Size

Layer	Composition	Size
Committee (Tier 1)	Co-Chairs and eight coordinators, all Young Single Adults	10 members
Standing Advisor Couples	Married couples serving per the Guide for Married Couples; non-voting	2–3 couples
Facilitator & Mentor Network (Tier 2)	Small-group facilitators, workshop presenters, discussion-group hosts, and mentors, recruited each curriculum cycle	15–25, seasonal

Keep the Committee fixed at ten; that keeps accountability clear and undivided for each delivery format in Part 4 of the Gathering Plan and for the needs-and-resources work that feeds them, while letting the Facilitator & Mentor Network grow and shrink with the season and curriculum cycle.

4. Roles, Responsibilities, and Assignments

Each Committee seat below is written as a standing assignment description, matching the format used in Section 4 of the YSA Council Charter. Use these descriptions as-is when calling or briefing Committee members.

4.1 Education & Enrichment Committee Co-Chair (Sister)

Reports to: YSA Council Co-Chairs (jointly with Priesthood Co-Chair)

- Co-leads the Education & Enrichment Committee; co-chairs every Committee Core meeting with the Priesthood Executive Co-Chair.
- Runs the Monthly Stake Enrichment Night and rotates through the four curriculum threads over the year, together with the Priesthood Co-Chair.
- Champions sister-specific facilitator and mentor recruiting, and makes sure small groups are set up so no one sits alone.
- Represents the Committee at the monthly YSA Council meeting alongside the Priesthood Co-Chair.
- Makes sure every enrichment night ends with a specific invitation to take a covenant step.
- Uses the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator's needs summary when setting each enrichment night's emphasis and designing small groups.

Success metric: Monthly enrichment attendance and trend; facilitators trained per cycle.

4.2 Education & Enrichment Committee Co-Chair (Priesthood)

Reports to: YSA Council Co-Chairs (jointly with Sister Co-Chair)

- Co-leads the Education & Enrichment Committee; carries the Committee's reporting relationship with the YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs.
- Coordinates the Workshop/Seminar series and keeps it aligned with the Institute, drawing on stake members' expertise.
- Reviews Committee coordinator changes and recommends them to the YSA Council Co-Chairs.
- Makes sure Christ-centered framing and doctrine-first teaching standards are upheld across every enrichment night, workshop, and discussion group.
- Delivers the monthly enrichment stewardship report to the YSA Council Co-Chairs, prepared by the Secretary.
- Serves as the assigned high councilor for the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator; reviews member-survey content and needs-based topic recommendations for Christ-centered framing and carries any that need approval to the Executive Co-Chairs.

Success metric: On-time monthly reports; teaching-standards compliance across all sessions.

4.3 Monthly Enrichment Night Producer

Reports to: Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs

- Books the teaching slot and speaker for each month's enrichment night, matching the current curriculum thread.

- Runs the standard format: brief worship (hymn, prayer), 35–40 minutes of teaching, small-group discussion, and a personal commitment invitation.
- Coordinates room setup and logistics with the building scheduler and the Communications & Calendar Lead.
- Makes sure the night is on the master calendar at least 60 days ahead of time.
- Runs a quick post-event debrief with the Small-Group Facilitator Coordinator and reports attendance to the Secretary.
- Draws on the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator's topic recommendations and resource list when booking speakers, and shares commitment-invitation patterns that point to new needs.

Success metric: On-time, quality-bar enrichment night delivered monthly; commitment-invitation completion noted.

4.4 Small-Group Facilitator Coordinator

Reports to: Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs

- Recruits and trains 6–10-person cross-ward small-group facilitators for every enrichment night.
- Briefs facilitators on the teaching standards in Section 6 of Part 4 of the Gathering Plan: doctrine first, Christ-centered, interactive, safe space, confidentiality, and referral pathways.
- Assigns facilitators to groups each cycle, and makes sure no facilitator stays with the same group long enough to form a clique.
- Runs a short debrief after each enrichment night and passes facilitator counts and notes to the Secretary.
- Recruits potential facilitators from the stake resource list, and passes recurring debrief themes (without names) to the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator for the needs summary.

Success metric: Facilitators trained per cycle; small-group belonging feedback.

4.5 Workshop & Seminar Series Coordinator

Reports to: Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs

- Builds the quarterly workshop calendar: career development, financial literacy, mental and emotional wellness, scripture study and prayer methods, marriage prep and healthy dating, and parenting basics.
- Recruits presenters from among stake members with relevant expertise, starting with the stake resource list, including married-couple advisors where appropriate.
- Coordinates logistics and makes sure every workshop is framed around divine identity, purpose, or potential rather than feeling like a stand-alone class.
- Reports attendance and presenter-recruiting status to the Secretary each month.
- Builds the quarterly calendar from the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator's needs summary, meets with that Coordinator in the monthly Needs & Resources Huddle (Section 6), and takes on pilot topics that prove useful as recurring workshops.

Success metric: Workshops delivered per quarter; attendance and presenter pipeline health.

4.6 Discussion Group Coordinator

Reports to: Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs

- Forms small, recurring 4–8-person discussion groups studying Come, Follow Me, recent general conference talks, or approved Church resources.
- Recruits and briefs group hosts on confidentiality and the fundamentals of leading a discussion.
- Tracks group health, attendance, retention, and whether groups are building real depth and connection, not just showing up.
- Reports the number of active groups and the participation trend to the Secretary.
- Uses member-interest survey results from the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator to choose study topics and to invite new participants and hosts.

Success metric: Number of active discussion groups; average attendance and retention.

4.7 Mentorship Pairing Coordinator

Reports to: Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs

- Recruits mature stake members, including couples and individuals, such as married couple advisors, to serve as mentors for life, career, and spiritual guidance.
- Pairs YSAs with mentors, paying particular attention to single YSAs who don't have family nearby.
- Sets up a monthly mentor-meeting rhythm built around the four curriculum threads.
- Tracks how the pairings are going and reports active-pairing counts and meeting completion to the Secretary.
- Draws on the professional skills and life experience recorded on the stake resource list to build the mentor pool, and receives career, education, and life-transition needs flagged by the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator.

Success metric: Number of active mentor pairings; monthly meeting completion rate.

4.8 Institute & Covenant Progression Liaison

Reports to: Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs (works with the Gathering Place & Covenant Progression Lead)

- Partners with institute faculty and the Gathering Place & Covenant Progression Lead to boost enrollment and clear away barriers like rides and scheduling.
- Lines up institute course topics with the stake's four curriculum threads wherever possible.
- Sends institute enrollment numbers relevant to Education & Enrichment programming to the Secretary each month.
- Shares institute course offerings with the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator and uses needs patterns to recommend courses that complement, rather than duplicate, stake workshops and firesides.

Success metric: Institute enrollment rate among tracked YSAs; topic alignment with the annual curriculum arc.

4.9 Learning & Enrichment Coordinator

Reports to: Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs (a stake calling serving under the direction of the stake presidency and the assigned high councilor, the Priesthood Co-Chair)

This seat is the Committee's needs-and-resources hub. It is more than event planning. It is a way of ministering: gathering members' interests, talents, and needs and connecting members with the people and resources that can bless them. Every offering it supports should help members feel seen, strengthen faith, and support covenant keeping.

Needs Gathering & Resource Coordination

- Identifies member interests, talents, professional skills, and unmet needs through a short member interest survey, interviews, and leader input, with a focus on practical needs, spiritual interests, and life-transition challenges.
- Gathers current needs each planning cycle from bishoprics, Relief Society and Elders Quorum presidencies, ward YSA leaders, and ministering interviews, asking each leader, "What are the most common needs or gaps you see among our YSA members?" and combines the answers with survey results.
- Keeps the stake-wide resource list of willing teachers, presenters, and subject-matter experts (topic, audience, suggested presenter, cost, location, and spiritual purpose), reviews it each planning cycle, and shares it with every Coordinator.
- Matches needs with available resources so offerings are useful, simple, and reasonably cost-effective.

Workshop & Fireside Planning

- Recommends 3 to 5 topics each planning cycle that fit stake priorities and the current curriculum thread, each paired with a Christ-centered framing so practical help points members toward deeper faith and covenant living.
- Plans and coordinates stake firesides and needs-driven practical classes, starting with one pilot (for example, a "Faith and Future" workshop with a short devotional, a practical class, and a testimony-bearing close), and helps with promotion and follow-up.
- Hands pilot topics that prove useful to the Workshop & Seminar Series Coordinator for the quarterly calendar, so the two seats never run competing events.
- Gathers feedback after each event and reports needs patterns, attendance, feedback, and recommended future topics to the Secretary and the Co-Chairs.

Success metric: Members surveyed or interviewed; top recurring needs identified; resources added to the list; workshops and firesides held and their attendance; share of Committee topics traced to identified needs.

How This Seat Coordinates with the Committee

Committee Member	How the Work Is Coordinated
Co-Chairs	Meets with the Co-Chairs at the start of the term to set scope, the survey approval process, and reporting expectations. Delivers a needs-and-topics summary each planning cycle. The Priesthood Co-Chair reviews framing and carries survey content and spending requests to the Executive Co-Chairs.
Monthly Enrichment Night Producer	Supplies needs-based topic ideas and possible speakers from the resource list for each curriculum thread; gets back attendance and commitment-invitation patterns that reveal new needs.
Small-Group Facilitator Coordinator	Shares members with teaching or facilitation talents as possible facilitators; gets back recurring debrief themes, without names, for the needs summary.
Workshop & Seminar Series Coordinator	Closest partner. The Learning & Enrichment Coordinator owns needs gathering, topic recommendations, firesides, and pilots; the Workshop Coordinator owns the quarterly calendar and presenter scheduling. They meet monthly in the Needs & Resources Huddle to align calendars, avoid duplicate topics, and hand off proven pilots and presenters.
Discussion Group Coordinator	Passes along survey interest in specific books, talks, or gospel topics, plus names of members who want to join or host a group.
Mentorship Pairing Coordinator	Shares professional skills and life experience from the resource list to grow the mentor pool; flags career, education, and life-transition needs that a mentor can meet better than a class.
Institute & Covenant Progression Liaison	Shares needs patterns so institute course recommendations and stake offerings complement each other; coordinates temple-preparation and covenant-focused topics with the Gathering Place & Covenant Progression Lead.
Committee Secretary / Metrics Recorder	Provides monthly needs-gathering and event metrics for the dashboard; the Secretary records the topic pipeline and related action items in the minutes.
Married Couple Advisors	Invites advisor couples to share skills for the resource list and to suggest topics from their experience; they counsel and support while young single adults plan and teach.
Facilitator & Mentor Network	Network members raise individual needs with their own Coordinator, who passes along patterns without names. Sensitive individual situations go to bishops and are never recorded on the needs list.

4.10 Committee Secretary / Metrics Recorder

Reports to: Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs

- Takes minutes and tracks action items for every Committee Core meeting.
- Pulls together the monthly attendance, facilitator, workshop, discussion-group, mentorship, and needs-gathering dashboard from data each Coordinator provides.
- Drafts the monthly enrichment stewardship report for the Co-Chairs to deliver to the Executive Co-Chairs (Section 6.2).
- Keeps track of the Committee roster, term dates, and any upcoming turnover or succession needs.

Success metric: Reports delivered on schedule; dashboard accuracy and completeness.

4.11 Married Couple Advisors

Advisory relationship to: Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs (not a supervisory reporting line)

- Sit with the Committee Core in planning meetings as counsel, not as chairs; share experience when asked or when the Spirit prompts, never as a directive to follow.
- Serve in the Mentorship Pairing pool as mentors, and may be invited to speak in the Workshop & Seminar Series on marriage, parenting, or career and financial topics; share their skills for the stake resource list and suggest topics when the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator asks.
- Attend enrichment nights, workshops, and discussion groups as guests and friends, there to be present, not to run the program; young adult facilitators greet, lead, and teach.
- Coach and encourage Coordinators privately; if something needs correcting, do it specifically, kindly, and away from the group, per the Guide for Married Couples.

Success metric: Mentor-pairing satisfaction; Coordinators report feeling supported, not managed.

4.12 Facilitator and Mentor Network (Tier 2)

Reports to: the relevant Coordinator (Small-Group Facilitator, Workshop & Seminar, Discussion Group, or Mentorship Pairing)

Complete training on teaching standards and confidentiality within two weeks of being assigned.

- Attend every session they're assigned to, and immediately report attendance and participation notes to the Coordinator afterward.
- Bring any individual needs, concerns, or opportunities to the Coordinator rather than handling sensitive situations on one's own.

Success metric: Session coverage rate; timeliness of post-session reporting.

5. Selection, Calling, and Term of Service

Seat	How Selected	Term
Co-Chairs	Nominated by the Stake YSA Council Executive Co-Chairs with input from the stake presidency; extended as a calling, interviewed, and set apart.	12–18 months, staggered
Coordinators & Secretary	Nominated by the Co-Chairs with input from the YSA Executive Co-Chairs; extended as a calling or formal assignment ("Stake Education & Enrichment Specialist — [Function]"); interviewed and set apart.	12–18 months, staggered
Married Couple Advisors	Called by the stake presidency per General Handbook chapter 30, following the orientation in the Guide for Married Couples; interviewed and set apart.	Concurrent with assignment; no fixed rotation
Facilitator & Mentor Network	Recruited by the relevant Coordinator each curriculum cycle or season; an informal assignment, not a calling, unless the ward extends one separately.	One curriculum cycle or season, renewable

Stagger terms so no more than half of the Committee Core turns over at once. Build in a 4–6-week overlap between an outgoing and incoming Coordinator for the handoff, since the YSA population naturally moves around a lot.

6. Meeting and Reporting Plan

Meeting	Frequency	Attendees	Purpose	Output
Full Education & Enrichment Committee Meeting	Biweekly (first 90 days), then monthly	Co-Chairs, Coordinators, Secretary	A spiritual thought and prayer for specific YSAs; review the curriculum-thread calendar and the Learning & Enrichment needs-and-topics summary; coordinate facilitators, workshops, and mentors.	Minutes and action items Updated facilitator, workshop, and mentor assignments
Needs & Resources Huddle	Monthly, about one week before the Committee meeting (30 minutes)	Learning & Enrichment Coordinator, Workshop & Seminar Coordinator, Enrichment Night Producer; other Coordinators as needed	Review new needs data and the resource list; match topics to presenters; align workshops, firesides, and enrichment-night topics so nothing is duplicated.	Updated topic pipeline and resource list; topic recommendations for the Committee meeting
Enrichment Night Debrief	Monthly, right after each Enrichment Night	Producer, Facilitator Coordinator, facilitators	Look at belonging, attendance, and how the commitment invitation landed.	Post-event notes feeding the Secretary
Full YSA Council Meeting	Monthly	Co-Chairs (representing the Committee)	Calendar coordination and cross-ward training alongside the other Committee Leads and Ward Representatives.	Updated master calendar; ward assignments.
YSA Council Report	Monthly	Co-Chairs and Secretary's dashboard	Deliver the monthly enrichment stewardship report to the Stake YSA Executive Co-Chairs.	Approved next steps; resource decisions
Quarterly Curriculum Review	Quarterly	Committee + Married Couple Advisors	A deep look at progress against the four curriculum threads and all leading/lagging indicators, plus the needs patterns gathered that quarter.	Calendar and program adjustments
Annual Curriculum Arc Planning	Annual (Aug/Sept)	Committee + YSA Council Co-Chairs	Look back on the year and build next year's thread rotation, aligned with the Gathering Plan's Annual Planning Retreat.	Year-two curriculum arc and calendar

6.1 Reporting Chain

Information and accountability flow in one consistent line, so nothing gets lost between a facilitator or mentor and the stake presidency:

1. Facilitators, presenters, discussion-group hosts, and mentors report attendance and participation notes to their Coordinator after every session.
2. Coordinators pull together their program data ahead of the Committee Core meeting, and the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator adds the needs-and-topics summary.
3. The Secretary combines all the Coordinator reports into one dashboard and drafts the monthly enrichment stewardship report.
4. Co-Chairs review it, add narrative and requests, deliver the report to the Stake YSA Council Co-Chairs, and represent Education & Enrichment at the YSA Council meeting.

6.2 Monthly Enrichment Stewardship Report Template

The Secretary drafts this report every month for the Co-Chairs to deliver to the YSA Co-Chairs. Keep it to one page, following the Gathering Plan's measurement framework (Part 4, Section 8):

- Attendance & Participation — enrichment night, workshop, discussion group, and mentor-pairing attendance versus last month and versus the roster.
- Facilitator & Mentor Health — how many were trained and are active this cycle, and what's needed for the next cycle.
- Covenant Progression — the change in institute enrollment, how well commitment invitations were followed through, and self-reported understanding of divine identity, purpose, and potential.
- Member Needs & Resources — members surveyed or interviewed, top recurring needs, resources added to the stake resource list, workshops and firesides held from identified needs, and recommended future topics.
- Look-Ahead — what's on the enrichment calendar for the next 60 days and what support is needed.
- Risks, Needs & Decisions Requested — anything that needs the YSA Council Co-Chairs' approval or a decision.

6.3 Annual Curriculum Arc Cadence

Committee planning follows the Gathering Plan's annual curriculum arc, so enrichment nights, workshops, and mentorship line up with whatever thread the rest of the stake is teaching that quarter:

Period	Thread	Committee Focus
September–November	T2 — Divine Purpose ("Why I Am Here")	Launch the year's enrichment-night rotation; recruit and train the first cycle of facilitators and mentors; run the first member interest survey.
December	T4 — Christ and Covenants	Christmas-season emphasis; coordinate with the Gathering Place & Covenant Progression Lead on temple-night tie-ins.
January–February	T1 — Divine Identity ("Who God Says I Am")	New-year workshop push (financial literacy, wellness); mid-cycle facilitator refresh.
March–April	T4 — Christ and Covenants	Easter-season emphasis; support for the temple recommend campaign; discussion groups on the Atonement.
May–July	T3 — Divine Potential ("Who I Am Becoming")	Marriage and family prep classes; mentorship pairing emphasis; summer workshop series.
August	Capstone synthesis of all four threads	Quarterly Curriculum Review and Annual Curriculum Arc Planning for year two, informed by the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator's annual needs summary.

7. Decision Rights and Escalation

Decision	Committee Authority	Executive Co-Chair Authority
Enrichment-night topic, workshop content, and calendar within the four threads	Decides	Informed
Facilitator, presenter, and mentor recruitment and assignment	Decides	Informed
Needs-driven workshop or fireside within the approved budget and curriculum calendar	Decides	Informed
New paid presenter, honorarium, or spending beyond the approved enrichment budget line	Recommends	Approves
Content and distribution of a stake-wide member interest survey	Recommends	Approves
Extending or releasing Coordinator callings	Recommends	Approves and sets apart
Extending or releasing Married Couple Advisors	Recommends	Approves; stake presidency sets apart
Building-use or priesthood scheduling conflicts	Coordinates	Resolves conflicts
Sensitive individual or pastoral situations surfaced through mentorship or small groups.	Flags immediately	Handles with bishops

8. Committee Operating Norms

- Every meeting opens and closes with prayer, and starts with a short spiritual reflection tied to one of the four curriculum threads.
- Young single adults plan, run, and teach every enrichment night, workshop, and discussion group; Married Couple Advisors support and attend, consistent with the Guide for Married Couples.
- Coordinators bring facilitator and mentor names, not just numbers, to every meeting; the Committee follows the Spirit to specific people, in line with the Gathering Plan's "on-ramp, not destination" standard.
- Anything about specific individuals: mentoring concerns and sensitive needs are kept confidential outside the Committee and shared with bishops only on a need-to-know basis.
- Member survey responses and the needs list are kept confidential and reported as patterns, not names; any individual need that surfaces goes to the member's bishop rather than onto the resource list.
- Decisions are made by consensus among the present Co-Chairs and Coordinators; if something can't be resolved, it goes to the YSA Council Co-Chairs within a week rather than remaining unsettled.
- Coordinators are expected to attend Committee Core meetings. If a Coordinator can't attend, a trained replacement should attend in their place.
- Married Couple Advisors maintain the adult-to-adult boundaries outlined in the Guide for Married Couples: they don't hover over activities as if supervising youth, they correct privately and praise publicly, and they exercise good judgment in one-on-one mentoring settings.

9. Onboarding, Training, and Succession

- New Committee members get an onboarding packet: this charter, Part 4 of the Gathering Plan, the YSA Council Charter, the current dashboard, and (for advisor couples) the Guide for Married Couples.
- New Coordinators shadow their predecessor for one full meeting cycle before taking over fully, whenever the term overlap allows for it.
- Each Coordinator keeps a living handoff document (presenter and facilitator contacts, curriculum notes, open action items, lessons learned) updated all the time, not just at turnover.
- The Learning & Enrichment Coordinator's handoff also includes the current stake resource list, survey tools and results, and the topic pipeline.
- Married Couple Advisors complete the First 30 Days orientation described in the Guide for Married Couples and meet with the high councilor who supports the assignment.
- Facilitators, presenters, and mentors receive training on teaching standards and confidentiality within two weeks of being assigned.

10. First 90 Days: Implementation Checklist

Timeframe	Milestones
Weeks 1–2	Co-Chairs confirm this charter with the YSA Council Co-Chairs; identify Coordinator candidates; confirm Married Couple Advisor assignments.
Weeks 2–4	Coordinators and Secretary called and set apart; first cycle of small-group facilitators recruited; the Learning & Enrichment Coordinator meets with the Priesthood Co-Chair to set scope, the survey approval process, and reporting expectations.
Weeks 4–6	First Committee Core meeting; reporting templates and dashboard set up; first Monthly Enrichment Night scheduled on the current curriculum thread; leader needs gathering begins and the member interest survey goes to the Executive Co-Chairs for approval.
Weeks 6–8	The first Monthly Enrichment Night runs with trained facilitators; the quarterly workshop calendar is published; and recruitment for mentorship pairings begins; the first stake resource list is shared with all Coordinators.
Weeks 8–12	First monthly enrichment stewardship report delivered to the Executive Co-Chairs; first discussion groups launched; first quarterly curriculum review scheduled; the first needs-and-topics summary is reported and a pilot workshop or fireside is planned.

This checklist mirrors Phase 1 and the start of Phase 2 of the Gathering Plan's Implementation Timeline (Part 1, Section 13), and the First 90 Days schedule of the YSA Council Charter (Section 10), so the Education & Enrichment Committee moves forward on the same clock as the rest of the YSA Council.

11. Summary

This charter establishes a ten-member Education & Enrichment Committee Core for the Boise YSA Stake, fully owned and run by Young Single Adults and co-led by the Education & Enrichment Co-Chairs named in the YSA Council Charter. It outlines eight coordinator seats, each with clear, undivided accountability for one delivery format or support function in Part 4 of the Gathering Plan, including a Learning & Enrichment Coordinator who grounds every offering in members' real interests, talents, and needs; a Facilitator & Mentor Network that carries the four curriculum threads into every small group, workshop, and mentoring relationship; and a defined place for married couple advisors who train, coach, and support without leading. A steady meeting rhythm and a single reporting chain keep the Stake YSA Council informed and able to steer the vision and grant approvals. At the same time, the Committee has real ownership, clear accountability, and a direct line back to the plan's four priorities.

BOISE IDAHO YSA STAKE

Married Adults Committee

Charter and Meeting Plan — One Page Summary

Counseling Together to Strengthen Young Single Adults

The Vision This Committee Serves

A stake where every young single adult is seen, known, loved, and drawn toward Jesus Christ and sacred covenants. This committee unites every married adult serving in the Boise YSA Stake so no one serves alone — anchored to the handbook, the Guide, and the stake's Comprehensive Gathering Plan.

Purpose & Charge

Established by the Boise YSA Stake Presidency, the committee unites all married adults serving in the stake, including ward leaders, advisors, activities and athletics couples, institute mentors, ministering companions, and stake specialists, into a single counseling body tasked with Training, Sharing, Implementing the Guide and Gathering Plan, Counseling Together, and Reinforcing the Role of YSAs.

Membership & Roles

Membership includes every married adult sustained to a stake-serving calling. A Stake Presidency-appointed Committee Coordinator convenes meetings and ensures the annual plan is carried out; three additional roles share specific responsibility:

Committee Coordinator	Sets the agenda, conducts monthly meetings, tracks action items, and reports quarterly to the Stake Presidency.
Stake Presidency Liaison	Represents Presidency direction, approves the annual meeting plan, and carries counsel back to the Presidency.
Committee Members	Attend regularly, share honest experience, and apply the Guide and Gathering Plan in their calling.

Meeting Cadence

Meeting	Frequency	Purpose
Full Committee Meeting	Monthly	Training, shared best practices, and counsel
Stake Presidency Check-in	Quarterly	Report progress; receive direction and approval
Annual Vision & Planning Retreat	Yearly (August)	Review the year; approve next year's plan

Alignment & Measures of Success

Every training topic is weighed against the Gathering Plan's four priorities: See and Love as God Does, Teach Divine Identity and Potential, Focus on Jesus Christ, and Invite All to Come unto Christ and Make and Keep Sacred Covenants. The committee's monthly training rotates through the Guide in step with this rhythm.

Leading indicators: meeting attendance, best practices shared, adults trained per Guide section, ministering assignments staffed.
Lagging indicators: institute/activity/athletics attendance, temple recommend and temple-night participation, reactivation and new-move-in retention.

BOISE IDAHO YSA STAKE

Welcome and Orientation

For Married Couples Called to Serve

Serving Effectively with Young Single Adults

A Welcome from the Stake Presidency

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

Thank you for accepting this calling. You have been asked to serve among some of the Church's most capable, faithful, and valued disciples, young single adults ages 18 to 35. They are not preparing to become adults. They are adults. They are our brothers and sisters, and the Lord is doing a remarkable work in their lives.

The vision for this stake is simple and sacred: every young single adult is seen, known, loved, and drawn to Jesus Christ and sacred covenants.

Your service will help make that vision a reality. The Lord did not call you by accident. He called you because of your experience, your faith, and your ability to teach and love.

This is a training stake, and it is one of the most joyful assignments in the Church. Many of the young adults here are serving in their first substantial leadership role, and others are serving for the first time in other capacities, such as teaching and music. They are capable and willing. What they often need is a steady role model who will listen, share experience, encourage, and then step back so they can lead.

Please read this guide, study the handbook, and then go be with them. Sit with them. Listen to them. Cheer for them. Love them. Teach them. As you strive to walk beside them, the Lord will magnify every honest effort you make. President Dallin H. Oaks promised those who labor among the rising generation: "As you draw closer to Christ, your students will draw closer to you and to Him. Your capacity to teach the truth they need will increase, and your capacity to love them and discern their needs will be magnified."

We add our witness to his: as you give your heart to this sacred work, you will see the hand of the Lord in their lives and in your own. Great blessings will attend you, your marriage, and your family. Heaven will not leave you to do this alone.

We appreciate the sacred privilege of serving with you.

With gratitude,

The Boise Idaho YSA Stake Presidency

1. Who We Serve

Young single adults are unmarried adult members of the Church, ages 18 to 35.[1] In this stake, they study, work, serve missions, date, wrestle with faith, build careers, seek meaningful connections, and prepare for temple covenants, marriage, and lifelong discipleship. Please speak of them, and to them, as adults.

We say	We refrain from saying
Young adults, young single adults, brothers and sisters, members of the stake	Youth, kids, the kids, my kids, these kids, the youth
Leaders, presidencies, activity leads, ministers	Helpers, the youth committee, chaperones, supervisors
Counsel with, train, support, share experience	Run it for them, take over, manage them, keep them in line

> This is not a youth calling.
> Youth programs protect, supervise, and prepare minors. This calling is different. You serve adults. Treat them as peers in the gospel who happen to have less leadership experience than you.

2. This Is a Training Stake

The Savior increased others' capacity by giving them responsibility and opportunities to grow.

He did not do their work for them. He taught, trusted, and then sent them.

The members of this stake are very capable. Most are serving in leadership callings for the first time. Lack of experience is not a weakness to work around. Providing opportunities for growth, experience, and connection is the point of a young single-adult stake.

Our role is to share experience, not to replace theirs. We have seen wards function, councils counsel, activities succeed and fail, and ministering bless people one by one. As a mentor, role model, and teacher, be quick to listen, observe, and quietly offer your experience. Then let them lead.

What training looks like here

We seek to emulate the Savior's example as he taught His disciples. He walked with them, sat with them, and ate with them. He was patient, and he listened.

So, we;

- Sit beside a presidency, not in front of it.
- Seek to understand what they are trying to accomplish before we suggest how. First observe, listen, and inquire.
- Teach from the handbook, not from "the way we did it in our last ward," unless that way is also the Lord's way.

[1] General Handbook: Serving in The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, chapter 14, "Single Members," https://www.churchofjesuschrist.org/study/manual/general-handbook/14-single-members.

- After an event or meeting, debrief with kindness: what worked, what we learned, what might be tried next time.
- Celebrate honest effort. Accept their best work.
- When something needs to be corrected, do it privately, specifically, and with patience.

3. How We Serve Effectively

Keep these six commitments. They are at the heart of this orientation.

1	Share your experience. You are here because you have walked farther down the covenant path. First observe, listen, and seek to understand; a young adult is more likely to welcome your counsel once they trust that you have truly heard them. Seek the Spirit before you speak; let Him show you whether this is a moment to offer a story or a moment to simply stay quiet. Offer stories, patterns, and counsel when asked or when the Spirit prompts, and offer them as an invitation to consider, never as a directive to follow. Do not make yourself the expert in the room. Make the handbook and the young adult leaders the experts, and add what you have learned along the way.
2	Encourage, inspire, and motivate. First-time leaders often underestimate themselves. Listen closely enough to hear what they are actually afraid of, and let that shape how you encourage them. Your confidence in them, offered consistently over time, builds the relationship of trust that lets them take risks. Speak hope. Notice growth. Invite them to stretch, never pressure or shame them into it. Remind them that the Lord qualifies those He calls, and pray for the discernment to see that qualification before they can see it in themselves.
3	Allow them to lead and fulfill their callings. Delegating is more than giving an assignment. It includes teaching and trusting another person to fulfill it. Build relationships of trust by listening first, understanding how they think and what they need before you hand over a task. If you plan the activity, run the council, or "just handle it," you have taken the calling from them and compelled where you should have invited. Coach. Invite their ideas, invite their questions, invite them to try their own way. Then let them do the work, including the parts that will be imperfect. Seek the Spirit to know when silence is the greater act of trust over intervention.
4	Correct when needed, with kindness and patience. Doctrine, safety, and handbook principles are not optional. But how you raise a concern still matters as much as that you raise it. Listen first to understand what happened and why before you speak. When something needs to change, speak privately and soon. Be specific. Assume good intent. Invite them to see the change and choose it themselves; do not simply command it. Seek the Spirit, so your words carry correction without wounding. Leave them more confident, not smaller. Never correct a young adult leader in front of those they lead.
5	Be with them outside of Sunday meetings. Firesides, stake activities, service projects, athletics, and FHE are where names become people and where trust is actually built, not through instruction, but through shared time. Make a genuine effort to attend. Stand among them, not over them. Learn faces. Laugh. Serve. Listen to what they talk about when no one is teaching a lesson. Stay long enough to have a real conversation, and let the Spirit direct you to the conversation that matters most at that time.
6	Minister one by one. Programs gather people. Ministering turns gathering into belonging. Learn names. Notice who is missing. Listen for what is unsaid as much as what is said. Follow the Spirit to the one. He knows needs you cannot see. Extend an invitation to connect rather than expecting anyone to come to you. Details are in section 6.

4. Begin with the Handbook

The General Handbook is the first and governing resource for your calling. Local plans, including our Boise YSA Stake Comprehensive Gathering Plan, apply the handbook's principles in our stake. They do not replace the handbook. Study these chapters early, then return to them when questions arise.

Handbook Chapter	Why it matters in this calling
1–4 Work of salvation and leadership	The purpose of every effort here. How the Savior led, taught, delegated, and ministered one by one.[2] [3]
14 Single members	Who young single adults are, how they lead, and how wards and stakes support them. Start here.
20 Activities	Purpose, planning, safety, and the principle that activities serve people
21 Ministering	How assignments work, who owns them, and what it means to watch over and strengthen one another.
25 Temple and family history	Covenant progression: the purpose of every gathering we plan.
30 Callings in the Church	How callings are extended, how people are trained, and how we help others succeed.

Also, please study Strengthening Young Single Adults, especially the counsel to listen first, understand without judging, and follow the Savior by serving before teaching or inviting.[4] You can find the handbook at ChurchofJesusChrist.org under General Handbook, or in the Gospel Library app.

> A simple rule
>
> When you are unsure, open the handbook with the young adult leader you are supporting. Learning the handbook together is a great opportunity.

5. The Stake Vision and Gathering Plan

The Boise YSA Stake Comprehensive Gathering Plan is the local roadmap for this work. Please review it. You do not need to memorize every calendar item, but you should understand the vision, the four priorities, and the three channels through which we gather.

Vision

A stake where every young single adult is seen, known, loved, and drawn toward Jesus Christ and sacred covenants.

Gathering means reaching young adults and fostering connection and belonging with Jesus Christ and with one another. Reaching includes those who already attend, those who have stepped away, new move-ins, and friends of other faiths. Belonging is connection that precedes conversion. It is created through relationships of trust in which divine identity is affirmed, and covenants are invited.

Guiding principle: every event, league, and class is a covenant-path on-ramp, not an end in itself.

Planning rubric: all activities will be evaluated based on their alignment with one or more of our stake priorities and how it will help a young adult move closer to Christ.

The four priorities

#	Priority	Application
1	See and Love as God Does	Outreach, shepherding, and inclusion. Know them by name.
2	Teach Divine Identity, Purpose, and Potential	Education and enrichment. Institute, workshops, mentorship.
3	Focus on Jesus Christ and His Atonement	Spiritual depth and healing. Firesides, temple nights, testimony.
4	Invite All to Come unto Christ and Make and Keep Sacred Covenants	Conversion and covenant progression. Baptism, temple, calling, marriage.

Three channels of gathering

The plan runs through three coordinated channels. Young adult leaders own the work. All efforts are to be pointed toward Jesus Christ.

Stake Activities	Monthly stake-wide gatherings plus quarterly signature events: socials, service, adventure, firesides, temple nights, and the annual conference or retreat. Designed so a person arriving alone is seen, welcomed, and connected.
Stake Athletics	Open-play nights, stake leagues, and inter-stake events. Connection before competition. Every gathering opens with prayer and a brief spiritual thought. A low-pressure on-ramp for newcomers and less-active members.
Education and Enrichment	Institute as the core engine, monthly enrichment nights, workshops, discussion groups, and mentorship. Threads: Who God says I am. Why I am here. Who I am becoming. How I come unto Him.

Activity Standards

- It begins with prayer and a brief “why we gather” moment connected to one of the four priorities.
- A newcomer attending alone can find an instant connection through greeters, hosts, name tags, and mixed-ward teaming.
- Young adults plan, conduct, and teach. Married couples support and attend.
- Personal invitations occur before the event. Follow-up occurs within 48 hours after.
- Someone leaves with a next step: sacrament meeting, institute, temple night, a calling, or a friendship.
- It is well planned, on time, spiritually grounded, affordable, and newcomer-friendly.

Standards you will hear often

- Know Them by Name: every young adult on the roster, active and less-active, is personally contacted each month.
- New move-ins are contacted within 7 days and personally invited to the next ward or stake event within 14 days.
- Newcomers and absentees are followed up within 48 hours.
- Elders Quorum presidencies, Relief Society presidencies, and ward mission leaders hold primary responsibility for contacting, welcoming, and ministering. Married couples train, coach, model, support, and befriend. We need to ensure that our efforts do not detract from their opportunity to own and fulfill their stewardship.

6. Be Present, Then Minister

Be with them

Being with our young single adults during Sunday meetings is important, but that is not enough. Being present at events and activities outside Sunday meetings, without an agenda beyond showing up, is one of the best ways to build relationships of trust that enable real ministering. Trust is rarely built through a program; it is built by simply being there, again and again, until they stop wondering why you came.

Make a genuine effort to attend:

- Firesides and devotionals
- Stake activities and signature events
- Service projects
- Family home evening gatherings
- Athletics nights and open play, even if you only stay for the opening prayer and a few conversations
- Institute classes or enrichment nights from time to time

> How to be present without taking over
> Arrive as a guest and a friend, not as staff. Let young adult leaders greet, conduct, and close; this is itself an invitation to lead, not a hand-off you're merely tolerating. Find the person standing alone. Learn a name. Ask a real question, and then actually listen to the answer rather than moving on to the next greeting. Stay off to the side of the program. If something is going poorly, help the leader succeed rather than stepping up to the microphone; seek the Spirit to discern whether the moment calls for a quiet word to the leader afterward or no intervention at all. The goal is for them to feel stronger because you came, not for the event to run because you did.

Individual ministering

Ministering means serving others as the Savior did. He loved, taught, prayed for, comforted, and blessed those around Him. He listened before He spoke, and He invited people to follow rather than compelling them. In our stake, individual ministering is how Priority 1 becomes personal — and it depends entirely on relationships of trust built one person at a time.

Formal ministering assignments are made by the elders quorum and Relief Society with the bishop's approval. Every single brother is assigned ministering brothers. Every single sister is assigned ministering sisters and ministering brothers. Assignments are made to individuals, not to apartments or groups. A married couple may be assigned to minister together.

Your calling does not replace formal ministering assignments that young single adults have been given. Your efforts are intended to supplement and magnify them. You minister in three ways:

As a disciple	Watch over specific brothers and sisters the Spirit places on your heart. Learn names. Remember details. Pray for them by name. Reach out when they are missing. Let the Spirit, not a roster, tell you who needs you today.
As a mentor	Offer adult friendship and life experience — work, education, dating and marriage, temple worship, emotional resilience, and discipleship. Mentorship in our stake is intentional, structured, and centered on identity, purpose, potential, and Christ. A mentor listens long before offering perspective, and offers it as counsel to weigh, never as instruction to obey.
As a trainer	Help quorum and Relief Society leaders see ministering as the central effort of gathering: monthly contact, the 7-day / 14-day welcome, 48-hour follow-up, and prayerful rescue of those who have stepped away. Train them to build trust, listen, and seek the Spirit themselves, rather than simply handing them a checklist to execute.

What individual ministering looks like

- Learn the names, stories, hopes, and current next steps of the people in your circle of influence.
- Listen first. Seek to understand without judging or rushing to offer counsel; trust is built in the listening, long before any advice is given.
- Seek the Spirit before you reach out, and seek Him again in the middle of the conversation. He often changes the plan.
- Ask about adult life: work, school, roommates, family far away, temple worship, institute, and what they hope for.
- Invite, do not manage. "Would you come with us to temple night?" is ministering. Checking whether they "should be dating more" is not. An invitation leaves them free to say no; a management question does not.
- Open your home when it feels natural: a Sunday dinner, an FHE group, a holiday, or a quiet conversation. These informal moments are often where trust deepens fastest.
- Notice the quiet ones. The Savior sought the one.
- When needs are serious- worthiness, mental health, safety, finances- love them and walk them to the bishopric, elders quorum, or Relief Society. Avoid becoming a private counselor for what priesthood keys should hold.
- Keep confidences. Report needs through proper channels, not through hallway conversation. Trust, once broken by a breach of confidence, is very difficult to rebuild.

Adult-to-adult boundaries

- We are friends and mentors, not parents, chaperones, or social directors.
- A man and a woman should not travel alone together for Church assignments unless they are married to each other, or are both single.
- Use wisdom in one-on-one settings. When in doubt, meet as a couple or in a visible, appropriate place.
- Do not hover at dances or activities as if you were supervising youth.
- Refrain from commenting on bodies, dating choices, or asking questions like “when are you going to get married?”

- Correct privately. Praise publicly. Even boundary corrections are more effective when offered as an invitation to adjust than as a rebuke; assume good intent, and leave the relationship of trust intact.

7. Your First 30 Days

Here are some ideas of things you can do to get started.

When	What to do
Days 1–7	Read this orientation. Read General Handbook chapters 1–4 and 14. Read the opening of the Gathering Plan (vision, four priorities, three channels). Fast and pray for the young adults you will serve.
Days 8–14	Meet with the leader who called you or the high councilor who supports your assignment. Learn whom you report to, which young adult leaders you support, and what "success" looks like in the first quarter. Read Handbook chapters 20 and 21.
Days 15–21	Attend Sunday meetings and at least one weekday gathering — FHE, a fireside, athletics, or a service project. Learn ten new names. Ask two young adult leaders, "What would help you most right now?" Then listen.
Days 22–30	Sit in on a council or planning meeting as a guest. Offer one piece of experience if invited. Identify one brother or sister the Spirit has placed on your heart and make a personal ministering contact. Confirm the next month of gatherings on your calendar.

Questions worth asking

- How can I incorporate our stake priorities into my own personal ministry?
- Which of the four priorities could I focus on first?
- Who has not been seen, known, or invited this month? Prayerfully seek inspiration to "find the one".
- Who are the young adult leaders I am here to strengthen?
- What are some things that I can allow young adult leaders to do for themselves?

8. A Closing Invitation

You have been called to help young adults become the leaders the Lord already knows they can be, and to love them toward Jesus Christ while they learn. We have not been called to make our stake look like a well-run youth program.

Please share what you know, then step back enough to let them receive their own revelation. Encourage more than you instruct. Attend more than you announce. Minister more than you manage. When you must correct, do so as the Savior would: clearly, kindly, and with a hand still extended.

Every gathering is an on-ramp. Every name is a soul. Every first-time leader is in training, and so are we.

We are grateful you are here. We love you. The young adults of this stake will be different because you have chosen to see them, know them, love them, teach them, and then let them lead.

Welcome to the work!

Keep this close

They are young adults and brothers and sisters, never "youth" or "kids".
This is a training stake. Listen, observe, share experience. Let them lead.
Encourage, inspire, motivate. Correct privately, with kindness.
Be at firesides, activities, service, athletics, and FHE.
Minister one by one. Open the handbook.
Point every effort to Jesus Christ.

BOISE IDAHO YSA STAKE

Married Adults Committee

Charter and Meeting Plan

Counseling Together to Strengthen Young Single Adults

Why This Committee Exists

The Boise Idaho YSA Stake Presidency calls married couples as ward leaders, advisors, activity and athletics couples, institute and enrichment mentors, ministering companions, and stake specialists. Each serves faithfully within a separate calling, but often without a shared table for training, counsel, and encouragement.

The Married Adults Committee brings together all married adults serving in the Boise YSA Stake into a single body. It exists so that no one serves alone, so that what one ward or couple learns benefits the whole stake, and so that our combined effort stays anchored to the handbook, the Guide, and the stake's Comprehensive Gathering Plan.

1. Purpose and Charge

The Married Adults Committee is established by the Boise Idaho YSA Stake Presidency and includes all married adults called to serve in the Boise Idaho YSA Stake. Its charge is to:

- Train. Provide ongoing, practical training for married adults serving with young single adults.
- Share. Share ideas, successes, best practices, and challenges across wards, callings, and channels.
- Implement the Guide. Put into practice the principles outlined in A Guide for Married Adults Serving in the Boise Idaho YSA Stake.
- Implement the Gathering Plan. Carry out the Boise Idaho YSA Stake Comprehensive Gathering Plan across activities, athletics, and education and enrichment.
- Counsel together. Counsel together regularly to identify and meet the needs of young single adults.
- Reinforce the role of YSAs. Reinforce the role of young single adults in the stake and how married adults can best teach, minister, mentor, support, and invite them to come unto Christ, keep covenants, prepare for the temple, and develop practical life skills.

> The vision this committee serves
> A stake where every young single adult is seen, known, loved, and drawn toward Jesus Christ and sacred covenants. Every training topic, shared idea, and agenda item exists to move that vision forward.

This committee mirrors the pattern generally described for young single adult committees: married and single adults counseling together, under priesthood direction, to help YSAs come unto Christ.[1]

2. Committee Membership

Membership includes every married adult sustained to a calling that serves the Boise Idaho YSA Stake and is a member of this committee for as long as that calling is held.

Represented Group	Typical Callings Included
Stake Presidency Liaison	High councilor(s) assigned to oversee married-adult service and this committee
Ward Priesthood & Relief Society Advisors	Married advisor couples to elders quorum and Relief Society presidencies
Activities Committee Advisors	Married couples supporting stake and ward activity committees
Athletics Committee Advisors	Married couples supporting stake athletics and leagues
Education & Enrichment Committee Advisors	Married couples supporting institute partnership, enrichment nights, and mentorship
Ministering Couples	Married couples with individual ministering assignments among YSAs
Stake Gathering Specialists	Married specialists focused on outreach, shepherding, and reactivation

Committee Coordinator

The Stake Presidency appoints a Committee Coordinator from among the married adults serving in the stake. The Coordinator convenes and conducts committee meetings, coordinates with the Stake Presidency liaison, and ensures the annual meeting plan in Section 7 is carried out.

> This is a peer counsel, not a program office.
> The committee does not run activities, athletics, or enrichment for young single adults; young adult leaders own that work. The committee exists so the married adults supporting them can counsel together, train, and grow more capable as mentors.

3. Roles and Responsibilities

Four roles carry specific responsibility for the committee's work. Every member shares responsibility for showing up, contributing, and applying what is learned.

1

Committee Coordinator

Sets the agenda with the Stake Presidency liaison, conducts monthly meetings, tracks action items, and reports progress on the Gathering Plan and the Guide's six commitments to the Stake Presidency each quarter.

2

Stake Presidency Liaison

Represents the Stake Presidency's direction and priorities, approves the annual meeting plan, and carries counsel and concerns from the committee back to the Presidency.

3

Ward Advisor Representatives

Bring ward-level needs, successes, and challenges to the committee; carry training and best practices back to their ward's married adult advisors and priesthood and Relief Society leaders.

4

Committee Members

Attend regularly, participate in training, share honest experience, and apply the Guide's principles and the Gathering Plan in their own calling between meetings.

4. Operating Principles

The committee counsels in the same way its members are asked to serve, by observing, listening, and sharing experience rather than directing. These principles, drawn from the Guide's six commitments, govern how the committee operates:

We do	We avoid
Sit as peers and counsel together	Speak as if one couple or ward has the only right answer
Share experience as an invitation to consider	Turn a shared idea into a directive for every ward
Let young adult leaders own their work	Plan, run, or take over YSA activities, leagues, or classes
Bring challenges with specific, kind counsel	Air frustration without seeking a solution together
Return to the handbook and the Guide when unsure	Default to "the way we did it before"

Councils of this kind exist so members can counsel together, seek revelation for the people they serve, and coordinate the Lord's work in their area of responsibility.[2]

5. Alignment with the Stake Vision and Gathering Plan

Every committee training topic, discussion, and action item is evaluated against the same rubric that governs the Gathering Plan: does this help a young single adult move closer to Jesus Christ, along one or more of the four stake priorities?

#	Priority	The Committee's Role
1	See and Love as God Does	Train married adults to know every YSA by name and to shepherd the less-active and new move-ins
2	Teach Divine Identity, Purpose, and Potential	Equip mentors supporting institute, enrichment nights, and workshops
3	Focus on Jesus Christ and His Atonement	Help married adults model Christ-centered presence at firesides and temple nights
4	Invite All to Come unto Christ and Keep Sacred Covenants	Coach married adults on inviting, not compelling, covenant progression

Channel	How Married Adults Support It
Stake Activities	Attend, support inclusion design, and coach young adult planners — without taking over the planning or conducting
Stake Athletics	Show up consistently, model sportsmanship, and help team captains shepherd absentees
Education and Enrichment	Serve as institute ride-share and mentorship partners; support enrichment-night small groups as facilitators

6. Meeting Cadence and Structure

Meeting	Frequency	Attendees	Purpose
Full Committee Meeting	Monthly	All married adults serving in the stake	Training, shared best practices, and counsel
Stake Presidency Check-in	Quarterly	Coordinator, Presidency liaison	Report progress; receive direction and approval
Annual Vision and Planning Retreat	Yearly, in August	All committee members	Review the year; approve next year's meeting plan

Standard Monthly Agenda

Rooted in the handbook's pattern for council and presidency meetings: prepare in advance, counsel together, and close with clear action.

1. Opening prayer and a brief spiritual thought tied to one of the four stake priorities
2. Review of action items and follow-through from the previous meeting
3. Successes: what worked this month, and why
4. Challenges: what is hard right now, and what counsel is needed
5. Training topic: one section of the Guide or one Gathering Plan channel, rotated monthly (see Section 7)
6. Gathering Plan alignment check: are our efforts still pointed at Jesus Christ and the four priorities?
7. Assignments and next steps, with names and dates attached
8. Closing prayer

The handbook describes presidency and council meetings as occasions to strengthen individuals and families, prepare in advance, and close with clear direction — the pattern this committee follows each month.[3]

7. Annual Meeting Plan

The committee's monthly training topic rotates through the Guide and follows the rhythm of the stake's Comprehensive Gathering Plan, so married adults are prepared for what young single adults are experiencing that same month.

Month	Committee Training Focus	Stake Alignment	Married Adult Emphasis
Jan	Guide §1–2: Who We Serve; This Is a Training Stake	Identity theme; basketball/futsal season begins	Learn every YSA by name; attend season kickoff

8. Communication and Reporting

- A shared digital calendar carries meeting dates, training topics, and Gathering Plan milestones for every ward.
- A group text or messaging channel keeps married adults connected between meetings for quick questions and reminders.
- The Chair sends a brief written summary after each full committee meeting: decisions made, best practices shared, and assignments given.
- The Chair reports quarterly to the Stake Presidency on training completed, challenges raised, and progress on the Gathering Plan.
- Ward advisor representatives carry relevant training and best practices back into their ward council.

9. Measures of Success

Leading indicators (tracked by the committee)

- Committee meeting attendance across wards and callings
- Number of best practices and successes documented and shared
- Number of married adults trained on each section of the Guide
- Ministering and mentoring assignments actively staffed and current

Lagging indicators (observed with the Gathering Plan)

- Institute enrollment and stake activity, athletics, and enrichment attendance trends
- Temple recommend holders and stake temple night participation
- Reactivations, new-move-in retention, and callings filled with confidence

SECTION 7

Additional Stake-Level Roles

Stake Gathering Specialist

In This Section

Stake Gathering Specialist 172–173

Stake Gathering Specialist

Combined role — Ward Shepherding & Geographic Stake Liaison

Reports To	Stake Presidency (stake calling); works paired with Ward Priesthood and Relief Society leadership, attends ward council, and typically coordinates with the YSA Stake Clerk (records/referral tracking). Ward shepherding coordinated with the Stake YSA Council's Outreach & Shepherding Co-Leads — the sister specialist with the Sister Co-Lead and the brother specialist with the Priesthood Co-Lead. Geographic Stake Liaison efforts coordinated through the counselor and high councilor assigned to oversee young single adults.
Positions Needed	One married adult couple per ward

Purpose

The Boise YSA Stake Gathering Specialist is the execution layer for shepherding, invitations, and referral coordination for young single adults (ages 18–35). On the ward side, this calling drives the "Know Them by Name" initiative, less-active rescue, and new move-in welcome efforts. On the stake side, it bridges the gap between the YSA Stake and the surrounding geographic ("home") stakes that feed young single adults into the YSA Stake, ensuring referrals don't get lost and new YSAs feel welcomed quickly. Together, these efforts keep communication and personal outreach flowing consistently in every direction — within the ward and across stake boundaries.

Category 1: Ward Shepherding

Key Responsibilities

- Assist with ("Know Them by Name") initiative - every YSA on the ward roster, active and less-active is contacted monthly
- Partner with Ward Priesthood and Relief Society leadership to prayerfully identify specific less-active individuals to reach
- Contact new move-ins within 7 days and personally invite them to the next ward or stake event within 14 days
- Maintain and reconcile the ward roster against actual attendance
- Coordinate with the Ward Representatives (Rep A and Rep B) on follow-up for absentees
- Meet monthly with your Outreach & Shepherding Co-Lead — the sister specialist with the Sister Co-Lead, the brother specialist with the Priesthood Co-Lead — to reconcile the ward's portion of the master roster and agree on who needs a personal contact
- Report outreach contacts made each month to the Outreach & Shepherding Co-Leads for the Council's combined outreach report, and to the Stake Presidency and High Council for the monthly stewardship review
- Regularly meet with other Stake Gathering Specialists to coordinate efforts, share challenges, successes, and best practices
- Welcome and assimilate new YSAs into the ward — graduating high school seniors, returning missionaries, and new move-ins alike — coordinating with Young Men/Young Women, seminary, and ward mission leaders to identify them early and extend a personal invitation to the next YSA activity
- Track upcoming transitions within the YSA population — including individuals turning 26 (moving between YSA age groupings) and turning 35 (exiting the YSA program) — so each transition is anticipated well ahead of time rather than discovered after the fact
- Shepherd YSAs approaching their 35th birthday out of the program with a warm handoff — introducing them to leadership in their next geographic ("home") ward or singles ward before their transition date so no one simply "ages out" unnoticed

- Include upcoming new-YSA arrivals (graduating seniors, returning missionaries, move-ins) and age-based transitions (26th and 35th birthdays) in the monthly stewardship report to the Stake Presidency and High Council

Implementation Ideas

- Keep a simple monthly contact tracker for each YSA on the roster
- Set a 7-day/14-day timer as soon as a new move-in is identified
- Bring specific names, not just statistics, to prayerful ward council discussions
- Maintain a "Transitions Calendar" tracking upcoming graduation dates, expected missionary return dates, and 26th/35th birthdays so outreach is proactive instead of reactive
- Partner with seminary and Young Men/Young Women leaders each spring to get a list of graduating seniors and personally invite them to a YSA activity before they even turn 18
- Create a "Welcome Home" checklist for returning missionaries: personal visit or call within their first week home, an invitation to the next activity, and an introduction to ward YSA leadership
- Set a reminder 60–90 days before a YSA's 35th birthday to begin transition conversations, including identifying their next ward and personally introducing them to that ward's leadership
- Add a "New/Transitioning YSA" flag to the monthly contact tracker so new move-ins, graduating seniors, returning missionaries, and age-based transitions receive extra follow-up touchpoints during their first 90 days

Category 2: Geographic Stake Liaison

Key Responsibilities

- Serve as the single point of contact between the Boise YSA Stake presidency and the leadership (stake presidencies, YSA-assigned high councilors, and ward-level YSA representatives) of those assigned geographic stakes (approximately 3) that feed young single adults into the YSA Stake
- Maintain an up-to-date contact directory of the YSA-assigned leader (counselor/high councilor) and ward YSA advisor/representative in each assigned geographic stake
- Facilitate the referral process — ensure each geographic stake has a simple, known way to notify the YSA Stake when a young single adult turns 18, moves into the area, or becomes eligible to attend YSA units
- Track referrals through to contact, confirming that every referred individual is reached out to by a YSA ward leader within about one week, and following up if they are not
- Push information out to geographic stake leaders — activity calendars, conference dates, institute schedules, and gathering-place information — so it reaches graduating youth and their families
- Schedule and help conduct periodic coordination meetings (recommend quarterly) with geographic stake YSA-assigned leaders and ward advisors, similar to the existing YSA committee cadence
- Report status and metrics to the YSA Stake presidency on referral volume, response times, and any stakes that are under-referring or unresponsive
- Attend Stake YSA Council and stake council meetings as needed to relay geographic-stake feedback and concerns

Implementation Ideas

- Set up a shared referral form (via LCR/Church tools or a simple online form) each geographic stake's YSA representative can submit when a new young single adult is identified
- Build a basic tracking sheet (spreadsheet or shared document) logging referral date, source stake, assigned ward contact, and follow-up status — reviewed weekly
- Establish a named point person (ward YSA advisor or rep) in every geographic stake so communication doesn't rely on ad-hoc contacts
- Send a brief quarterly email/newsletter to all geographic stake leaders summarizing upcoming YSA activities, institute offerings, and any process changes
- Hold an annual training/kickoff meeting with geographic stake presidencies or their designated YSA leaders to clarify the referral process and answer questions

BOISE IDAHO YSA STAKE

Comprehensive Gathering Plan

Activity Planning Checklist

For Activity Leads and Ward Activity Coordinators — complete one per activity

Use this checklist for every stake or ward YSA activity, from a small social to a signature event. Start at least 6 weeks before the activity date (signature events need more lead time). Based on the planning standards in Part 2 of the Boise YSA Stake Comprehensive Gathering Plan.

Activity At-a-Glance

Activity name:		Date / time:
Category:		Hosting ward(s):
Activity Lead:		Checklist started:

Category options: Social · Service · Adventure/Recreational · Signature Stake-Wide Event · Spiritual/Worship · Athletics · Enrichment

Which of the Four Priorities does this activity primarily serve? (check one or more)

- ☐ See and Love as God Does (outreach, shepherding, inclusion)
- ☐ Teach Divine Identity, Purpose, and Potential (educational, enrichment)
- ☐ Focus on Jesus Christ and the Atonement (spiritual depth, healing)
- ☐ Invite All to Come unto Christ and Make/Keep Covenants (conversion, covenant progression)

Planning rubric: this activity should not be approved until a leader can state which priority it serves and how it moves a YSA one step closer to Christ.

STEP 1 Purpose & Priority

- ☐ Stated in one sentence: which priority does this activity serve, and how does it move a YSA one step toward Christ?
- ☐ Activity type matches a defined category (see options above).
- ☐ Confirmed this is not scheduled purely for entertainment without a gospel purpose.

STEP 2 Inclusion Plan

- ☐ Imagined a YSA arriving alone, new to the area, less-active, or attending for the first time.
- ☐ Connection Host(s) called, briefed, and assigned to greet and integrate newcomers.
- ☐ Name tags ordered or prepared.
- ☐ Structured mingling or mixer activity planned — never left to chance.
- ☐ Cross-ward teaming plan set, where applicable, to build friendships beyond ward lines.
- ☐ Cost-conscious design confirmed; subsidy available so no YSA is excluded for financial reasons.

STEP 3 Spiritual Framing

- ☐ Opening prayer assigned.
- ☐ "Why we gather" moment planned — a leader or YSA connects this activity to the Savior and to belonging.
- ☐ Spiritual thought rotation assigned to a YSA (rotate who gives it, don’t default to the same leader every time).
- ☐ Closing gratitude moment planned.
- ☐ Next covenant-step invitation identified (institute, temple night, ministering, calling, sacrament, etc.).
- ☐ Scheduling respects the Sabbath and the sacred nature of Church buildings.

STEP 4 Logistics

- ☐ Facility booked and confirmed.
- ☐ Budget requested and approved.
- ☐ Equipment and supplies list finalized.
- ☐ Transportation / carpool plan in place so no YSA is excluded by lack of a ride.
- ☐ Safety needs addressed where applicable (first aid, release forms, etc.).
- ☐ RACI written and shared before the event (see table below).

RACI — Who Plans, Funds, Invites, Hosts, Follows Up

Role	Name / Assignment
Plans (Activity Lead)
Funds (Budget owner)
Invites (Ward Activity Coordinator(s))
Greets / Hosts (Connection Host(s))
Follows Up (Ward Activity Coordinator(s))

STEP 5 Invitation Plan (Pre-Event Outreach)

- ☐ Personal invitation chain started — Ward Activity Coordinators identify target individuals and invite personally, not just by announcement.
- ☐ "Bring a friend" encouraged and members equipped to invite someone who wouldn't otherwise attend.
- ☐ Multi-channel reminders scheduled: announcement → group text → personal text → day-of reminder.
- ☐ Less-active and new-move-in target list reviewed; each person personally invited.

☐ Non-member friends welcome message included, where appropriate.

STEP 6 At-Event Belonging (Day-Of)

☐ Name tags available at check-in.

☐ Structured mingling activity ready to run.

☐ Cross-ward teams or small groups set.

☐ Attendance tracked, including newcomers, less-active, and non-member guests.

STEP 7 Follow-Up Plan (Within 48 Hours)

☐ Newcomer and absentee list compiled the day of the activity.

☐ Personal contact made with every newcomer within 48 hours.

☐ Personal contact made with every absentee within 48 hours.

STEP 8 Evaluation (Within 1 Week)

☐ What worked well?

☐ What didn’t work?

☐ Who attended — new, less-active, and non-member counts logged.

☐ What follow-up is still needed?

☐ Lessons carried forward to the next activity.

Notes:

Quality Bar

An activity meets the Boise Idaho YSA Stake standard when it:

- ☐ Starts on time.
- ☐ Is well-organized.
- ☐ Is spiritually anchored.
- ☐ Is newcomer-friendly.
- ☐ Stays within budget.

Planning Timeline Reminder

- ☐ 6-week planning lead time minimum for regular stake and ward activities.
- ☐ Longer lead time required for signature stake-wide events (Fall Kickoff Social, Christmas Devotional, YSA Conference/Retreat, Summer Celebration, Year-End Testimony Night, etc.).
- ☐ Planning sequence: purpose stated → priority identified → inclusion plan → spiritual framing → logistics → invitation plan → follow-up plan → evaluation.

BOISE IDAHO YSA STAKE

Our Stake Priorities

Four priorities to guide us this season — all centered on Jesus Christ.

1. See and Love as God Does
   Look at every person the way Heavenly Father does — with genuine love and without judgment.

2. Teach Divine Identity, Purpose, and Potential
   Help each young adult know who they are, why they're here, and what they can become.

3. Focus on Jesus Christ and the Atonement
   Keep the Savior at the center of everything we do.

4. Invite All to Come unto Christ and Make/Keep Covenants
   Extend genuine invitations to draw closer to Christ through covenants.

TO HELP THESE STICK, WE SHORTEN THEM TO FOUR WORDS

See	Love	Teach	Invite
See each other as God does	Love as He loves	Identity, purpose, and potential	All to come unto Christ

Everything we do flows from — and points back to — Jesus Christ and His Atonement.
